DR. LESLIE RETIRES AS PRESIDENT OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

As I come to the close of my three-year term as President of Boston University Alumni Association, I feel eager while still in this capacity to render one last bit of service for this noble cause in which I have such a keen interest. So, at the suggestion of our Executive Secretary, I am issuing this "swan song", though I regret that many of our alumni do not have access to BOSTONIA and so will not read my message.

I wish that we might let every alumnus of our University know that within the past two years we abandoned the practice of charging dues for membership in the general Alumni Association and that any gift entitles one to become enrolled not only as a member, but as a subscriber for this fascinating monthly periodical which keeps us up to date on University affairs.

The longer I live the deeper becomes my sense of indebtedness to this great University with which you and I have fortunately become identified. We have thousands of alumni who are rendering able service in all parts of the world. It is good for us to keep informed concerning our fellow-graduates and concerning Boston University in general. And the University needs our loyalty and encouragement especially in these difficult times.

As the retiring President of this Association, I wish to commend to your confidence and support my able successor, Mr. Charles F. Collins, of our College of Liberal Arts, Class of 1912. During this past year he has shown his administrative skill by serving as Chairman of the Alumni Fund. He holds a high office in the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company and I feel sure that he will pilot our alumni work to maximum success.

I suggest that we begin his term of office by sending right now some gift for this important Fund which in recent years has enabled the University to keep "in the black" in spite of the tremendous problems caused by the war. Please mail your contribution to the Boston University Alumni Office at 20 Beacon Street, Boston 8, Massachusetts, and thus become a real factor in the undergirding of our beloved School. Dr. Judson Rea Butler, our efficient and magnetic Executive Secretary, will be delighted to hear from you and to send you a receipt.

For twenty-three years it has been my high privilege to serve as Pastor of the Presidents of Boston University. For the past eighteen and one-half years our tireless and resourceful leader, President Daniel L. Marsh, has been one of our Trustees in St. Mark’s Church, giving me great help and substantial support as President of our Board of Education and as one of our most faithful and devoted attendants. For three years I have been privileged to serve as a University Trustee. The more that I see of President Marsh and his administration the greater becomes my admiration for what he and our University are doing for human advancement and world-betterment. "Dan" and I were fellow-students and so it is a wonderful joy to work shoulder-to-shoulder with him in our local church and in our alumni program.

Needless to say, it has also been a great pleasure and privilege to work during these three years with our alumni officers. They have given me the finest kind of support and have attended our quarterly meetings most faithfully. It has been indeed an honor and a joy to serve with every one of them and I wish to express my deep gratitude for their splendid cooperation. I know that you, too, will discover rare satisfaction in anything that you can do for our great Alma Mater. The gifts that we make and the service we render not only aid our magnificent University, but they are bound to enrich and enlarge our own lives.

[Signature]
I discovered I had been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant. This was indeed a pleasant surprise. About a week after that I was on my way out of the States. The trip was very pleasant and we experienced our first thrill when we dropped anchor in a beautiful bay and saw the Stars and Stripes for the first time since leaving the States. The weather out here is very warm even though it is now winter-time. . . I hope the University continues to do the outstanding work it has done in the past. This letter is being written aboard the transport while still at sea . . . I would like to announce that I became engaged back in July of 1945.

Bertram Cohen, B'43, 1st Lieut. Somewhere in the Pacific
June 6.

NEW GUINEA IS A GREAT EXPERIENCE

"One day last winter, July over here, one of the pilots in our group had spun in and we were having a funeral service for him; coming up the road was Capt. Ray Hoxsie, B'40, and I was just as glad to see him. He and I had been in the same group for about three months out I just didn't know it and neither did he. He is squadron commander of an Ordnance outfit as well as Group Armament Officer. As our principal function is to erect and modify new aircraft Ray has lots of work on the various guns used on the planes. He is doing a big job, is well liked by his men and officers, and I believe he is well on his way to his Majority. I myself, am back in New Guinea, as is he, and I am squadron commander . . . I have a good outfit, seven officers and at present 232 EM's. The squadron has been overseas for thirty months now and all this propaganda about home in eighteen months is just that as far as this outfit goes . . . We are still doing a big job and the men are quite happy that they can do their job and help get the war over with. All the time that we were in Australia, and now here, we have always worked on a twenty-four-hour day, seven-day week, and these men know how to work . . . We were down on the mainland a long time, but when they wanted to set up a big depot in New Guinea they called on us again as we have the know how. I've been overseas now about sixteen months, and I believe Ray has been here just about two years . . . It has been a great experience, however and I for one wouldn't trade it with any of the U. S. O. Commandos still in the States . . . This New Guinea is all they say it is and then some. It rains where we are almost nine months out of the year and the rest of the time the temperature and humidity are terrific. I have lost a little weight but have never felt better since I quit playing football . . . I'm really happy in the Service."

Paul E. Sullivan, B'40, Captain June 1945
(We are indebted to Mr. Edgar B. Pitts, B'23, for sharing this letter with us.)

"A great deal has happened since I was last home on leave as you can probably tell by my new address. Upon my reporting back to duty I discovered I had been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant. This was indeed a pleasant surprise. About a week after that I was on my way out of the States. The trip was very pleasant and we experienced our first thrill when we dropped anchor in a beautiful bay and saw the Stars and Stripes for the first time since leaving the States. The weather out here is very warm even though it is now winter-time . . . I hope the University continues to do the outstanding work it has done in the past. This letter is being written aboard the transport while still at sea . . . I would like to announce that I became engaged back in July of 1945.

Bertram Cohen, B'43, 1st Lieut. Somewhere in the Pacific
June 6.

NEW GUINEA IS A GREAT EXPERIENCE

"One day last winter, July over here, one of the pilots in our group had spun in and we were having a funeral service for him; coming up the road was Capt. Ray Hoxsie, B'40, and I was just as glad to see him. He and I had been in the same group for about three months out I just didn't know it and neither did he. He is squadron commander of an Ordnance outfit as well as Group Armament Officer. As our principal function is to erect and modify new aircraft Ray has lots of work on the various guns used on the planes. He is doing a big job, is well liked by his men and officers, and I believe he is well on his way to his Majority. I myself, am back in New Guinea, as is he, and I am squadron commander . . . I have a good outfit, seven officers and at present 232 EM's. The squadron has been overseas for thirty months now and all this propaganda about home in eighteen months is just that as far as this outfit goes . . . We are still doing a big job and the men are quite happy that they can do their job and help get the war over with. All the time that we were in Australia, and now here, we have always worked on a twenty-four-hour day, seven-day week, and these men know how to work . . . We were down on the mainland a long time, but when they wanted to set up a big depot in New Guinea they called on us again as we have the know how. I've been overseas now about sixteen months, and I believe Ray has been here just about two years . . . It has been a great experience, however and I for one wouldn't trade it with any of the U. S. O. Commandos still in the States . . . This New Guinea is all they say it is and then some. It rains where we are almost nine months out of the year and the rest of the time the temperature and humidity are terrific. I have lost a little weight but have never felt better since I quit playing football . . . I'm really happy in the Service."

Paul E. Sullivan, B'40, Captain June 1945
(We are indebted to Mr. Edgar B. Pitts, B'23, for sharing this letter with us.)
ABODEELY, GEORGE M., B'35, A/S, Co. 275, Unit D, U.S.N.T.C., Sampson, N. Y.
ADAMS, CARLETON, B'44, U.S.N., Chapel Hill, S. C.
ALLEN, GEORGE M., E, J, A/S, Co. 275, Unit D, U.S.N.T.C., Sampson, N. Y.
ALLEN, JOSEPH E., B'27, Lt.Col., Rm. 901, 90 Church St., New York, N. Y.
ALPERT, CARL, B'34, Amy, Overseas. (28 Bellevue St., Worcester, Mass.)
ANSBIGIAN, ARTHUR, B,34, Amy, Overseas. (28 Bellevue St., Worcester, Mass.)
BAGLEY, JAMES H., r'32, Chaplain, Army.
BALBONI, FREDERICK H., L'39, Lt., With Fifth Army in Italy. (8 Spring St., Bridgewater, Mass.)
BARNIE, RALPH E., B'39, Sgt., in Southwest Pacific. (16 Nahant Ave., Dorchester, Mass.)
BARRY, WILLIAM J., B'40, Lt. (j.g.), U.S.C.G., Pacific area.
BELCHER, WILLIAM B., B'38/39, Sgt., Co.F, 259th Inf., A.P.O. 200, Camp Shelby, Miss.
BELLIVEAU, ROBERT F., C'46, Sgt., with portable hospital unit at advanced base in Solomon Islands.
BENNETT, GEORGE A., B'43, Lt., A.A.F. in C.B.I. area. (47 Clark Lane, Waltham, Mass.)
BERMAN, MILTON C., B'40, Sgt., 111th Evacuation Hospital S.M., Camp Swift, Tex.
BERNHARDT, LEONARD, B'36, Sgt., 15th Air Force. (193 London St., East Boston, Mass.)
BUTLER, JAMES H., JR., E'28, Lt., 1300 B South Fourth St., Monroe, La.
BUTLER, JOHN F., B'31, SK1/c, U.S.N. Frontier Base, State Pier, New London, Conn.
CAGAN, SAMUEL M., B'38/39, Cadet, O.C.S., Camp Lee, Va.
CASANIS, JAMES, B'42, Lt., 8th Air Force in England. (13 High Rock St., Lynn, Mass.)
CAPPEN, WINDSOR S., B'38/39, Capt., Infantry, A.P.O. 43, c/o P.M., San Francisco, Calif.
CECILIANI, FRANCIS J., E'44, Lt. (j.g.), U.S.N.R.
CESARINI, ALDO E., B'42, Lt., Army, E.T.O.
CHAMPNEY, JOHN N., B'34, Army. (61 Park Drive, Boston, Mass.)
CHANDLER, WARREN M., B'32, Capt., Army Chaplain. (13 Belmont Ave., Brockton, Mass.)
CHATTERTON, ALFRED F., JR., L'42, Lt. (j.g.), U.S.N.R.
CINCOTTA, JOHN G., B'42, Sgt., Combat Mapping Sqdn., A.A.F., (240 Robbins St., Waltham, Mass.)
CLARK, JOHN P., E'43, Military Police in Naples, Italy. (10 Malcolm Rd., Jamaica Plain, Mass.)
CLIFFORD, WILLIAM J., M'42, Lt., Army Medical Corps. (1 Exchange St., Milton, Mass.)
COHEN, DAVID B., L'36, Army, overseas.
COHEN, HERBERT L., B'45, Sgt., Military Police, A.P.O. 759, c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y.
COLES, FRANK E., B'47, A/S, Co. 222, Unit D-11-L, U.S.N.T.C., Sampson, N. Y.
COLE, GARDNER, B'47, Camp Wheeler, Ga.
(Continued on Page Fifty-Six)
The Boston University Alumni Magazine

Subscription $2.00 per year Single copies 25 cents

IN THIS ISSUE OCTOBER, 1944

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Sampling the Mail ........................................ 1
With the Armed Forces .................................. 2
Message from President of Alumni Association ...... 5
Welcome 1944 ............................................. 6
Rapprochement of the Americas, Samuel M. Waxman .. 8
A New View of the Globe, President Marsh .......... 11
Norton Adams Kent, Royal M. Frye, Lucien B. Taylor ... 13
New Members of the Alumni Board of Directors .... 14
The University .......................................... 19
Charles Frederick Collins, William S. Brown .... 27
Ensign Gertrude Emerson, E'37, SPAR ............. 28
News of the Classes .................................... 34
Directory of Alumni Association Board .............. 64

"OLD BOSTON STUMP"—modernized for the new Boston
A Message from the President of the Boston University Alumni Association

Fellow Alumni:

Last month I read an article portraying the condition of our Country which we might expect as victory gets closer. It vividly recounted the many social, economic and financial impacts that will affect us in the period just ahead. A rather dire picture was given, without much hope of a successful solution to our problems. Yet the analysis seemed timely and logical. At the end of the forecast was a note that this prediction was made near the closing days of the Revolutionary War.

Each generation is likely to feel that its problems are different and more acute and ponderous than the world has ever before experienced. Even discounting the fact that we are all experiencing a world conflict at firsthand, we all know that conditions which must be faced in the future require clearer thinking and sounder judgment than at any time in the history of civilization. Never were such stupendous resources and so many millions of men engaged in a total war. Added to this, the forces of science and invention, as well as the titanic propaganda machine, have made the struggle more dreadful and more hateful.

Now, as we visualize the possibilities of peace within our time, we must be ready for a new kind of world. Never have nations been so dependent upon one another, and never was there such a need for a proper understanding and appraisal of the tasks facing us. In the solution of these problems a great responsibility rests upon the educated men and women of the world. In spite of great temptations we should try not to compromise, try not to accept solutions merely because of expediency. The times call out for courage as never before. Surely college-trained men and women with their cultural background are better equipped to meet that future, provided that they accept their responsibilities with courage and determination. Institutions of higher learning will assume a more significant role in our world affairs than ever before.

Added to this, our schools and colleges will have an influx of students never dreamed of before. The provision of our National Government through the G. I. Bill, brought about by an appreciation for the services of our armed forces and a realization of the value of an education, will make it possible for thousands of our returning veterans to take up college work. Short-cuts in education, new methods of teaching and the greater maturity of the student-body, as well as a fashion for acceleration in everything will bring new problems to our colleges, along with the greater opportunity for service.

All of this adds up to what? Our own Boston University, which has always contributed so much to sound education and thinking must continue its splendid record. Dr. Marsh, our Trustees, and the College Faculties have the vision and the equipment to discharge the responsibilities which Boston University will face. To do their best work, however, they must have the wholehearted support of our full alumni-body. They need what we can give them, and we must not fail them in the months and years ahead. We shall be called upon, individually and collectively, to answer the calls of our Alma Mater.

Let us be prepared and let us meet the challenge. Never will it be more necessary to know what the University is doing and what are its future plans. Membership in our Alumni Association, reading of BOSTONIA, and taking part in Alumni functions will familiarize us with the development of our University and will enable us to assist our University in making its contribution to the world’s stability and progress. The work of our Alumni Association cannot be accomplished without the wholehearted cooperation of our Officers and members. In accepting the Presidency of our Alumni Association, I am fully mindful of my responsibilities to you.

It makes one very humble to realize the outstanding contributions made by the former Presidents of our Alumni Association. My immediate predecessor, Dr. William R. Leslie, has set a high standard of accomplishment but with the help of our able Vice-Presidents, our Treasurer, Secretary, and especially our unappraising Executive Alumni Secretary, Dr. Judson R. Butler, and his associate, Horace G. Thacker, we shall hope that our work together during the coming year will form a strong link in the chain of glorious achievement of Boston University. With your active cooperation we shall endeavor to show progress on all fronts.

Faithfully yours,

Charles P. Collins
President, Alumni Association.
WELCOME 1944
Greetings from President Marsh

I welcome all members of the Boston University Class of 1944 into the Alumni Association. Your graduation did not put you out of the University: it simply changed your status in the University. As a student, you were largely on the receiving end. As an alumnus, you are on the helping end. You can help by everlastingly "rooting" for Boston University, by sending top-notch students to it, by bringing it to the attention of financially able people, by your own gifts, and by your prayers.

Let us help you in any way we can; and please help us by keeping in touch with the University.

Faithfully yours,

DANIEL L. MARSH,
President of Boston University
The Rapprochement of The Americas

Phi Beta Kappa Address by SAMUEL M. WAXMAN
Professor of Romance Languages, Boston University

I

ADDRESS myself, today, especially to you novitiates who have just been inducted into this distinguished association of scholars. I congratulate you on your election to this society whose traditions go back to the very foundations of this country. I hold it a great honor to have been invited to be the orator of this, for you, red letter day.

I note that the distinguishing principles of your society are friendship, morality and letters. I shall take as my theme for today the first of these principles, friendship, international friendship, and I shall talk to you about a friendship now in the making — the rapprochement of the Americas.

One of the great evils of our day — an evil which has given rise to two of the bloodiest wars in history — is the cultivation of a nationalistic spirit, a spirit which sets people against people and race against race. One of the most tragic examples of this evil was the attitude of the Jews who regarded themselves as the chosen people of God. That they have suffered martyrdom ever since has not deterred other races from declaring themselves purer and superior to their fellowmen. We live in a day of mass production and mass destruction. Never before have men committed mass murder to such an extent in their attempt to prove their superiority. Now although we as a people often condemn this spirit of racism in others, if we examine ourselves honestly, we must confess that we too are guilty of this crime of xenophobia, this unreasoning hatred of other races whose ways are not our ways and whose color differs from our own. As long as we think of the Indian and Negro elements in our neighboring countries as “greasers” and “niggers”, there can be no friendship between us. We pride ourselves on our school systems and great institutions of learning and have a tendency to look down upon our brothers of the other Americas as ignorant clods, but some of you know that the universities of Mexico and Lima were founded in 1551 almost a hundred years before the foundation of our oldest university, Harvard.

I have just used the expression the other Americas. Too often the name America connotes to us only the United States of America. It is only on occasions like this that we have brought to our attention the larger America, the continent of America. It is true that the name was first given to the southern portion of the continent in honor of the Italian explorer Amerigo Vespucci who historians tell was not the first man to set foot on the continent which bears his name. But history as you well know, Mr. President, does not always speak the truth, and your Muse, Clio, often proves to be a fickle jade. It seems that an obscure geographer, Martin Waldseemüller, had heard that a new continent had been discovered by Amerigo and so he proceeded forthwith to give it his name adding naively that since Europe, Asia and Africa were named after women it was eminently fitting that at least one continent should be named in honor of a man. When he learned later that Columbus was the man who should have been honored, he wrote a revised edition of his geography and this time took no chances. He called the new continent terrae incognitae. But the name America stuck, and so it came to pass that a German professor who was teaching in a French college gave its name to the western hemisphere in honor of an Italian explorer who was serving the King of Portugal.

In spite of this arbitrary bit of baptism, later Spanish and Portuguese explorers as well as sovereigns and viceroys always referred to the colonies to the south of us as Las Indias, a name still used in English when we speak of the islands known as the West Indies and of the indigenous inhabitants of this continent, the Indians. The use of the word America, although coined in 1507, was not current until it was applied to the colonies of North America and finally incorporated into the official name of our country, the United States of America. We are American citizens and we are Americans; we have no other name for ourselves, there really should be no argument on that point unless you want to be called Unitedstatians or Usonians. But whether we have the right to the name America instead of that of the United States of America is another matter. And so the practise has come about that to the Spanish and Portuguese peoples of America, we are North Americans and they are Americans, and for us, they are South Americans and we are Americans. So you see what a lot of confusion the German professor wrought when in a moment of enthusiasm he put America on the map.

Originally peopled by Indians, some of whom had reached a high stage of civilization, the Americas for some four hundred and fifty years have been colonized voluntarily by Europeans and involuntarily by Africans. More recently, Asiatic peoples, Chinese and Japanese especially, have been coming in until barriers were raised against them in both northern and southern parts of the continent, thus rousing international frictions because of assumptions of race superiority. We live in a continent where many races live, a continent unlike any other. Here in the Americas there can be no racism if we would avoid bloodshed and civil war.

Until recently the aboriginal Indians have been pushed around into the hinterlands, often into mountain districts. Two liberal countermovements in Hispanic America in favor of the Indian have been the Mexican Revolution which has been fairly successful, and the Aprismo movement which originated in Peru.
Having had to work under cover, Aprísmo has accomplished little for the Indian underdog. In North America the Indians were almost completely exterminated, in the south they intermarried with the whites to such an extent that certain countries like Guatemala, Mexico, Peru and Bolivia have produced a race of mestizos, along with pure whites and pure Indians. José Vasconcelos, the famous Mexican educator, calls this mixed people the cosmic race of the future.

As far as the Negro is concerned, Haiti is a purely Negro republic and there are large groups of them in all the islands of the West Indies as well as in the lowlands of the Caribbean states. In Puerto Rico, Cuba and Santo Domingo there is a large population of mixed whites and blacks. But the most interesting phenomenon in the mixture of races is now going on in Brazil where whites, Indians and Negroes have intermingled. Is there a color line in Spanish and Portuguese America? We are told that there is none. There certainly is none of that vicious hatred which causes race riots. As far as my own personal observations go, I should say that politically or economically, color is no bar. As far as intimate social life is concerned, I cannot speak with authority. I have never heard, however, of a Negro being refused admittance to a hotel or theatre or required to sit in a Jim Crow car.

The dominating white races in the Americas have been the British, the Hispanic-Portuguese and the French. The Dutch still maintain a foothold in Guiana and in a few neighboring islands. They have left a more cultural imprint in North America, with place names and proper names, among which stands out the Roosevelt family. Other European peoples, especially the Germans, Italians and Irish have contributed but tributary streams. The British civilization which has been the dominating one in the United States and Canada still welds considerable power politically and economically in the southern part of the American continent. An island power itself, it seems to have had a special predilection for islands, and the Atlantic coast, from Newfoundland in the north, to the Falkland islands off the southern shores of Patagonia, to which Argentina still lays claim, is peppered with British isles too numerous to mention in detail.

In addition to these islands, there are two British colonies on the mainland, British Honduras and British Guiana. Apropos of British islands which are found scattered over the face of the earth, I am reminded of the remark of a witty Frenchman who quoted an English explorer as saying: "Voila une petite ile, elle n'est une personne, prenons-la." As you all know, for the first time in our history we now participate in the defense of these islands, a defense which was foreshadowed by the promulgation of the Monroe Doctrine and by the building of the Panama Canal, in both of which events the British government had a word to say. All this has resulted in the accusation by other nations of a political as well as economic Anglo-American domination of the entire American continent.

France which once had a tremendous empire in America now holds only two tiny islands, St. Pierre and Miquelon, off the coast of Newfoundland, Guadeloupe and Martinique in the West Indies, and French Guiana. Although politically weak in the Americas, France has had and still has there an enormous cultural influence. Only remnants of that culture persist in the territory that came to us through the Louisiana purchase, but a strong French influence still persists in Canada, an influence which has seeped down through the New England States. In Haiti which shares an island with Santo Domingo, the language is French. But without a doubt the most significant form of French civilization in the Americas has not been the result of political conquest. French language, literature and thought have played a large part in the development of Spanish and Portuguese civilizations. French has been in most of the American countries to the south of us a second language. French literature almost completely dominated their literature throughout the nineteenth century, and although they may have modelled some of their constitutions on ours, their political practices stem rather from the French than from us. Theoretically, Catholic, there is prevalent much of that latitudinarian Catholicism which inclines towards indifference to the organized church and leads to free thinking. The French poet who said:

"Tout homme a deux pays, le sien et puis la France" was right as far as Hispanic America is concerned. There is a Gallic polish about the Hispanic-American which baffles and disconcerts our politicians and diplomats. This may explain the attitude of countries like Argentina which perhaps has been influenced more by France than any other country of the Americas. Her schools, her universities, her way of life in cultured circles are French in spirit. Buenos Aires, with a population of four million, one of the most beautiful cities of the world, is an American Paris. Its architecture shows everywhere the influence of the famous French Ecole des Beaux Arts. Argentina feels close to Europe, not only culturally, but also economically. She is far more interested in Europe than in Mexico or Haiti. Very proud of her almost pure European stock, she has a profound contempt for Indians and Negroes. It is startling to find her so indifferent to the fate of France and so unwilling to cooperate more with Britain whose markets she needs so desperately and to whom she is so indebted financially. It is extremely unfortunate that circumstances and urgent need for continental defense have forced us to supply vast quantities or armaments to Brazil, her powerful rival on the South American continent and with whom her relations have never been too cordial. The Hispanic-American peoples have had many bloodstains on their European and American history. Today is jokying to get Chile and Uruguay into her orbit as she has done with Paraguay and Bolivia.

It is also very difficult to understand her leanings toward Germany in the face of the machinations of German colonists in Patagonia and the German Nazi inspired attempt to seize the government of Uruguay in 1940. Uruguay, one of the most progressive and stable of the American republics, holds a strategic position on the River Plate and was created as a buffer state between Argentina and Brazil. Her capital, Montevideo, also one of the most beautiful cities of the Americas, is to Buenos Aires as Boston is to New York. Of course it does not help matters that Uruguay has given the United States permission to build a military and naval base on its shores. I am inclined to believe that the rank and file of the people in Argentina are not so hostile to the United States as has been her governing class of industrialists who are now in league with the army officers. This is a dangerous game. It has been one of the greatest curses of Hispanic-American history. Down there they call it caudillismo which might be translated as the consuming ambition of an army officer to become the dictator of his country.

I mentioned a moment ago that powerful French element in Canada. French Canadians have been hearing a great deal recently about Latin America. You may have noticed that I have not made use of this widely used term because many individuals in the American republics object to it, especially those who live in countries where the Indian stock predominates. French Canadians have just awakened to the fact that there is a great deal of French culture in the Hispanic-American republics and have been flirting with the idea of Latin American solidarity. It is they who have been the instigators of closer relations, and the Canadian government has recently created several diplomatic posts in Hispanic America.

Now what about Spain and Portugal? The Portuguese, a much milder and more easy-going people than the Spanish, allowed Brazil, which is the largest of all the republics of America in both territory and population, to slough off gently with scarcely a struggle in 1822. Brazilians lived happily under a benevolent despotism, more or less as they do today, under an emperor of the Portuguese house of Braganza until 1889 when a republic was declared and Dom Pedro politely sent back home to Portugal. This is one of the most outstanding cases in all history of a bloodless "blow of state" (as the French call it), and stands out in sharp contrast with the violent struggles which most of the Spanish colonies endured in establishing a republican form of government. Brazil has always maintained cordial relations with Portugal and like Portugal itself has looked to France for intellectual leadership. The recent German and Italian colonizations in the southern and temperate part of Brazil are the most important tributary non-Portuguese elements in that country.

However great the French influence may have been intellectually, it has not affected the language of Spanish America. The few gallicisms that are found there belong rather to the literary than to the spoken language. As a matter of fact the most corrupt Spanish of the continent is spoken in Buenos Aires where the Italian stream of immigration has been so great that many Italianisms have crept in. In Cuba, especially in contemporary poetry, a few African Negro expressions have appeared, but in general one can say that with the exception of place names, and of course the flora and fauna which have Indian names, the Spanish of Spanish America is as close to that of Spain as the English of the United States is to that of England. I have met Indians in Mexico and Guatamala who do not speak Spanish, but that difficulty will be overcome eventually with the building of more roads and more schools.

Here is another phenomenon not sufficiently understood in this country. The standard of living is low in most of Hispanic America. But once more we must not generalize too much because in large cosmopolitan centers like Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Havana and Mexico City there are evidences of great wealth and prosperity. The Hispanic-American masses however are not ready for our thousand and one mechanical gadgets. Those markets which we expect to find after the war are simply not there, and most Spanish Americans do not mortgage their futures to buy electric sweepers and washing machines. Manual labor is cheaper, and after all in a non-industrial country, the people must earn their daily bread in some way. Differences of speech do not obstruct international cooperation so much as ways of living and economic conditions.

There is little danger that Spanish America will be beguiled into the sphere of Hispanidad so fondly hoped for by Franco with his medieval program of life. That is all wishful thinking on his part. Although many of the Spanish-American republics are maintained in office by force of arms, their tendency is to gravitate more and more towards democracy. Theoretically they are democracies and the anti-democratic utterances of Franco are repellent to the rank and file of thinking Spanish Americans. Argentina, now ruled by the colonels of the army, was for many years the most stable of Spanish American democracies. On the other hand Venezuela, for half a century ruled by the iron hands of a despotic general, a Castro or a Gómez, is emerging slowly as a model democracy.

Tiny Costa Rica, with a population about the size of that of Boston, boasts that it has more teachers than soldiers. Mexico which has had the only real social revolution of Hispanic America was the most friendly and sympathetic of all the American republics (and I include our own), in its attitude toward the ill-fated Spanish Republic. I look upon Mexico as the most dynamic of all Spanish American countries. It has produced to my mind the greatest poetry of Spanish America if we exclude the work of the great Nicaraguan poet Ruben Darío. Some years ago, by the way, I had occasion to write an article entitled Poetry and Bananas in which I tried to show that this greatest Spanish speaking poetic genius of the twentieth century came from little Nicaragua which most of us thought of as a huge banana plantation belonging to the United Fruit Company. In its treatment of the Indian, Mexico has given many lessons to our Department of the Interior which has charge of the education of our own Indians. With the help of our great institutions, such as the Carnegie Foundation, the Mexicans are bringing to light the great monuments of the Maya and Aztec civilizations. The Mexican Indian is no longer the underdog. Reading, writing and academic schooling are secondary to the teaching of modern agricultural methods and animal husbandry. The Mexican Indian is encouraged to develop his artistic instincts in ceramics and textiles. The whole modern art movement in Mexico as exemplified by Rivera and Orozco is a throwback to the ancient Indian cultures. The Pan American highway which will eventually run from Canada to Chile and thence to Argentina and Brazil, and which we hope will be one of the ties that binds, is practically finished in Mexico, having been constructed entirely with Mexican money by Mexican engineers. Mexico's political leaders, especially its president, Avila Camacho, and Enrique Padilla, its minister of foreign affairs, have worked miracles to erase from the minds of the fellow citizens the wrongs inflicted by us by way of territorial aggrandizement and economic exploitation. Dwight Morrow planted the seeds of the present rapprochement with Mexico, and President Roosevelt and Vice-president Wallace have brought these seeds to flower. But all their labors will have gone for naught if the people of our border states continue to treat Mexican Indians and mestizos with such cruel contempt.

One of the traits which the Hispanic-American has inherited from his forbears is his prejudice against manual labor. The conquistador came to El Dorado in search of gold and silver and precious stones, followed by the merchant and industrialist who enslaved the Indian and the Negro in mines and on sugar plantations. In many countries the rich are very rich and the poor are very poor. Enormous haciendas and concessions to foreign capitalists are everywhere the rule. A middle class is only recently emerging, slowly and painfully. We are a people who take off our coats and get down to work. That to Hispano-Americans is a breach of etiquette. The result has been that they have sold their birthrights for our messes of potage. Much of the invested capital, ownership of railroads, mines, industries and plantations is in British or American hands. The petroleum industry, which looms so large today in international affairs, is almost entirely owned by foreigners. I recently congratulated a Venezuelan on the fact that his was the third largest oil producing country in the world. His answer was that Venezuela retained very little of the profits as it has neither the

(Continued on Page Fifty-Four)
A New View of the Globe

Address at Boston University Summer Session Commencement, August 12, 1944

By Daniel L. Marsh, President of Boston University

An air globe was presented to me the other day by the Manager of the Boston office of the American Airlines. It is something new in the world of globes, well calculated to start new lines of thought, new brain cells exploding inside the skull. A globe is the only accurate representation of our planet, for the earth is a ball. Speaking with strict accuracy, it is an oblate spheroid, some twenty-seven miles shorter in diameter at the poles than at the equator. The flat maps which we are accustomed to seeing make us think of the earth as flat, even when intellectually we know that it is round.

But the striking thing about this air globe is that it does not contain the representations we are accustomed to seeing on maps, whether flat or global. There are no lines of latitude or longitude; no oceans, islands or continents; no mountains, lakes or rivers; no political boundaries or colors that divide one country from another. And yet the continents are so clearly outlined that we can tell where they begin and end, and can distinguish one continent from another. How is this?

The entire globe is of one color, an atmospheric turquoise. The only markings upon it are the names of cities and little dots indicating their locations. The names of the cities and their respective dots define the habitable parts of the planet. The reason for this is that to the air-minded map maker, the only thing that counts is persons; for it is persons who travel by air. If anything other than persons is carried, it has significance only in its relationship to persons. Some means of transportation start with the shore, and others end with the shore. Some are deflected by bodies of water, and others by mountain ranges. But the airplane can travel wherever there is air, and since air encompasses the entire globe, there is neither let nor hindrance to its progress. The airplane can fly and have free course and be glorified, landing upon the surface of the planet only where concern for persons makes its landing desirable.

This new globe may be accepted as a pictorial parable of a profound truth that is in constant need of emphasis and restatement, namely: The thing of supreme importance in this world is human personality. Protagoras of Abdera once said that "Man is the measure of all things." Man with his faculties, his capacities of spirit, stands forever in the foreground. In the final analysis, the acid test of any industry or business, education or religion or political system is: What does it do to human personality?

Boston University has reason for pride in the fact that the distinguishing philosophy undergirding all its work is that to which its first great Professor of Philosophy, Borden Parker Bowne, gave the name of Personalism. Any true university is a field for the quest of all truth, a forum for free discussion. Every university, however, has some philosophy that influences all its work, as, for instance, Dewey's philosophy has influenced education at Columbia for the past quarter of a century. Professor Hocking of Harvard says that "Personalism is the distinctive name for Bowne's contribution to metaphysics; and as a summary account of the curve of metaphysical speculation since Kant, there is no more powerful and convincing chapter in American metaphysical writing than that of Bowne on the 'Failure of Impersonalism.'" Bowne wrought out the main ideas underlying Personalism "with a thoroughness, a consistency, and a systematic completeness that has identified his name permanently with that type of philosophy." Professor Brightman, Bowne's successor at Boston University, has said that "the philosophy of Personalism sees the whole universe as a society of persons. It interprets nature and evolution as a 'divine language,' through which the supreme mind expresses itself to finite persons.
It approaches every problem from the point of view of personality and regards all true knowledge as interpreting or ministering to the development of persons."

When we ask concerning anything, What kind of person does it make? or, What does it do to persons? we mean that anything that sins against human personality is wrong, and must be banished. Human slavery stunted and twisted personality, and it had to go. Child labor and the twelve-hour day in industry cramped and blighted the full development of human personality, and they had to go. The traffic in alcoholic liquors poisons and blights human personality, and it will have to go. War blasts and damns human personality, and nations will have to stop resorting to it as an instrument of international policy. Prostitution offers the counterfeit of lust for love, and mars and defaces the image of God in the soul of man, and must be judged in terms of what it does to the family and to the sinner. Once Jesus answered carping critics and caviling Pharisees by telling them that “the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath.” That principle must be applied to every institution that touches human life. The university is made for the student, not the student for the university. The church is made for the member who belongs to it, not the member for the church. Government is made for man, not man for the government. Herein lies the principal difference between democracy and dictatorship. In a dictatorship, the individual exists for the state: He is a little cog in an enormous machine that ruthlessly grinds and grinds; but in a democracy or a republican form of government, such as is ours, the government exists for the citizen; the government official is not a boss but a public servant. The ultimate goal is not the cruel conquering state, but a free individual.

Science is a word sometimes bandied about in shallow thinking. Every once in awhile, you read or hear someone say that science does this or science does that or science will accomplish thus and so, as though science were a self-conscious entity. As a matter of fact, science does not do anything. Science is only the name for something that persons do, -- the name of what persons do in observing and systematizing phenomena, and the drawing of conclusions therefrom. Chemistry does nothing, but certain persons who are called chemists accomplish much. Physics does nothing, but certain persons who are called physicists accomplish greatly to human progress. Astronomy is nothing but the calculations and conclusions of certain persons who are called astronomers. Sociology has no existence apart from certain persons who are called sociologists. Therefore, we err when we talk about man being helpless against chemistry, or negligible by comparison with the figures of astronomy, or infinitesimal as measured against geological eons. What we should say is that man is the chemist who discovers and makes usable long hidden secrets of nature. Man is the astronomer who weighs the stars and measures the distance to far-off constellations. Man is the geologist who walks back across geologic ages, interpreting for us the records written in the pages of the rocks.

Shakespeare makes Hamlet speak our thought: “What a piece of work is a man! how noble in reason! how infinite in faculty! in form and moving how express and admirable! in action how like an angel! in apprehension how like a god! the beauty of the world! the paragon of animals!”

The ancient Psalmist, addressing the Lord God, makes an even more sublime statement. He says:

“What is man, that thou art mindful of him?
And the son of man, that thou visitest him?
For thou hast made him but little lower than God,
And crownest him with glory and honor.
Thou makest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands;
Thou hast put all things under his feet.”

Let the thought suggested by this new globe dominate the peace that shall be made at the end of this terrible war. Let it be kept in mind that “man is the measure of all things.” Give centrality to the well-being of persons rather than to national pride and aggrandizement, to advantages of trade and commerce, or to dominion by any kind of secular ambition.

And so far as the individual is concerned, let him ever keep in mind that he is sprung of heaven's first stock. Let him not emulate the muckraker in Bunyan’s “Pilgrim’s Progress” who spent his time raking the straw and chaff on the floor without ever noting the presence of the angelic figure that stood above him, holding over his head a celestial crown. We have titles manifold. We must not hold ourselves cheap. Since we are human beings, a certain noblesse oblige should characterize our every thought and action. In all our complex industrial and civic affairs, in all our complex national and international relations, man must ever be the measure of all things. Individually, “keep your chin up,” act as an immortal child of God ought to act. Give to others room and right for the development of the God-like possibilities that inher in any rightly ordered personality, even as you should claim that same room and right for yourself.
In the early years of our College of Liberal Arts on Beacon Hill, students taking physics were provided instruction through an agreement with Massachusetts Institute of Technology. But Boston University had many an ambition yet to fulfill. In 1906, a brisk young graduate of Yale who had received his doctorate at Johns Hopkins University in 1901, and followed it with an assistantship at Yerkes Observatory and three years' service as professor of physics at Wabash College, Indiana, was invited, with the rating of assistant professor, to see what could be done about a department of physics. This exceptional young man was Norton Adams Kent, known now to every graduate who ever took a course in physics. For it was only last May that he was still making frequent visits to the department which he founded, having received an appointment as visiting professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, "right over the way" as he called it, upon his retirement from his position at Boston University in June, 1942. After 41 years of active teaching he died on June fifth from a suddenly serious heart difficulty, just as he arrived for a month of rest at Chocorua, N. H.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret Crowninshield, and a daughter, Margaret.

In his later years, amidst enlarged facilities and increasing student personnel, he liked to chuckle over his first difficulties. To President Huntington, the first modest bill for laboratory equipment, although cut far below the young professor's standards was just an astounding impossibility. There was only one path open, and young Dr. Kent, although a stranger to Boston, with conviction and doubtless a prayer, took it. He visited homes on Beacon Hill where he knew there was money waiting to be spent in the service of humanity. Some of the people who contributed to that first laboratory remained his permanent personal friends. One was Mrs. Woods of Mt. Vernon Street, who through her daughter, Mrs. Craig, gave the first $5000, and Mrs. Wadsworth contributed $100 yearly over a period of twenty-one years to a fund which she wished him to use for needy students. As the years went on, he found other contributors among his old friends in New York, and more Boston friends to whom to appeal. He had that sort of personality that inspired friendliness and belief in his program of teaching and research in the Boston University Physics Department.

It might have been supposed that Dr. Kent's administrative and professorial duties would leave very little time for research, yet somehow he did manage to carry on such work in his special field spectroscopy. A former head of the physics department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology about twenty years ago once remarked in this connection, "There is more scientific spirit in that little physics department at Boston University than there is here at the institute!" Between 1901 and 1939 he published nineteen papers on such subjects as the Zeeman effect; shifts of spark lines due to circuit conditions, fine structure of spectral lines as determined by the echelon, also by Lummer plates, both crossed and in tandem, and determination of wavelengths. He spent his first sabbatical leave of absence from Boston University in Germany, working in collaboration with Paschen on the Zeeman effect of five lithium lines. His second sabbatical year was spent at the California Institute of Technology with Houston, photographing the hydrogen molecular spectrum and measuring its wave-lengths. One can imagine his emotional reaction when several years later he surveyed Harrison's beautiful recording spectrophotometer which will measure in a few seconds plates such as Dr. Kent had labored over for many months. At the time of his death he was working on the fine structure of H-alpha on which subject he had already published three papers.

He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the American Physical Society. He was a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and chairman of its Rumford Committee.

Perhaps because the department of physics remained small, his students were to him not merely lists of names, but personalities to be studied, to be encouraged and fostered, to be kept in touch with over long periods of years. He took a special interest in the problems of foreign students, especially from the Far East, devoting time to a study of China. He even gave an extra-curricular course for a while on Chinese life and civilization. Some of us were in the groups entertained at his home with lantern slides on this projection of his humanitarian interest. It must be said that people who knew Professor Kent were aware of his feeling for the need of world peace, his reaching out to all individuals in a spirit of brotherhood, his efforts toward a better world. Perhaps we were surprised at his timing of quizzes to discourage our studying on Sundays, but we soon realized that this was not a matter of religious formalism, but a true desire to help us live the "life more abundant".

He loved not only humanity but all nature. vacations took him almost always to the mountains and streams of New Hampshire. After a hard year of work he found the greatest recuperative power in fishing and climbing. On longer trips he enjoyed the glorious beauty of the Rocky Mountains and the stimulating wonders of the Canadian forests. Only under such conditions did it seem possible for him to relax. He will be remembered most for his tireless energy and simple generous nature.

ROYAL M. FRYE, A’11
Professor of Physics, Boston University

LUCIEN B. TAYLOR, A’18
Professor of Physics, Boston University

Page Thirteen
New Members of the

HAROLD T. YOUNG, B'27
Director, College of Business Administration

E. RAY SPEARE, A'94
Treasurer since 1925

FRANK E. BARTON, M'24
Director, School of Medicine

GEORGE M. SNEATH, G'26
Director, Graduate School

EMIL M. HARTL, T'S1
Director, School of Theology

WILLARD P. LOMBARD, L'11
Director, School of Law

Page Fourteen
When we ceased to be a collection of small, semi-independent schools and colleges and began to merge into one great centralized Boston University, an all-University Alumni Association was a natural and inevitable corollary. In union there is strength — and efficiency, companionship and many other advantages.

Back of this Alumni Association is a President, three Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, a Recording Secretary, and a Board of Directors. These are the representatives of the alumni — all the alumni, and it is the answer arising out of the challenge of Boston University's growth in size and prestige, and its vital factor in cohesion. It was called into being by the discovery that it was no longer feasible to deal with all matters mutually affecting the alumni and the University in the old haphazard manner — that is limiting all alumni direction to departmental alumni assemblies occurring every year, or every few years, or not at all. The general Alumni Association, in short, has an important role to play in those functions which involve the whole University and the active alumni body.

This Association does not supplant but supplements the work of the Departmental Associations as a matter of necessity and expediency.

At present the Board of Directors consists of thirty-nine members with the Association President as chairman; six officers, and three directors from each of the eleven Schools and Colleges. These members are elected by the Departmental Associations for a term of three years, each so arranged that their terms expire successively, so that one for each Department has to be selected each year. (If the Departmental Association fails to act, the representative is appointed by the Dean.)

Out of this comes a distinctly serviceable body of Boston University alumni, whose duty it is to meet four times a year and direct alumni affairs on behalf of the whole alumni-body. Thus are accomplished with serious deliberation and real cohesion, things which could be done only haphazardly and incompletely by the separate college associations. Without this body it is doubtful that anything like the present efficiency and united action and cooperation could be achieved.

We take pleasure in presenting in this issue the new Officers and Directors of the Boston University Alumni Association.
Fine Review of Boston University Film

In the June issue of "The Educational Screen" in the section on School Made Motion Pictures of which the editor is Harry R. Finch, Head of the English Department, Greenwich (Connecticut) High School, appears the following review of our University film.

FILM STORY OF BOSTON UNIVERSITY

One of the outstanding public relations films available at the present time is Thirty Minutes of University Life, the scenes of which are laid in the six undergraduate colleges and the six graduate schools that comprise Boston University. The film, in 16mm kodachrome, consumes about forty minutes of running time.

President Marsh of Boston University, the narrator of the film, introduces the university to the film audience in the opening sequence. In the College of Business Administration the journalism students are seen in the Boston University News office. This is followed by shots of the university radio studio, advertising and merchandising classes; accounting groups; and industrial management courses. After a visit to the library and the student employment office, the wartime personnel department is inspected.

Students are shown in the officers' training program: first, enrolling in the program by means of interviews and examinations; and secondly; receiving instruction in the use of military equipment.

Boston University's physical education program is shown in one section of the film which includes shots of special classes for physical education teachers; gymnasium work; boxing classes; wrestling; rowing; tennis; canoeing; swimming; diving; and speed ball.

After the presentation of scenes of dormitory life, the film shows nurses in training. Representing the educational department of the university by scenes of students doing practice teaching and having interviews with a superintendent of schools, the production gives a comprehensive picture of the College of Music with its classroom activities, its orchestra, its choruses, and its seminary singers.

Several shots of the physics laboratories, including one of the testing of a motor; five shots of the chemistry laboratory; a demonstration and a visit to the observatory of the astronomy department; demonstrations of illusions, a color blind test, and a mechanical aptitude test in the psychology classes; and the study of the frog in biology, all illustrate the scientific facilities of the institution.

The Boston University Medical School, the School of Law, and the Secretarial School are then presented briefly. The Arts and Crafts division of the University follows with its life classes, clothing and sewing instruction, and nutrition study.

The concluding section of the film shows a number of events of especial interest to alumni of the school. The May Day celebration with its colorful procession, its pageant, and its folk dancing; the football games; the Student Council dinner at the President's home; and Alumni Day will certainly revive the memories of former graduates and students.

The film was produced by Floyd Ramusell, president of the Worcester Film Corporation, under the supervision of the Director of School and College Relations. Professors of the university acted as technical advisors. For musical background, sound recordings of the University Orchestra, directed by Arthur Fiedler, the chorus, glee club, and the University Band were used.

Judson Rea Butler, Director of School and College Relations, provided the material upon which the above film description was based. To secure the film for showing, address him at The Committee on School and Public Relations Office, Boston University, 20 Beacon Street, Boston, Massachusetts.

South American Editors Guests of the College of Business Administration

Under the auspices of the Press Club of Washington, D.C. and the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, a group of six editors from as many Latin American countries has been touring sections of the United States. On June 6 they were entertained at luncheon at Hotel Sheraton by Dean Sutchliffe after they had visited classes in the Hayden Memorial. Asked for statements appropriate for the day, D-day, they expressed the following opinions to a student reporter from the Boston University Bureau of Publicity.

"The Allied Invasion of Europe marks the beginning of the end of Hitler and all he stands for and is the sequel to the fall of Rome", declared Albert V. McGeachy, editor of the Star-Herald and Estrella de Panama, Panama City, Panama. "It will be a tough fight," he continued, "but perhaps the close of the year will see the war with Germany ended. I can imagine, judging from sentiment, that in Panama we had many parades on this, D-day."

Rodrigo Facio, managing editor of the Diario de Costa Rica, San Jose, Costa Rica, pointed out that Costa Rica, who declared war on the Axis four hours before the United States, shares with the rest of the United Nations this day of glory and joy. "We see this invasion as the final victory in Europe and Asia. I don't know how long it will be before Victory, but this will be the beginning of a new era of peace for Europe and the Americas," he concluded.

Expressing the complete faith of the Nicaraguan people in General Dwight Eisenhower, Juan Ramon Aviles, publisher and editor of La Noticia, Managua, Nicaragua, pointed out that as the landing in Africa was the liberation of the Mohammedi world and the invasion of Italy freed the Catholic capital, so the landings in France were the third phase against the idol of the anti-Christ of the philosopher Frederick Nietzsche.

"Since Guatemala was one of the first to declare war on the Axis after Pearl Harbor, this D-Day is a holy day, for my people", Ricardo Peralto, director of El Liberal Progressista in Guatemala City, said. "The importance of the fall of Rome is most material, because it is the first Axis capital to be taken and it is also the spiritual capital of the Catholic world."

Representing Cuba, Julio Velis Lopez, publisher and editor of La Correspondencia, Cienfuegos, hoped that the struggle would not be hard and that German collapse would come soon.

Popular With Service Men and Women

A summer issue of the Alumni Service men's Letter was mailed to our more than 6000 alumni in the armed service. These letters in a newsy chatty style tell of the more important aspects and events of the University in wartime together with quotations from our rapidly enlarging overseas mailbag.

Thus the Alumni Association is keeping informal touch with all our service folk of record by, what we are told is the greatest of all morale builders, letters from home.

Certainly the collective response from overseas is, "Keep them coming", or "Send us more".
Are you one of the million and a half men who have already crossed the border between military and civilian life — or, if still in the service, do you want to know what you're entitled to when you hang up your uniform?

We have a free 24-page booklet that was carefully prepared by our War Service Bureau just to help you. Called "Information for Demobilized Veterans," it explains the rights and privileges that you have earned by serving in the armed forces of your country.

Besides the G.I. Bill of Rights and other information listed in the right-hand column, the booklet has some tips to guide you in getting yourself reestablished, and a suggestion or two about a post-war career.

For more than 100 years, we have been helping folks like you to attain financial security. Our advice to you and the thousands more who are now being honorably discharged each month is — hold on to your National Service Life Insurance. This booklet tells you what to do to keep that protection and how to make the most of it.

Send for your copy of "Information for Demobilized Veterans" today. It is offered as our contribution to help you get your feet on the ground in what probably seems a very different world after military service. A penny postal will bring it to you free of charge, along with a handsome, rugged envelope to keep your discharge certificate and service papers fresh and clean.

Table of Contents

- Highlights of the G.I. Bill of Rights
  - How to continue your education, guarantees of loans, unemployment benefits, etc.
- When you go home
  - Mastering-out pay, where to go for information on employment, hospitalization, vocational training, etc.
  - Your pension privileges and how to apply.
- Your National Service Life Insurance
  - How to keep it in force, how to convert with premiums rates and illustrations.
- Where do you go from here?
  - Some ideas on your post-war career.

---

New England Mutual

Life Insurance Company of Boston

George Willard Smith, President

Agencies in Principal Cities Coast to Coast

The First Mutual Life Insurance Company Charteredin America —1835

---

These Boston University — and hundreds of other college men, represent New England Mutual:

Wheeler H. King, C.L.U., '23, New York City
Selma Orlov, '25, Boston
Thomas J. Reid, '29, Salem
Moses Alpers, '29, Salem

We have opportunities for more Boston University men. Why not write Dept. W-2 in Boston?
An Unusual Distinction

To Charles A. Drew, Esq., L'73, Boston University's oldest living graduate, came the unusual distinction of being the one in a hundred thousand who outlive the life expectancy table of insurance companies. Many years ago Mr. Drew purchased from the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company a limited payment life policy which now, because Mr. Drew has reached the age of ninety-six has matured as an endowment for the face value of the policy. A check representing this amount was presented by Mr. William F. Kelly, B'25, '27, Supervisor of the Devonshire Street Agency of the Connecticut Mutual.

Dr. Whittier Lorenz Hanson

Dr. Whittier Lorenz Hanson became Professor Emeritus at the close of the last academic year. He has served the University since 1922. His initial appointment was in the former School of Religious Education and Social Service where he was Professor of Educational Statistics and Measurements for ten years. In 1932 he was transferred to the School of Education where he served in the capacity of Professor of Education until his recent retirement. In addition to teaching courses in the field of Measurement, Character Education, and Guidance, Dr. Hanson has supervised the Student Teaching in cooperating secondary schools. He constantly maintained the confidence and esteem of school superintendents and high school principals in whose communities Boston University students have been placed for this student teaching.

Dr. Hanson's work at Boston University was preceded by a rich experience in the field of education. Beginning in 1900 as a teacher of science at the high school at Kentland, Indiana, he became Principal of the Monmouth High School in Illinois in 1901, Principal of the Burlington High School, Iowa, from 1906 to 1909, City Superintendent of Schools in Burlington, Iowa, from 1909 to 1918. In 1918 he went to France as Divisional Educational Director of the A. E. F. in Bordeaux. Returning to the United States, he became Associate Director of the Religious Education Survey of the Inter-Church World Movement in 1919. He has taught at Yale University and Northwestern University.

Dr. Hanson retires from active service in the University with the cordial good wishes of his former students and his faculty associates.

A New High for the Alumni Fund

The Alumni Fund record of 1943 has been broken in 1944. This year's results have gone ahead with a total of $36,006.28 from 4633 subscribers. On August 1, the '44 Fund exceeded the 1943 total of $32,086.19 by $3,920.09, and the 1942 total of $8,600 by $27,406.28. Mr. Charles F. Collins, 1944 Chairman, The Alumni Fund Council, and the Class Agents are to be congratulated. Never have the class representatives been so inspired, and so inspiring. A highlight was the continued support from our 6,000 men and women in uniform, now scattered throughout the seas and battlefronts of the world.

MAX R. GROSSMAN, B'26
WITH THE OWI IN WASHINGTON

"My work with the OWI is fascinating. The appointment was sudden (and delightful) and I cleared out in about three days. President Marsh was grand to give me a leave of absence on such short notice. "I have been assigned to the Writers' Section where there are eight trained seals who have the entire country as a beat. We do the major research and writing projects and get in and out of places where resident personnel are barred. We can see, for example, Army and Navy documents marked 'Secret' and can meet anyone or go anywhere within the continental confines of the country. Conversely, the OWI Overseas group has the rest of the world as its beat...

"Since my arrival here, despite my assignment to the Writers' Section, I have spent two weeks on the Domestic News Desk, one week on the Labor Press Desk and currently (stop laughing!) I am chief of the Rural Press Section. The regular chief will be back next week and I think I will be able to return to my own adjectives and adverbs in the Writers' Section. During my incumbency as chief of Rural Press, I have planned to start a campaign to get the nation's roosters to crow on daylight time. Somehow the rural experts here don't think the campaign will work out. So perhaps I'll forget the whole business."
College of Liberal Arts

Dr. Peter Anthony Bertocci, who has been a member of the Faculty of Bates College since 1935, has been appointed Associate Professor of Philosophy on the Faculty of Boston University College of Liberal Arts. He continues his services as Associate Professor and Head of the Department of Philosophy and Psychology at Bates College during the present semester, coming to Boston University to begin instruction on the second of October.

In coming to Boston University Dr. Bertocci returns to his Alma Mater and to urban area familiar to him from boyhood. His record of distinction at the Somerville High School, from which he graduated in 1927, and his subsequent high accomplishment as an undergraduate student in Boston University College of Liberal Arts, gave him successive appointments as a Scholar and Fellow of the Augustus Howe Buck Educational Fund. In 1931 he received the degree Bachelor of Arts, with Honor in Philosophy. His first year of graduate study was completed at Harvard University from which institution he received the degree Master of Arts in 1932.

Deeply interested in the personalistic philosophy of Borden Parker Bowne and of Edgar Sheffield Brightman, Dr. Bertocci continued graduate study with and under the direction of the latter, receiving the degree Doctor of Philosophy from Boston University in 1935. He spent the year 1934-1935 in research at the University of Cambridge under the supervision of Dr. Frederick R. Tennant. His dissertation, later revised and published by Harvard University Press (1938), was on The Empirical Argument for God in Late British Thought.

In his appointment to the staff in Philosophy at Boston University, Professor Bertocci succeeds Dr. L. Harold DeWolf, lately Professor of Philosophy and now Professor of Systematic Theology on the Faculty of Boston University School of Theology. In the program of the department of Philosophy of the College of Liberal Arts he will give courses in The History of Philosophy, Ethics, and Logic. He will also give courses in Philosophy and in Ethics at the Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters.

Professor Irving H. White, already appreciated known to many of our students through periods of part-time service as Lecturer on English, becomes Professor of English on this Faculty by transfer from the Faculty of the College of Practical Arts and Letters. We extend cordial welcome to Professor White.

We record with pleasure the promotion of Dr. André Célèrèse, from Assistant Professor to Professor of French, and of Dr. Lowell Vernon Coutler (on leave), from Instructor to Assistant Professor of Chemistry.

Work is in progress to provide a comfortable and attractive Men's Lounge in the basement area at the West end of the College building. For greater convenience the men's locker rooms have been consolidated in the East section.

The Physical Education Courses for Men will meet in the Boston University Stuart Street Gymnasium, 420 Stuart Street (University Club Building) this year.

Dean Ralph W. Taylor, A.B. 1911, A.M. 1922, was married to Elizabeth Stephan, A.B. 1926, A.M. 1935, on July 23, 1944. Mrs. Taylor is the daughter of the late Reverend Joseph Wilbut Stephan, S.T.B. 1897, and Addie Santom Stephan, A.B. 1898. Mrs. Taylor held teaching positions in the public schools of Shrewsbury and of Andover. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha.

College of Business Administration

On September 11, Freshmen registered for the beginning of the thirty-second year of the College of Business Administration. Classes began on the 14th in the Day College, and on September 18 in the Evening College of Commerce.

The day enrollment may be the smallest in over twenty-five years; last year, in September, a total of 351 day students registered, but the total this year may not reach that figure. In the college year 1942-43, 600 day students left college to enter the Service and although freshmen enter at the age of seventeen, they are soon called for military duty.

The evening enrollment a year ago was over 1800, counting new students in both semesters. There is every reason to believe that this year's total will be even larger.

The college service flag, displayed in the lobby, shows over 2800 students and alumni now serving and that total would be increased by many hundreds if all alumni would report on military service. The flag also shows 60 gold stars.

The college is making full plans for a large enrollment following the war, and special programs have been approved for veterans and other mature students, covering special two-year programs as well as new major programs for the degree.

A new hotel and restaurant management program is being developed in both the day and evening colleges, and one course, "Hotel and Restaurant Accounting and Control," will be given this year. It is interesting to note in our contacts with the hotel associations, the following names of alumni in that field: George Grandi, B'27, Maurice Lawler, B'24, Guy Butler, B'28, Harold Severance, B'27, Clayton Hicks, B'29, and there are undoubtedly many others.

Professor C. Chandler Parkhurst, B'27, is leaving CBA to become head of the English Department in PAL.

Professor Max Grossman, B'26, is on a year's leave of absence and is with the O.W.I. in Washington. Professor A. Lawrence MacKenzie will serve as Acting Head of the Journalism Department.

Henry H. Stafford, B'25, has joined the college staff as Associate Director of the Bureau of Business Research.

Dean Lord reports from his home in Falmouth Foreside, Maine, that his roses and vegetables are flourishing in spite of the drought.

Professor Roy Davis, reversing the usual migratory habit, goes south to his home in Marshfield every summer, and returns north to Boston each fall.

Professor Bellamy is keeping well and busy with C.S. & A. and with a house organ which he is editing for a Cambridge war plant.

Letters have recently been received from Lieutenant Colonel Irving Whittmore, in Italy; Major Stan Hirtle, B'26, in France; Captain Noel Laird, B'24, in the European sector; Lieutenant Colonel Pat Hanley in Saipan; and Lieutenant Colonel Wentworth Williams, B'27, in the European theatre.

College of Practical Arts and Letters

Alumnae of the College of Practical Arts and Letters will be interested to know that approximately 2000 of the 2600 questionnaires mailed out last spring in an effort to bring the alumnae file up to date have been returned. Further attempts are now being made to locate correct information about the remaining 600. Early in October a mailing will be sent to all members of the Class of 1944.

Many faculty changes have taken place during the summer. Dr. Irving H. White, a member of the faculty for eighteen years, this year transferred to the English Department of the College of Liberal Arts, and Dr. l. Harold DeWolfe, professor of philosophy and psychology for many years, has become a full-time member of the faculty of the School of Theology.

New faculty members for the year 1944-45 include Professor Charles Chandler Parkhurst, professor of English and chairman of the department; Robert M. Campbell, assistant professor of English and director of the dramatic group; Allen Dale Carrier, chief counselor in commercial art.

Miss Marie Stern, a member of the Class of 1943 and instructor in secretarial studies last year, returns to the College as Mrs. Joseph Allen Jaymes. Her marriage took place early in the summer.

An announcement has been made by Dean Davis that a full professorship in history has been granted to Professor John Oddy. Professor Oddy previously held the rank of associate professor.

Mrs. Annette Mitchell returns to the Dunn Memorial Dormitory this year as House Director, after having been appointed in February of last year to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Arlyn E. Conard, who left to join her husband, a chaplain in the Army.

At Murlin House, Mrs. John Oddy will be House Director.

DEAN DAVIS HONORED AT BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Under the caption given above "The Business Education World" for September printed the following story of Dean T. Lawrence Davis and the College of Practical Arts and Letters.

Boston University last May paid fitting tribute to T. Lawrence Davis for his twenty-five years of achievement as dean of the College of Practical Arts and Letters.

Dean Davis, now the senior dean at Boston University, has been dean of the College of Practical Arts and Letters since it was organized.

Twenty-five years ago, with the world at war as it is today, Mr. Davis had the courage to break with academic tradition, to urge the foundation of a college for business training for women. The College of Practical Arts and Letters, with its continuous growth and expansion over the quarter century, is a living testimony of the soundness of Dean Davis's ideas.

During 1917 and 1918, to meet the war emergencies of those years, the College of Business Administration of Boston University was opened to women who wished to be trained for business. Mr. Davis was in charge of these courses.

So successful were these courses that a separate college, to be known as the College of Secretarial Science for Women, was started in 1919, with Mr. Davis as dean. An enrollment of 325 day students for the first year taxed to capacity the building that housed the new college.

Again departing from the traditional idea that a college course must be four years or more in length, Dean Davis planned the courses at the College of Secretarial Science so that students who could not remain the full four years or more would be prepared to leave at the end of two years equipped with practical training.

Although the emphasis was placed on practical business training, cultural training was not overlooked. For this reason, the name of the college was changed from the College of Secretarial Science to the College of Practical Arts and Letters, as being a name indicative of the aims and ideals of the college. As the years have passed, additional courses have been added; for example, courses in home economics, commercial art, and medical secretarial training.

With the advent of World War II, Dean Davis recognized a new need in business training; and to meet this need, he organized an intensive one-year course of study to prepare girls for secretarial work. The enrollment for this intensive course was so large that a special building was required to house the classes.

If this report concerns the College of Practical Arts and Letters more than it does Dean Davis, whose silver anniversary was being celebrated, it is because the story of Dean Davis and the story of the growth of the College of Practical Arts and Letters have become so merged into each other that the story of one is virtually the story of the other.

College of Music

As the beginning of the college year approaches, past difficulties in the practice room situation are largely being remedied. The practice rooms at 25 Huntington Avenue have been given up. To replace them, most of the space in the building at 25 Blagden Street has been assigned to the College of Music. Plans are under way to make use of this space in the following manner:

Professor Kelley and Miss Myers will have their offices on the first floor in the present quarters of the Placement Service. The rooms to the rear of these offices will be used for a music education library and reading room. The second floor will continue to be occupied by the School of Education. On the third, fourth, and fifth floors, the space above the entrance hall will house three applied music studios and practice rooms. The big main space, now occupied by Professor Powell, will be turned into a much needed additional classroom. This floor will also provide space for several professors’ offices. On the sixth floor, the room now occupied by Professor Kelley will be turned into the much needed and long awaited “Listening Room” for students in the History and Appreciation of Music. On the seventh floor, the space now occupied by Professor Houghton and Miss McLain will make four practice rooms. These new arrangements, together with the pipe organ installed on the ninth floor last year, will go far toward solving many of the problems of students in applied music, as well as in the history of music.

Two faculty changes should also be noted. After long and distinguished service in the University, Mr. Carl Barth and Mr. Paul Mimar have passed the retiring age. In the instrumental classes, they will be replaced by Mr. Jacobus Langendoen, 'cellist, and Mr. Manuel Valero, clarinetist, both of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Both have had ample experience in classroom teaching and are strong additions to the faculty.

During the summer, the taking of applications and the accepting of new students have gone on at about the same rate as in the last few years. While we do not anticipate a tremendous increase in the number of students, neither do we anticipate any appreciable losses. The war has taken most of our boys, but has given us additional girls to replace many of those who entered the armed forces.

Sargent College of Physical Education

The Sargent Summer Camp season came to a happy close on Wednesday evening, August twenty-second, with a highly colorful and impressive banquet. A tribute to the Allied Nations constituted the theme. Characteristic costumes, artistic table decorations and individual favors significant of the various nations including a head table representative of the United States of America, were planned and designed by the senior campers. At this banquet six members of the Counselor Training Program were presented certificates and recognized by Dean Walke as qualified to accept positions as counselors in succeeding summers at Sargent Camp.

On Parents’ Weekend, Dr. and Mrs. Marsh were guests of the camp. We were fortunate in having Dr. Marsh as guest speaker for the final Sunday evening Vesper Service. He gave a most inspirational talk to all campers and commended Dean Walke on his many accomplishments during this and previous camp seasons.

The counselor staff of both the intermediate and senior camps had several Sargent College representatives: Barbara Allen, Leonora Curcey, Susan Dawkins, Kathryn Fink, Caroline Gentile, Virginia Herlihy, and Helen Nolan; from the class of 1944, Margaret Fuller, Phyllis King and Alice Skladal; Miss Adele Strogen and Miss Gertrude Davis, alumnae, were also on the counselor staff. Regular members of the college faculty and staff were Miss Marjorie Cowhig, nurse; Miss Dorothy Koch, Head of Intermediate Camp; and Miss Mildred Oakley, in charge of the Counselor Training Program.

College camp opened officially, Monday, September fourth, at which time a large incoming Freshman Class was welcomed. Miss Constance Applebee, internationally famous field hockey coach will return for this camp season. Added to the camp faculty is Mr. Alexander Houston, Director of Waterfront and Safety, American Red Cross, Boston.

School of Medicine

On Saturday evening, May 13, the School of Medicine alumni met at Hotel Statler, Georgian Room, for their annual meeting and dinner. Speakers were President Marsh, Dean Charles F. Branch, Dr. Howard M. Clute, professor of surgery, and Dr. Chester S. Keefee, professor of medicine and head of the Evans Research Laboratories. Mr. Neal O’Hara, humorist, columnist, entertained the audience. Dr. Clifton B. Leech, retiring president, presided. Dr. Frank E. Barton, secretary of the Association, was in charge of the reunion which had been held throughout the day at 80 East Concord Street.

At the annual meeting new officers were elected for 1943, and for the first time in the history of the Association a woman was named to the presidency. Dr. Eleanor B. Ferguson-Howard, M’20, Faculty, received this distinction. Other officers elected were vice-president, Dr. Leon W. Crockett, M’21; vice-president, Dr. Roger Burgoyne, M’22; secretary, Dr. Frank E. Barton, M’24; treasurer, Dr. Kenneth Christophe, M’28; auditor, Dr. Wesley T. Lee, M’98; directors for three years, Dr. Clifton R. Perkins, M’26, and Dr. Carl O. Nelson, M’29; directors for two years, Dr. Julius Gottlieb, M’24, and Dr. Burnham S. Walker, M’34; directors for one year, Dr. Milo C. Green, M’11, and Dr. Reginald S. Hunt, M’35.

In addition to the speakers at the head table, guests of honor included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brewer and Dr. and Mrs. Wesley T. Lee, representing the Board of Trustees.

PROFESSOR De HAAS ON “HOLLAND IN THE PACIFIC”

Professor J. Anton de Haas of Harvard University will speak on October 16 at 7:45 P. M. in Hayden Memorial auditorium, 685 Commonwealth Avenue, on “Holland in the Pacific.” Afterwards, a film will be shown of the Netherlands East Indies Island Nias, and the Bali dancers. The public is invited to the lecture and to visit the large exhibit which is to be held at Hayden Memorial from October 9 to 23 under the auspices of the Queen Wilhelmina Fund (The Netherlands Relief Society), Boston Chapter.
President Daniel L. Marsh and Dean Earl Marlatt have announced the appointment of Dr. L. Harold DeWolf as Professor of Systematic Theology in Boston University School of Theology. Dr. DeWolf is the son of the late Rev. Dr. Lotan R. DeWolf, a well-known minister of the Nebraska Conference, and a grandson of Ransome DeWolf, pioneer homesteader and local Methodist preacher. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Nebraska Wesleyan University; his Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree from Boston University, and his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Boston University. He is still a relatively young man, being only thirty-nine years of age. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi; of Pi Kappa Delta; the American Philosophical Association; American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the American Association of University Professors. He was Borden Parker Bowne Fellow in Philosophy in Boston University, and was once President of the Boston University Philosophical Club. He is an ordained minister of the Methodist Church, with thirteen years of experience as a pastor, five of which were as pastor of Central Congregational Church in Dracut, Massachusetts. Dr. DeWolf has been a member of the Faculty of Boston University for the past ten years, both in the department of Philosophy and in the School of Theology.

CHARLES W. BRASHARES, T'17

Professor DeWolf has written a number of articles for various publications, including eighteen articles for the Dictionary of Theology.

Dr. Albert C. Knudson, former Dean of the Boston University School of Theology, speaking of Professor DeWolf's broad and deep foundation for this Professorship, says, "Dr. DeWolf has a thorough mastery of theistic philosophy. He is in my opinion fundamentally qualified to expound and to ground the doctrines of the church in such a way as to meet the needs of the modern mind." Professor Edgar Sheffield Brightman strongly endorses the appointment of Dr. DeWolf, emphasizes his scholarship, his philosophy, his social vision, his personality, his pedagogical skill, his faculty cooperation, and then says: "I expect to see him become a great theologian, fully worthy of Boston University's best. I believe that you could not do better than to appoint him."

LEWIS A. HARTMAN, T'02

New Leaders in Church Service

Bostonia presents three church leaders who have this summer been named bishops, and one who has been appointed to the field of religious journalism. Lewis A. Hartman, T'02, L.H.D. (Hon.) '41, editor of Zion's Herald since 1920, was made bishop of the Boston Area. Charles W. Brashares, T'17, was elected to the episcopacy by the North Central Jurisdictional Conference, and assigned to residence in the Des Moines Area. Newell S. Booth, A'24, T'27, was elected a bishop for assignment to Africa. Dr. Booth has been in the missionary field since 1929. Mrs. Booth is the former Esma Myrtle Rideout, A'24.

Emory Stevens Bucke, T'38, on September 1 took over new duties as editor of Zion's Herald. He came to this post from the pastorate of the Hyde Park Methodist Church.
Annual Meeting of Bigelow Association Masters of Law

The annual meeting of the Bigelow Association was held on Saturday afternoon, June 24, at Dr. Bigelow’s home, 200 Brattle Street, Cambridge, upon the gracious invitation of Mrs. Melville Madison Bigelow. Invited guests included President Marsh, Honorable John Vincent Sullivan, L’10, successor to Mr. Justice John V. Spalding, and Professor Robert E. Moody, A’22.

After luncheon, Professor Moody, who has examined the correspondence between Dr. Bigelow and outstanding English legal historians, read an excellent paper on this subject. Professor Moody was made an honorary member of the Association.

The Bigelow Association Masters of Law of Boston University was founded in 1918 by "Masters" who had received the LL.M. degree under Melville Bigelow, LL.D.

School of Law

The School of Law offered a summer program from May 31, 1944, to September 2, 1944, for students who desired to complete their work in two calendar years. Twenty-three students were enrolled, ten of whom were first year students.

The registration for the fall semester which begins on Monday, September 25, 1944, looks more promising than it has in the past two years. There have been several discharged veterans who have returned to the School and more will return on September 25.

On September 11, 12, 13 Dean Hettrick represented the School in Chicago at a meeting of the Association of American Law Schools held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the American Bar Association. The entire meeting was devoted to a discussion of veteran problems which will confront law schools at the end of the war.

Francis I. McCanna, L’00, has been elected president of the Boston University Club of Rhode Island. Presiding Justice Jeremiah E. O’Connell, L’08, was appointed chairman of the Executive Committee.

Governor McGrath and Francis I. McCanna Entertain

A group of Boston University Law Alumni and friends were entertained by Governor and Mrs. J. Howard McGrath and Professor Francis I. McCanna at Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, on Monday, August 14. The group were the guests of Professor McCanna at a delightful luncheon at the Carlton Hotel. Later they were taken to the Governor’s summer home where they were entertained by Governor and Mrs. McGrath. By request the Boston University Movie was shown.

Those present were Governor McGrath, ’29, and Mrs. McGrath, Judge Jeremiah E. O’Connell, ’08, and Mrs. O’Connell, Judge Harry K. Stone, ’16, and Mrs. Stone, Professor Francis I. McCanna, ’00, and his daughter, Dean Elwood H. Hettrick, ’38, Dr. Judson Rea Butler, G’40, and Mrs. Butler, E’39, and Mr. and Mrs. David Patten.

Bigelow Association Masters of Law Met at the Bigelow Home

HARRY E. WARREN, B’25, L’29/30; JOHN E. HANNEGAN, L’30/34, Faculty; ROSCOE POUND, L.H.D. (Hon.) ’33; JOSEPH A. KLEIN, L’26; ELWOOD H. HETTRICK, L’38/40, Dean of Boston University Law School.
School of Education

The School of Education announces the following appointments to their faculty. Alumni, faculty members and students of the School welcome these newcomers most cordially.

Dr. Helen A. Murphy, E'39, G'40, E'43, has joined the faculty as an assistant professor. She was graduated from Framingham Teachers' College and taught in Natick for a number of years. In 1939 and 1940 Dr. Murphy was chief assistant in the Boston University Educational Clinic. Dr. Murphy received her Master of Arts and Doctor of Education degrees from Boston University. From 1940 until the present time, she was a member of the faculty of Rhode Island College of Education. During that time she was Associate Professor of Psychology and Dean of Freshmen Women. Dr. Murphy who is a member of The American Educational Research Association and The American Psychological Association has published material in the field of primary education in collaboration with Dean Donald D. Durrell and Dr. Helen Blair Sullivan also of the School of Education at Boston University. She is well known in educational circles in New England and brings a rich background to the University.

Miss Eleanor Bowen has joined the faculty as Assistant Professor of Nursing Education. Miss Bowen has held many responsible positions in the field of nursing education. She was graduated from Simmons College with the degree of Bachelor of Science and received the degree of Master of Education from Rochester University. She holds the diploma in nursing from the Newton Hospital and has done post-graduate work in the field of pediatric nursing at the Boston Floating Hospital. From 1923 to 1934, she was Supervisor at the Boston Floating Hospital, Day Deck, did private nursing, was Supervisor at the Boston Children's Hospital School of Nursing and Principal at the Lowell General Hospital School of Nursing. Since 1937 Miss Bowen has been instructor and Supervisor in Pediatric and communicable diseases nursing and Assistant to the Principal at the Strong Memorial Hospital, University of Rochester School of Nursing, and science instructor at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Before coming to Boston University she held the position of State Supervisor of Nursing Schools of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Miss Bowen is very well known and respected in her field.

Miss Elizabeth J. Hall becomes Instructor in Nursing Education and Coordinating Supervisor for the new program in the nursing of children which will be described in more detail in a later edition of Bostonia. Miss Hall brings to Boston University a rich background of training and experience in the field of Pediatric Nursing. She is a graduate of Simmons College and has received a diploma from the Boston Children's Hospital School of Nursing. She has resigned from the Massachusetts General Hospital School of Nursing where she has supervised and instructed in pediatric nursing since 1942 to come to Boston University. Before 1942 Miss Hall was staff nurse of the Boston Community Health Association and Supervisor of Pediatrics at the New England Hospital for Women and Children, Instructor in Pediatrics, Boston Floating Hospital, and Head Nurse at the Faulkner Hospital. While teaching at the School of Education, Miss Hall will reside and serve in part-time capacity on the staff of the Boston Children's Hospital.

School of Social Work

The School of Social Work anticipates a very good school year, with a larger enrollment than last year. The summer school was unusually large, with a registration of 39 students taking courses in the Intersession and 43 in the Summer Session. In addition, 19 students carried on field work during the summer.

Professor Leah Feder has resigned to return to practice and is now Case Consultant, Family Society of Allegheny County, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In place of Miss Feder to teach Case Work and Supervision, the School has been very fortunate to secure Miss Ruth Lloyd, who is well known in Boston as well as in many other cities where she has practiced and taught. Professor Lloyd comes to the school from the New York Medical Center, where she has been Director of the Social Service Department of the Neurological Institute. From 1935 to 1942 she was on the faculty of Simmons College School of Social Work, and at the same time was employed at the Massachusetts General Hospital by the Harvard Medical School Research Unit.

Another new faculty member is Miss Mary Darragh, who will teach Child Welfare and Case Work With Children. Miss Darragh was, for a number of years, at the Division of Child Guardianship of the Massachusetts Department of Public Welfare, and is now Supervisor at the Children's Friend Society of Boston.

New Alumni Appointments

Elma G. Bidwell, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Church Home Society, Boston
Rhoda M. Murray, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Children's Aid Association, Boston
Beatrice Schwartz, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Habit Clinic for Child Guidance, Inc., Boston
Beatrice S. Stone, M.S. in S.S., '43, Case Worker, Jewish Child Welfare Association, Boston
Mrs. Dorothy Pitkin, 1942-44, Case Worker, Social Service Department, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston
Rita Nolan, 1943-44, Case Worker, Home Service Department, American Red Cross, Lynn, Mass.
Irma M. Lindingquist, 1943-44, Case Worker, Home Service Department, American Red Cross, St. Louis, Mo.
Kathryn Bigham, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Rhode Island Children's Friend Society, Providence, R. I.
Carleton W. Brown, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Children's Village, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.
Robert A. Cotner, M.S. in S.S., '44, Director, Home Service Department, American Red Cross, Hartford, Conn.
Mrs. Mary A. Doherty, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Children's Center, New Haven, Conn.
Mrs. Elizabeth C. Kelley, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Family Welfare Society of Providence, Providence, R. I.
Mary F. Kutz, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Family Society of Seattle, Seattle, Washington
Mary E. Sukeyforth, M.S. in S.S., '44, Case Worker, Children's Service Association, Milwaukee, Wisconsin
Margaret Zimmer, M.S. in S.S., '41, Case Worker, Family Welfare Association, Minneapolis, Minn.
George C. Cheever, M.S. in S.S., '41, Civilian Relief Administrator, Foreign Service, American Red Cross

Graduate School

The war has had its effect on the progress of the Graduate School in several respects. Although the total enrollment has not decreased (an actual decrease of about 35% from the maximum in 1939-40) as much as would be expected in view of the average age of graduate students, there has been a decided increase in ratio of women to men. Graduate work in certain critical fields such as the physical sciences has almost ceased due to the urgent call of industry for scientifically trained personnel. There has been a heavy demand on the time of the faculty not only because of heavier teaching loads in some departments but also for research and special studies of interest to government and private agencies. Research contracts have been awarded the University for work in the field of Chemistry. There appears to be a growing interest on the part of industry to utilize the facilities and the staff of institutions of higher learning. This is a service which the Graduate School is in a position to offer.

Dean Howard M. LeSourd has been granted a leave of absence to accept positions as Director of the Institute for Democratic Education, Inc., and Director of The American Palestine Committee. He is located in New York City.

Dr. Chester M. Alter of the department of Chemistry has been appointed Acting Dean of the Graduate School for the year 1944-1945.

The University is cognizant of the responsibilities and opportunities of service which will come in the post-war period. There is every indication that the number of students desiring graduate work will be larger than ever before. The war has brought many tangible proofs of the advantages of specialized training built on a sound liberal education. To meet this need the University is expanding its facilities and increasing its staff.

To the Alumni of the Boston University Graduate School, both those who are in the Armed Forces and those who are at their civilian posts of duty, we send our greetings and best wishes for a year of significant service.

NEW ACTING DEAN OF THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Professor Chester M. Alter of the College of Liberal Arts recently became Acting Dean of the Boston University Graduate School by appointment of President Marsh, and so takes on the official duties of Dean Howard M. LeSourd to whom the University has given a year’s leave of absence to serve as chairman of the American Palestine Committee.

Professor Alter came to the department of Chemistry of the College of Liberal Arts in 1934 and has been Professor of Chemistry since 1942. Born in Indiana, he received the B.S. degree from Ball State Teachers’ College and the A.M. degree from the University of Indiana where he was Graselli Fellow. He did further graduate work in Chemistry and Geophysics at Harvard where he received the Ph.D degree in 1936. His special research has been in such fields as chromium plating, the atomic weights of nitrogen, potassium, indium, lead and radium G, the effect of alteration on lead uranium ratios of radio-active minerals, and the determination of the age of the earth, and on these subjects he has published numerous papers. He has also been active in the affairs of the Northeastern Section of the American Chemical Society, being at present Secretary of the organization. He is a member of Sigma Chi, Alpha Chi Sigma, and Phi Lambda Epsilon.

Professor Alter has been active in University administrative affairs since his appointment by President Marsh, shortly after the beginning of the War, to the chairmanship of the War Relations Committee with general supervision of all the war activities of the University. His energetic and efficient work in this capacity made his appointment to the Directorship of the University Army Specialized Training Program both natural and logical when that program was instituted at Boston University in June, 1943. With the conclusion of the A.S.T.P., Dr. Alter, as Director of the War Relations Office, organized the Reception Center for Returned Veterans, and assumed the direction of this important service for veterans resuming their education. Already a large number have received the benefit of the special services of the Center. Dr. Alter will continue his efficient direction of the Reception Center, while acting as Dean of the Graduate School.

—R.E.M.

Francis I. McCanna President of Rhode Island Club

PRESIDENT OF A.A.U.P.

Dr. Wayland F. Vaughan, Professor of Psychology in the College of Liberal Arts, has been elected President of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors. The retiring president is Professor Edward A. Post, Professor of English at the College of Business Administration.
Editor of Bostonia:

Fine reports on the War are coming to me regularly from Lt. Harold A. Thomas, B'41, of Boston. He has reported graphically on the North African campaign, the taking of Sicily, on the historic and scenic beauty of England, and on the grim and comic aspects of the Invasion of France. Excerpts from these last letters should prove interesting reading, especially to his many friends among teachers and alumni.

"The past two months (letter dated June 16) have been difficult. The preparation and the suspense coupled with the landing operations on the French coast, make a terrific drain on one. At last we are saying, 'Let's get this thing to hell over with', — ungrammatical but feeling. April and May were months of maneuvers and incarcerations. Drastic measures were taken to maintain secrecy. Prior to maneuvers and to the actual operations, camps were sealed. A presidential order (practically) was needed to leave camp even on official business. Maps and papers were stamped with mystic titles and marked 'Secret' and guarded as precious jewels. The actual operation was planned magnificently. Even sponge rubber relief maps, accurate in detail, were fashioned in America and sent to England for the briefing of the commands. Efficiency in preparations gave the troops a high morale.

"D-Day was exciting, dammably so. Plans didn't go exactly as hoped — but then, they seldom do. Attempts at landing our harge of vehicles were frustrated as enemy shells lobbed onto the beach, accurately seeking cargo and personnel vessels. Three times we attempted to land, and each time backed off as shells came lobbing about us. There are no foxholes on the ocean and a vessel that travels only 1 1/2 miles an hour is an easy target. I didn't get into the beach, land that is, till D plus one. An overnight air raid (I hate them) and a Teller mine on an underwater obstacle, which we missed by inches, contributed to my quota of grey hairs.

"The beach was ugly with its dead and wounded, and for miles inland enemy dead and enemy equipment lined the roads. It shocks me when I think of it now, but then it didn't bother me. One gets ice cold and stays that way until the crisis is over. It's the only way to keep going. Even the snipers that filled the fields and trees didn't bother me. I've been fortunate — either that or saved for more calamitous events. I don't know. Millay it was n'est-ce pas, who said, 'Life must go on, I forget just why'." An item from a later letter is striking. "I had to smile a bit last night. Shades of darkness had fallen and, after having had a cup of coffee and listening a while to Jerry's shells falling a little distance away, we retired to our room, which is located in the second story of a building (our refuge from the rain!). Through the window, as we lay in bed, we could see clusters of flares dropped by a Jerry night bomber. The shells were still whistling, falling a little closer. In the street there was a sudden characteristic brerrrrrrrr of a Jerry machine pistol. My roommate was obviously nervous. Said he, 'And we call ourselves civilized beings. Why in hell are we fighting — I'm not mad at anybody; and the mass of Germans can't be wanting to fight'. I smiled, — the war had to come mighty close to some people before they thought of doing anything to prevent it. A few minutes later shells started to land in the courtyard and odds and ends flew into the building. We were down stairs in nothing flat, hugging the cold concrete floors. I hope my roommate remembers what he said last night and that he's among those to be interested in preventing future wars".

I am finding the letters of such intelligent men as Hal Thomas the kind of data from which history should be made.

Sincerely yours,

GEORGE B. FRANKLIN
Professor of English, Emeritus

Mrs. George Retires

After seventeen years of all-University service as the first director of the Boston University Information Office, Mrs. George (Demetria Simmons, A'00) retired on July 1. She now hopes to be able to spend more time with her children: a son living near Chicago, Illinois, and a daughter, Mrs. Alden Speare (M. Elizabeth George, A'30, G'32), in Connecticut. Starting with a table, a chair, and copies of the College catalogues, Mrs. George organized her office on "The Marble" and built up an all-University reference library which enabled her to answer the questions, divers and sundry, which came to her from within and without the University. Mrs. John P. Marshall (Miriam Smith, A'16) succeeds Mrs. George as director of University Information.

Bostonia and the Paper Shortage

Bostonia, despite the war has continued to grow in circulation and size, — our subscribers have tripled in number, and the magazine has added an average of fourteen pages per issue. The editors are grateful that it has been possible to give this increased service to our alumni, particularly since so many copies go to our former students overseas.

But now the paper shortage has compelled curtailment at our level. We must use less paper than last year — at a time when we have to cover the largest number of Alumni Association members in our history. We have two possible methods: (1) to put out fewer issues of the magazine, or (2) to decrease the number of pages and to use lighter weight paper. Upon the advice of the Alumni Association officers and other alumni, a compromise has been decided upon; that is, to publish four full-sized issues this year (in October, December, March, and June), and to put out five limited versions, which shall include class notes, military lists, and news of only the most important happenings in the University and among the alumni.

There is one good feature about this change: it will make it possible for us to send certain issues of this wartime Bostonia to all those on our class lists, thus enabling us to keep some contact with the entire alumni-body.
Charles Frederick Collins

Many of you have known Charlie Collins, your new Alumni President, longer than I have, and I am sure that those of you who do know him, will agree with me that his election to that important but all too frequently thankless post was indeed a happy one, at least for our association.

His long tested, organizing ability, his well-known executive qualifications and his uncanny faculty for getting teamwork from any group with which he is associated augers well for the future of the Boston University Alumni Association under his administration.

Members of the alumni who are contemporary with him in the University will know intimately his fine record. In the past twenty years, it has been my good fortune to have been associated with him closely which is perhaps the reason that I, instead of one of many more competent and qualified, was selected to re-introduce him to the alumni as their new President.

By way of proving that he is a man of unusual ability and astuteness, let me say that he has long been an outstanding "catch" in the bright lexicon of any young woman, and yet he is fancy-free and unencumbered of any marital complications.

Perhaps the answer to that, if we may judge from his fine record of accomplishments, may be that he is indeed wedded to his work. He has given unstintingly of his time and energy in directing many of those organizations and affiliations which we all agree are highly important but to which few of us are unwilling to devote ourselves.

That is why I say that Boston University Alumni Association chose wisely and happily in selecting Charles F. Collins as its President. He is bound to leave the imprint of his organizing and executive ability on future progress and development of the association in its various activities and ramifications. We will all feel the driving power of his dynamic personality, and we will be on our toes in striving to meet his demands for teamwork in the interests of the association for which, you may feel certain, he will now feel personally responsible.

I have gathered some biographical data, which I am reserving for the end of this brief sketch. Such data, of course, give us more or less accurately a man's progress step by step, but they give little information of the personality of the subject, and that is what I am striving to do in my inept way. The biographical sketch by itself would give us a picture of a man with his nose constantly to the grindstone, with little time for friendship and the personal, social amenities.

That is not at all the picture of your new president. On the contrary, he is a fellow of real charm and warm personality with a decided capacity for friendships. Both in his business capacity and for pleasure he has travelled far and wide. As directing head of his fraternity, he visited more than one hundred college campuses from coast to coast and he has scores of friends in every state of the union.

When away from business, he is happiest at the Collins Cottage on the rocky coast of Maine — the ancestral home of his family for well over a century. You will find him there on many weekends in winter as well as in summer. He is an enthusiastic yachtsman probably due to the fact that so many of his forebears "went down to sea in ships."

His many contacts and broad understanding of the college world as well as his discriminating judgment eminently fit him for the job of directing the affairs of our alumni association.

Turning to the biographical notes, we find that Charles Frederick Collins was born in Boston, the son of James Parkman Collins and Annie Jones Meservey. He attended summer school at the University of Maine in 1911 and took his A.B. degree at Boston University in 1912. He received his M.B.A. degree at Harvard University in 1914. While at Boston University, as many of his classmates will recall, he was active in student affairs and was orator in the class of 1912. He attended the Officers' Training School at Plattsburg in 1916. In 1937 he received the C.I.U. designation from the American College of Life Underwriters.

Mr. Collins is now Agency Secretary of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company. He is nationally known in life insurance circles and is a member of the leading life underwriters' associations of the country. He is past president of the Harvard Business School alumni association and has held various offices including that of National President of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. He is at the present time Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Boston University chapter of that fraternity and alumni advisor of the Harvard chapter.

He is a member of the Harvard clubs of Boston and New York and is a member of the Sons of Colonial Wars. He is also a member of the many Masonic bodies including the Shrine. It is, of course, of interest to all that he was the Chairman of this year's successful Boston University Alumni Fund which to date has reached the all-time high of $36,006.28.

William S. Brown, B'22
President, Worcester North Savings Institution
Fitchburg, Massachusetts

Noted Bishop Dies

Dr. William Franklin Anderson
Ll.D. (Hon.) '30, Trustee and once acting president of Boston University

"WILLIAM FRANKLIN ANDERSON of Boston, distinguished preacher of the Word of God; bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church; friend of higher education, and during the year 1925 acting president of Boston University; author; brave leader of noble reforms."

Citation by President Marsh on the occasion of the awarding of an honorary degree.
Story of a Boston University alumna who is at present in charge of identification, license and routing, registered publications and comissary at Seattle's large Captain of-the-Port unit.

There's one Boston University alumna who probably comes near holding the Number 1 spot for variety of jobs performed as a member of the feminine side of the armed forces.

She's Ensign Gertrude A. Emerson, E'37, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, who received her Master's degree in education in 1938 and who for slightly more than sixteen months now has served with the SPARS of the United States Coast Guard. She began as an enlisted apprentice seaman and a "log" of her duties would include such items as:

- An 8,000-mile wintertime trip in an uncurtained jeep.
- A detail as coxswain of one of the first SPAR barracks in Washington, D. C.
- Service as barracks officer in charge of a "dormitory" of some 300 enlisted SPARS at Seattle, Washington.
- Her present assignment as a four-duty officer in charge of identification, license and routing, registered publications and comissary at Seattle's large Captain-of-the-Port unit.

And these are just the highlights of Ensign Emerson's sixteen months with the SPARS. There have been a lot of supplementary details, too. But the task of constantly adapting herself to the routine and the responsibilities of a new job in a new place has not proved irksome, Ensign Emerson maintains.

"I've liked every one," she says. "I've been completely satisfied in every one, but each job seems to get better than the last."

She admits, though, that the expedition in the jeep, was her favorite adventure in the way of official business. It took place several months after she first became a SPAR.

The daughter of Dr. George B. Emerson, A'17, Faculty, Cambridge, Miss Emerson received her Bachelor's degree from B. U. in 1937. After earning her Master's a year later, she served for some time as a director of religious education for Episcopal churches and taught religious education in public schools in Virginia and New York. Then came a spell in the personnel department of B. Altman Company in New York City.

It was in March, 1943, that she enlisted in the SPARS, the Women's Reserve of the Coast Guard, and went away to the feminine equivalent of a sailor "boot" camp at Hunter College. Her first active duty was in the Coast Guard Headquarters training division at Washington and this was followed by the coxswain detail in the SPAR barracks there.

"A SPAR coxswain," Miss Emerson explains, "is a combination policeman, house mother, mother confessor, older sister, dispute settler and regulation enforcer. Any sorority house mother who thinks she has problems should spend twenty-four hours trying to keep a couple hundred SPARS ready for inspection at any time."

The jeep trip began shortly after she was assigned to Public Relations duty in the Fourth Naval District (Philadelphia). She was a third class petty officer then, a specialist in public relations. Accompanied by a Coast Guard enlisted man she sped back and forth along the Jersey coast spreading the gospel of the SPARS and "converting" a goodly number of civilian women to the service. Later she covered more miles throughout Pennsylvania on the same mission.

"All of this took place during the wintertime when there were constant storms and also influenza epidemic," said Ensign Emerson. "We didn't have any curtains for the jeep and it was a cold, uncomfortable job. But I never caught cold — not even a snuffle — all that time. Then when I was transferred to more comfortable duty I caught the worst cold I've ever had..."

Biggest thrill of the jeep journeys was her stopovers at various isolated Coast Guard units along the Jersey coast.

"At most of these places the men had never seen a SPAR and they acted as if I were a woman from Mars," is the way Ensign Emerson describes her initial appearance at such stations. "I ate 'chow' with the men and went on tours of the station with them," she added, "so all in all I got a pretty good idea of what life in the Coast Guard is like."

She admits that she knew nothing about Public Relations work before her assignment to work out of the Fourth Naval District Office. But, as in her previous jobs, she picked up a quick working knowledge of her duties and the experience, she believes, is proving of considerable value to her now as an officer.

Much of her work in those days was with the Coast Guard Auxiliary — the organization of civilian boat owners who since Pearl Harbor has helped the regular Coast Guard in harbor patrol and a variety of other duties. And for these men who have given their own time and use of their boats without recompense, Ensign Emerson has the utmost in praise.

Commissioned in March, 1944, after having attended the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Connecticut, Ensign Emerson became barracks officer of the SPAR Hotel at Seattle. Recently she was assigned to duty at the Captain-of-the-Port unit there.

Her office is right on Seattle's teeming waterfront with transports and freighters from the Pacific combat areas practically poking their bows through the windows. Past the door flow by the thousands of sailors and sailors back from a thrust at the Japs or "shipping out" for more action. War equipment is piled on docks as far as the eye can see.

It's not much like a Boston classroom, but Ensign Emerson is distinctly a part of it all. Her duties even require that from time to time she climb up the gangplank and board some of the grimy, grey vessels whose last port of call probably was one of the Marshalls, the Gilberts or the Aleutians.

My First Mission

We had been overseas in England approximately three weeks, when the time had come for our first real test. Up to this day we had been trained in every phase of air-warfare. Experienced airmen had given us an idea of what to expect and with the knowledge obtained from our training courses, we were ready for the actual test.

Our Flying Fortress had been christened "Maggie" and this morning we had her dressed like a lady for her debut.

After a complete briefing of our target, every flyer knew practically all the information necessary for a successful mission. My position on the ship today was as left-waist gunner. Our complete crew of ten men, although a trifle nervous, were ready to go at the scheduled take-off time.

Our journey in was rather uneventful, except for a few anti-aircraft shells bursting around us. We were gradually approaching our target which was in the Ruhr Valley in Germany. Up ahead the navigator reported an anti-aircraft barrage and that our target was in the center of it. Our bomb-bay doors were opening and the bombardier was working over his sight. Three minutes later our bombs were away and on their way to the target. This was when our trouble began. Flak (anti-aircraft) was coming closer to us with every burst. The German gunners had our altitude perfect and their deflection was good. They first crippled our No. 4 engine and it was leaking oil steadily. Keeping my eye on the left side of the ship I saw one of their 88mm shells come through our left wing and explode about three feet above it. It came through about three inches from our main gas tank and jolted the ship to such an extent that four of our gunners were thrown off their positions.

No sooner had we left the 'flak' areas when we were met by German fighters. About ten of them were lined up ahead of us preparing for their attack. They came through our formation four times and finally knocked one of our ships down at the cost of three German fighters. No major damage was done to our ship as a result of this attack.

It was quite impossible to keep our ship at the briefed altitude on our journey homeward. Although we lost about 8000 feet our great pilot landed it safely at our home base.

The result of this mission can be summed up briefly. We had bombed our primary target with good results. Our ship "Maggie" had over 100 holes in it but had brought us all back safely. As for our crew, from pilot to tail-gunner, it was a great experience and every man performed his duties exceptionally well under the heaviest of the attack.

FRANK A. MERLINO, B'44

(Ed. Note: Staff Sergeant Frank A. Merlino, B'44, has but recently returned to duty following a leave spent at his home in East Boston. The mission described above was the first of those participated in by Sergeant Merlino which have led to his receiving the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Purple Heart with one Oak Leaf Cluster.)

Lt. John J. Molloy, B'42

Lt. John J. Molloy, B'42, is the new Public Relations Officer for his veteran infantry regiment in the American Division at Bougainville. Previous to his appointment to his new work, Lieutenant Molloy was a platoon leader. As a sideline job he is training his regiment's boxing team.

Reunion - A'13

On May 20 the Class of 1913, C.L.A., had an informal Reunion Luncheon at the DuBarry restaurant. After lunch, Dr. Brenton R. Lutz, Class President, called for reports from Secretary and Treasurer. The Secretary read greetings and letters from classmates who could not be present, including Ruth Bartlett, Dr. Frederick Knight, Mary O'B. Schindler, Eleanor Berg, Eva M. Brown, Marion T. Gooch, Marion H. Wolfson, Leah B. Cline, Marion Harlow, Harriet Whitaker, Elsie C. Wells, Mildred B. Smith, Lillian S. Lane, and Elizabeth Partridge, writing for herself, Nora B. Gilson, and Clara Macomber. We were especially glad to hear from several distant members whom we seldom see.

Each one present spoke briefly of her own activities and interests, and some were able to give us news of absent classmates. Dr. Lutz gave us a report from the College, speaking particularly of plans for Educational opportunities for returning veterans. Activities of the Friends of the Library were presented by Mildred Whittmore, and we were also told something of the work of the Perrin Memorial Committee. Louise A. Frye spoke of world cooperatives, in which she is actively interested, and introduced to us her song written for that movement.

After a pleasant afternoon together, we adjourned with the hope that a far larger number of 1913 may be able to assemble next year. Present on this occasion were Dr. and Mrs. Lutz, Katherine Hilliker, Hortense Harris, Harriet L. Stone, Lillian B. Rinks, Alice Gorman, Ruby T. Stevens, Lena C. Mason, Louise A. Frye, Irene Zahn, Ruth Hatch, Ruth Paul, Helen Porter, Mildred Metcalf, Mildred Woodsum, Clarette Rogers, Mildred Whittmore, Mary S. Garrity and Marjorie Bailey.

1913 Classmates! Please keep your secretary informed as to change of address, family news, activities, achievements, honors — any class news about yourself or other 1913 alumni. We'll put it on the record!

J. MARJORIE BAILEY,
Secretary
Sampling the Mail

(Concluded from Page One)

...soil before you at home realized that General Ike's boys had finally done it was Frankie Provinzano, E-42, who used to lead 'em all while at Boston University. We missed this last Commencement but it will be the last one we miss because come next year at Commencement time, we'll all be there...

Max Ross, B-42, PFC. Somewhere in France

LEO KIRSHNER FROM SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND

"Another one of B. U.'s far flung alumni heirloom forth from his end of the world. Dave Goldberg, B-39, is the only alumnus I've met in my two years in England of whom no mention has been made in BOSTONIA. Dave, who joined the Royal Canadian Air Force soon after graduation in 1939, is now a Squadron Leader of a distinguished Canadian Spitfire Fighter Squadron, and taking active part in the present front page news."

LT. COL. PAT HANLEY IN THE BATTLE OF SAIPAN

"A note of interest for Boston University alumni is the fact that Lt. Col. Pat Hanley, Faculty, of the 4th Marine Division participated in the battle of Saipan, and is still here in the best of health."

Roy E. Hjelm, E-42, Lieutenant Island of Saipan July.

IS SOLDIER VOTING OFFICER

"I'm the battalion soldier voting officer. The set-up the army has for the general election of this fall is excellent. Voting is encouraged, but the men are reminded that they don't have to vote if they don't care to. Posters are published, bulletins circulated, and even movie shorts shown. Any American lad overseas who wants to vote will be able to do it more easily than he has ever been able to before. I am curious to learn what percentage of our men vote."

Harold A. Thomas, B-41, Lieutenant France, August 20.

IS TRAINING GIRLS TO RELIEVE MEN FOR OVERSEAS

"Thought you should know that my rating is changed from Specialist (S) 3c to 2d class. I am training the girls who are relieving the boys for overseas, and these girls are really grand."

NOW A PERSONNEL SERGEANT

"After leaving CBA, I was sent for my basic training down in Arkansas at Camp Joseph T. Robinson. From there I attended Personnel school in Washington, D. C., and upon the completion of my course I was assigned duty at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, in the classification section. After eight months there I was sent to A.S.T.P. at CCNY to study Italian. Upon the break-up of A.S.T.P. I was sent to Pine Camp, New York, to train Italian war prisoners in the quartermaster corps of the newly formed Italian Service Units. When the period of training was completed at Pine Camp, my battalion was ordered here to the Norfolk Army Base for duty. My job here is that of personnel sergeant for the unit. The work is interesting and I find that this is one way of really learning a new language."

Joseph Vincent Bucci, B-43, Sgt. Norfolk, Virginia

ST AND CBA MEET!

Dr. George B. Franklin, Professor of English, Emeritus, has kindly sent us news of one of his former College of Business Administration students as follows:

"Morris Carver, B-37, has written brightly from the Naval Training School of Clarksville, Arkansas. In being chosen editor of the journal, Sparks from the Ozarks, he wrote, 'I must confess (without any modesty!) that my courses in English Literature are paying dividends, as you will see from the enclosed. I have marked for your interest and amusement (or shall I say amusement) some of my handwriting.' One of his marked articles is an account of the new chaplain, his arrival and stated plans. 'Coming aboard this week, Lt. John D. Lee, G-37, has been busy 'squirting away' before starting on his program here at the station. Chaplain Lee's home is in Atlanta, Georgia, but he is already 'at home' both North and South, for he studied several years in the School of Theology of Boston University in Boston, Massachusetts... We are glad to have you aboard, Chaplain Lee. We know that you will contribute immeasurably to our smooth sailing, and we wish you a happy voyage.'"

"Mr. Carver speaks personally: 'My stay here is now all the more pleasant since the delay in my education has permitted Mrs. Carver and Son to join me out here... My prime purpose in sending this paper is to 'show off', as you can see, and to let you know that one of your former students is really publishing.'"

"The way in which these older Boston University alumni take their training 'in stride', make a good-humored matter out of something actually uprooting and upsetting, might be regarded as a tribute to the kind of education they have had. It is certainly a compliment to the men themselves. All Boston University will applaud the spectacle of an S.T. and a C.B.A. man pulling ours together!"

HAS BEEN A LINK OPERATOR FOR OVER A YEAR

"Have been a Link Operator here at Pensacola, Florida, for over a year. Now the Navy has assigned me to the Chaplain's Office where my main duties are largely those of playing piano in the Station Dance orchestra and arranging music and such for the church services. Once a month I play in Pensacola for a vespers service... One other thing which might be of interest is my forthcoming marriage to Lt. Jack Lee, USMCR, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on October 18 at 7:00 P. M. in the Naval Air Station Chapel. Lieutenant Lee graduated from Carnegie Tech in 1939 where he was captain of the football team... Have had several of the former College of Music students for instruction in instrument training. We usually manage to meet in the San Carlos Hotel about once a month even if we are scattered all over the Center."

Ruth A. Bamberg. Music '44. Sp. (T) 2c NAAS Whiting Field Milton, Florida

HELD SERVICE OUT-OF-DOORS ON D-DAY

"Observed D-day with an outdoor service in the desert on maneuvers—used half-track for a pulpit. Due to heavy hail storm followed by rain this service was held twenty-four hours late."

Ernest W. Moyer, Chaplain, G-32 Fort Bliss, Texas

CALLED ON COLONEL GANOE

"Ran into Major Jim MacDonald (B-41, now Lt. Col. John G. MacDonald) a few months back in London. He is in the air corps and doing a grand job. Today I met Harvey Jackson who was at CBA for a year. Do you remember Colonel Ganoe who was the head of the military department until 1935? I called on him in his London office a few times. These mobile bakeries are quite a thing. I never had the slightest idea of being a baker before."

John B. Morse, B-40, Lieutenant
A WELCOME HAND TO BELL SYSTEM WAR VETERANS

Some day we shall have the pleasure of welcoming back to the Bell System the men and women who are now in the armed forces. They number more than 55,000. Some 3500 released from service are already back with us. We shall have a warm welcome for the rest as they join us again. Not only shall we be glad to see them personally but we shall be glad of their skill and energy for the big tasks which face the Bell System in the future.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM
Our Fighting Sons Are Doing It

PVT BERNARD WARSHAW

"BUNNY" WAS ONE OF THE BEST-LIKED FELLOWS IN THE CLASS OF '38, C.B.A. TERRIFIC HOCKEY PLAYER AND A "TUPPER" TO THE CORE! HE WANTS TO BE REMEMBERED TO THE OLD GANG WHO DID THEIR HOMEWORK IN THE BRUNSWICK MARIONETTE ROOM. GOOD LUCK, BUN! WE'RE ROOTING FOR YOU.

CPL. LF

REMEMBER ORGANIZED WAS AN OUTSTANDING GUY A QUIET SENSATION A B.U. SENSATION IS! WE'RE ROOTING FOR YOU, CPL. H! WE'LL BE AT THE REUNION.

These pages compiled by Marie G. Nazza.
Their Share PLUS!

V-MAIL

LESLIE BECKWITH

JIM WAS ONE OF THE FIRST B.U. ALUMNI FUND CONTRIBUTORS. HE'S HELPING TO MOP 'EM UP IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC. COME WHAT MAY, THE LIEUTENANT WILL KEEP SMILING. HE'S THAT KIND OF GUY... THE KIND WHO DESERVES OUR TRIBUTE. GOD BLESS YOU AND BRING YOU HOME SAFELY, SAILOR BOY!

LT. JAMES McELANEY

JIM WAS ONE OF THE FIRST B.U. ALUMNI FUND CONTRIBUTORS. HE'S HELPING TO MOP 'EM UP IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC. COME WHAT MAY, THE LIEUTENANT WILL KEEP SMILING. HE'S THAT KIND OF GUY... THE KIND WHO DESERVES OUR TRIBUTE. GOD BLESS YOU AND BRING YOU HOME SAFELY, SAILOR BOY!

azzaro, B'38, Class Representative
News of The Classes

Edited by Doris MacInnes

1884

To celebrate the completion of sixty years of service as physician in Franklin, Massachusetts, and his eighty-first birthday, a tea was given in honor of the former Mayor, CHARLES W. ADAMS, M.D., on June 4, at the home of his son in Franklin. Dr. James B. Woodman presented Dr. Adams with a silver pitcher suitably inscribed. Following is his citation: "Your associates, medical, business and otherwise, have been invited here to pay our friendly respects to you on the occasion of the completion of sixty years of medical practice. I might say the first sixty years. For these groups may I say that we have found your professional skill of a high order, your banking practices sound, and your friendship supernal and constant. To say that you are durable is an understatement. Indestructible might be a better term. Each time that a war has come up on us you have renewed your youth and done your part in taking up the slack on the home front. You have carried your full load not only professionally but you have found time to give of your energy, wisdom and money to many outside interests for the benefit of the community, notably the banks, the hospital, the Home for the Aged, and many others. You have served your city as Mayor and in various other capacities. Your life has been filled with good works and honors. There are no congressional medals nor silver stars given for service on the home front, for meritorious service, but it is our desire to decorate you with this silver pitcher as a token of our esteem and appreciation of your service. With it go our congratulations and best wishes and hope that from it you may continue to drink the full measure of health and happiness for many years to come."

1887

Dr. WILLIAM E. CHENERY, A.B., Sc.D. (Hon.), '38, observed his eightieth birthday by entertaining nearly two hundred friends at the Pops. Pictured in the Rotogravure Section of the Herald of July 2 are Dr. and Mrs. Chenery with a group of friends enjoying the concert.

THE FAMOUS CLASS

The class of 1887, College of Liberal Arts

The proper beginning for an account of C.L.A., 1887, is, I suppose, with the intellectual side. '87 pursued the classical course, at that time compulsory, with excursions into modern languages and sciences.

We were fortunate in our professors, all young men. First, the scholarly Professor Buck greeted each entering Greek class with a demand for the comparison of the very irregular adverb, pollikis. Usually there was no answer, but five of '87 previously coached by a sophomore from the same school held up their hands. Surprised, Professor Buck asked from what school we came. When we said, "Newton," he remarked, "Newton High always fits its pupils well."

There was the brilliant always kindly Professor Lindsay, later an Honorary Member of '87, who remarked, when one of the men more anxious for scansion than pronunciation read "de-cus me-am," "I really wouldn't." There were also dignified Professor Coit, an Honorary Member; Professor Bowne, one of the most distinguished philosophers of his day; Professor Dorchester, who tried hard to imbue in us his love of literary beauty; and "The Dear Dean," Dr. Huntington, an Honorary Member. To him we carried all our troubles, sure of a solution. He was intensely human. When one of the men in the Ethics class asked what he would do if he were held for ransom and asked for a pledge of secrecy, "Do, Mr. —, do; swear like a trooper."

Our sciences we took at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where we had Professors Cross, Hyatt, and Niles, a distinguished set of men.

There was another side to our connection with the professors. We had a song which consigned them to the lower regions with a chorus: "Bim, bum by — I smell him burning, Buck went down to dig Greek roots, Coit on a parallelepipedon, BUT — the Dean went up above where we heard him singing."

For four years we pursued our courses according to our ability and ambition with varying results, but there were always the brilliant half dozen way above us of whom we were very proud but never jealous. When June 1, 1887, came, in Tremont Temple 34 — 29 A.B.'s and 5 Ph.B.'s — received degrees. William Warren and Margaret Bradford were the C. L. A. speakers and we were very proud of them. We had all the attendant ceremonies, Baccalaureate, Class Day with the usual seriousness and fun, and finally the picnic.

On the other side of college life, '87 began at once to be different and do things in unusual ways. Although most of the men and women belonged to fraternities and sororities, '87 never had cliques. We were, to quote one of the professors, "A Happy Family." Many years later the wife of one of the men said, referring to a class reunion, "That was not a reunion, it was a family party."

We had our first class meeting and the secretary bought a record book, a huge affair, which is still in existence and contains the minutes of every meeting from the first to the last so far, May, 1944. At the request of the College, it will be put in care of the library. I doubt if there is another like it in any college.

Our motto was suggested by Bernhard Berenson, now the noted critic of modern art, and written by him in the book in German script, — Der Marmor Wartend. To this The Beacon added "just inside Mt. Auburn's gate." However, that stone is no longer blank but covered with lists of weddings (23), deaths (24), births of children (28), of grandchildren (28), honors, successes and other facts.

We also have a color, peacock blue, and in 1937 our history was bound in that color. Again, like previous classes, we did a little bragging and called ourselves The Famous Class.

In our Freshman year we gave an entire Philomathean program, "Scenes from Dickens." Arthur Wilde wrote the music and George Richardson the libretto for "Hamlet, A Musical Absurdity." Arthur Wilde was composer, pianist and choir master, while George Richardson played the hero and directed the production, which played two nights. The manuscript is now in the C. L. A. Library.

Arthur Wilde and Will Chenery published "The Index," a complete list of the University organizations and personnel.

We gave shows for Gamma Delta and Philomathean: "Bluebeard and His Wives," Sheridan's "Rivals," "Henry Esmond," "A Carnival of Authors," "A Dream of Fair Women," "What are the Wild Waves Saying," and a burlesque lecture on "Prohibition," when Professor Dorchester unexpectedly to himself was the "Bleated Wretch," and many others.

In our Senior year we revived the Gamma Delta Klatesch Collegium and gave a reception to the senior classes of the other departments.

'87 also took part in all the College socials. At one in our sophomore year I, a member of the committee, was escorted by a freshman member of the committee. There was an unwritten law that no freshman should wear a tall hat or carry a cane. When my escort arrived, he had both. No sophomore man would touch him while he was with a sophomore girl, but unfortunately for him I lived in Newton and he on the Back Bay. He rode out to Trinity Place. There the sophomore men were waiting, and all the '87 girls wore bits of the cane tied with crepe on the next Monday.

'87 also had an annual picnic at Riverside, a custom we kept up for many years.

After graduation we went our different but never separate ways. At the picnic June 2, 1887, we formed "The Association of the Class of 1887" and elected a permanent secretary who was to send to each member each October a list of addresses with any items of importance of interest. That list is still sent each year. The secretary elected at that meeting died the following October. I was elected in her place and two years later the office of treasurer was added. I served from 1887-1937 and in that time my accounts were never audited. Miss Teele took up the duties and is carrying on '87 traditions.

The class has met once a year in June and until within a few years also on December. On our 27th anniversary we donated the frames, suitably marked, for the portraits of President Warren and President Huntington. On our 50th we published a history of the class which contains beside the general matter the accounts of the lives since graduation of members, written by themselves or by some relative for those who have died.

Perhaps this would be a good place for some statistics. In the fifty-seven years '87 has acquired 23 higher degrees, has 7 members of Phi Beta Kappa, 6 names in "Who's Who in America" and 1 Jacob Sleeper Fellow. To sum up the various occupations, there are 3 lawyers, 3 doctors, 3 ministers, 3 college deans, 2 missionaries, 1 college president, 4 professors, 13 teachers of whom 7 were heads of departments in high schools, parents, editors, writers of books, editorial and papers in connection with our professions. These add up to more than thirty-four but some held several different positions during the years, sometimes three or four at the same time.

We have traveled over many parts of the world, one having been around the world three times. We have also studied in many schools and colleges in pursuit of more knowledge.

'87 has given gifts of many books to the C. L. A. Library, through the generosity of Dr. Chenery, who gave more than the rest of us, given large sums to the 50th and 60th year funds and the annual Alumni Fund. It is impossible to give details of the lives of all the members, but some of the outstanding ones may be mentioned.

First are our two Deans, William M. Warren and Arthur H. Wilde. It is a great source of pride to the class that they are members.

Dean Warren, Ph.D. (B.U.) O'BK, studied at the Universities of Tuebingen, Jena and Berlin. In 1892 he was appointed Assistant Professor of Philosophy at C. L. A. He also taught other subjects. From 1904 to 1936 he was Dean of the College of Liberal Arts. For seventeen years Dr. Warren wrote daily editorials for the Boston Herald. He also edited the daily reports of the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention. He has many avocations. Perhaps New England antiques, painting and horticulture will show the wide range.

Dean Wilde, S.T.B. (B.U.), A.M. and Ph.D. (Harv.), O'BK, taught nineteen years at Northwestern University, was president of the University of Arizona and came to Boston University in 1914. He was Dean of the School of Education from 1918-1935. His avocations were music and gardening.

Portraits of both Deans were given to their respective departments by the Alumni.

Of our doctors Sarah Belcher (Mrs. E. R. Hardy), A.M. (N.Y. Univ.), M.D. (Woman's Med. Coll. of N. Y.), LL.B. (N.Y. Univ.), studied three years in Germany and Paris. She was an Intern in the N. Y. Infirmary, Bacteriologist at Seton Hospital (N. Y. City). Her best known work in America was in milk for the Rockefeller Institute, Board of Health of N. Y. and N. Y. County Medical Society; in Germany research in cytology.

William E. Chenery, M.D. (Harv.), Sc.D. (B.U.), O'BK, studied in Germany and post-graduate courses at Harvard. He became a specialist in diseases of the nose, throat and ear. He was assistant at the Boston City and Massachusetts General Hospitals, on the staff of the Boston Dispensary, Carney, St. Elizabeth's, Deaconess and Baptist Hospitals, professor of Laryngology at Tufts Medical School. He also established the Nose, Throat and Ear Department of the Forsythe Dental Infirmary. He has been a trustee of Boston University for twenty years, and he with Mrs. Chenery gave Boston University the home for the president.

Sarah M. Hobson, M.D. (B.U.), was speaker for the Medical School at the 1890 Commencement. She practiced medicine in Chicago thirty-nine years, with twelve years of part-time medical editorial work. For a list of her many honors, positions and writings it is necessary to consult "Who's Who" and the '87 history. They are too many to list here.

Will Brigham, L.L.B. (B.U.), was our first member to marry and to have a son. He was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature, for many years serving as Chairman of the Committee on Cities, a member of the committee to revise the public statutes, legal advisor to the State Industrial Accident Board, and one of the committee to draw up the first city charter of Marlboro. In that city there is a park named in memory of his youngest son, Lieut. William M. Brigham, Jr., who was cited by General Edwards and was killed in the second battle of the Marne in World War I.

Mabel Clarke (Mrs. E. R. Smith), A.M. (Univ. of N. C.), O'BK, Acting Dean of Women, Univ. of Tenn., studied at University of Cincinnati, Columbia and N. Y. Universities. She wrote for the Chautauquan and Near East Relief and was the author of "A Tar Heel Bar on," "Studies in Dickens," "The Spirit of French Letters," "Twenty Centuries of Paris," "A Life of Napoleon" and others. During World War I she served in the U. S. Secret Service. She was a member of Pen and Brush and The Poetry Society of America.

Julia Cole (Mrs. E. A. Yarnall) was first of all a wife and mother. However, she found time to serve as an officer of the Board of Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers, of the Parent-Teachers Association of Philadelphia. She also was in frequent through her appeal to Governor Sproule in having the mill children of Swarthmore admitted to the public schools. She was a member of State Health and Morals Commission and established the farm plan for the prisoners of Delaware County. In 1932 she was appointed to the board of the Pennhurst State School. Her oldest son, Russell, served in World War I in a French Mortar Battery, was wounded at Lunéville and received the Croix de Guerre.

Elizabeth Hanscom, A.M. (B.U.), Ph.D. (Yale), ΩBK, had a Fellowship of the American Association of University Women. From 1894-1932 she was at Smith College in the English Department, becoming full Professor. She wrote among other books "The Friendly Craft," "The Heart of the Puritan," and with Helen F. Greene, "Sophia Smith and the Beginnings of Smith College."

Charles Meserve was a teacher from 1887 until his death in 1921. He was principal of the high schools at Hyannis and Leominster, and Head of the Mathematics Department at the Newton High School from 1897. He served on the College Entrance Board for Mathematics. During World War I he taught Mathematics at Harvard in the afternoons and in the summer vacations supervised boys working on farms. The Meserve Scholarship at the Newton High School was established by his pupils.

The rest of us have been faithful citizens, living our lives to the best of our ability with good results.

There are living Dr. Chenery, Miss Clark, Mrs. Yarnall, Miss Hanscom, Dr. Hobson, Miss Rogers, Mrs. Mason, Miss Teele, Dr. Warren and myself, of whom all but one are retired. Miss Clark is still writing proof for the Journal of the American Chemical Society.

We are all very proud of our membership in 1887 and are still very sure we are The Famous Class.

MARY J. WELLINGTON, Secretary of '87 for fifty years

1888

Mrs. George Albert Palmer (ANNA MARY CHIPMAN, M.D.), died in Brookline on February 11. Dr. Palmer had been very active in cancer control work, and in 1939 she was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal of the American Society for the Control of Cancer. This medal is given to very few people and represents recognition of an outstanding contribution to the cause of cancer control.

1889

The Alumni Office is indebted to Mr. Luther Freeman for notice of the death of ELIZABETH M. FESSENDEN, Ph.B., who passed away in San Diego, California, on May 15. Miss Fessenden died in a hospital from pneumonia. The body was cremated and the ashes sent to Mt. Auburn for burial.

BURTON A. PEASE, LL.B., graduate of Colby College in 1882, is that institution's oldest living alumnus. Also the only surviving member of his class of '89, he is still actively practicing law in New Hampshire.

1890

Rev. FRANK L. BROOKS, Theology, called "A Builder of Churches", died January 2 at the home of a nephew in Portland, Maine. In 1887 he was transferred to the New England Southern Conference where he worked for nearly fifty-seven years. He was interested in church construction and was the architect and master builder of several houses of worship. He is survived by his widow.

SAML. EDGAR WHITAKER, A.B., died in New York at St. Luke's on August 10. Mrs. John L. Deering (Mary Hinckley, A'M0) has written the following tribute:

"As a classmate of Edgar Whitaker I want to add something to the more formal obituary that otherwise might go into Bostonia, for, with his passing, one of the most faithful alumni of the early days has gone. For many years he was secretary of our class, but I was only after graduation for twenty-five years, and did not realize how much he was doing to keep up the spirit de corps. He has never wavered in his devotion to the class and to the University. At our fiftieth reunion no one was more enthusiastic than he; no one added more to the general joy of the occasion than he.

"He has been successful in his career, first as an engineer after graduation from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1893, and later as a certified public account, specializing in auditing and income tax. He had the added advantage of three years of residence abroad which widened his horizon.

"He married a Boston University girl, Edith Wilder, A'92, and for the last twenty-four years they have lived in Bronxville, New York. He was justly proud of their two sons, Howard Edwards Whitaker of Chiliicoto, Ohio, and St. Lawrence, and Wilder, now stationed at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland.

"Born into a minister's family, (Rev. N. Y. Whitaker was formerly a member of the New England Methodist Conference.) Edgar carried out the religious tradition of the family, and died as he had lived, upright, faithful, and honored."

1891

EDWIN A. BAYLEY, LL.B., for more than fifty years a lawyer in Boston, died on June 13 in Cambridge. Mr. Bayley was born in Jamaica Plain; he lived in Lexington for more than thirty years and represented the Lexington-Arlington district in the State Legislature; about eighteen years ago he moved to Beverly. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and of Delta Kappa Epsilon. Surviving are his wife and a daughter.

FIFTIETH REUNION OF A'94

A victory garden, D-day, and some unexpected chores have combined to delay a report on our reunion luncheon, on May 20. Briefly, it was a great success. Twenty-four members of the class sat down at the table — wives and a son made the number thirty-one. Considering that twenty-three of the original sixty-two have passed on, the representation of the class was very gratifying.

Frank Kimball acted as Toastmaster. He called on each in turn to give the highlights of fifty-year experiences. This was very interesting. E. Ray Speare (Dr. Speare in educational circles) gave the story of Boston University's growth in the past fifty years. He is doing an outstanding job as Treasurer of Boston University.

We were pleased to give President Marsh $1424.50 as our gift to the University. There were thirty-two contributions to the fund.

Practically all who were at the luncheon attended the dinner given by Dr. and Mrs. Marsh — a great occasion. Many attended the Baccalaureate, Commencement and "Pops".

Those present at the luncheon were: Professor William G. Aurelio, Mary A. Batchelder, M. Elma Dame, Alvah E. Draper and son, Ralph L. Draper, Martha L. Eveleth, Bertha C. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Hatch, Caira D. Hawkes, Caroline G. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Kimball, Mrs. Benjamin C. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Miller, Mrs. Daisy Raymond Nightingale, Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Parkhurst, Dr. Lida S. Penfield, Etta L. Rabardy, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Rogers, George O. Smith, Dr. E. Ray Speare, Mrs. Bertha Hill Stone, Mrs. Percy C. Sturdivant, George A. Sweetser, L. Frances Tucker, and Isabelle D. White.

WILLIAM F. ROGERS, Chairman
1895

JOHN P. KANE, LL.B., who had served the city of Lawrence as mayor for four terms, died June 16 after a short illness. He was a native of Lawrence and had held numerous public offices in that city. His widow and two sons survive.

1896

Judge HARRY C. FABYAN, LL.B., associate justice of Brighton District Court died at his home in Brighton on August 15. Judge Fabyan was born in Portland, Maine, and was graduated from Bowdoin College. He was president of the Brighton Five Cent Savings Bank, member of the Massachusetts Bar Association, and a member of Selective Service Board, No. 37 in Brighton. Funeral services were held at the Brighton Congregational Church, and burial was in Portland, Maine.

1897

JOHN S. LYNCH, LL.B., died March 4 in St. Peters Hospital, Olympia, Washington. He was born in Sterling, Massachusetts, and after graduation from Law School practiced in Boston for eleven years before moving to Seattle. In 1911 he went to Olympia to live and became city attorney from 1926 to 1930, and police judge from 1934 to 1941. He was a member of St. Michael's Church and had held numerous public offices in that city. His widow and four sons survive.

1898

Rev. T. C. RADOSLAVOFF, Theology, died June 3 at his home in East Rochester, New Hampshire, following an attack of angina pectoris. He was born in Bulgaria, and came to this country at the age of nineteen. He began his undergraduate work at Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas. He was a native of Lawrence and had held numerous public offices in that city. His widow and four sons survive.

1900

ARTHUR BERENSON, LL.B., who had practiced law in Boston for forty years, died August 12 in New York City. He was an outstanding member of the Massachusetts Bar Association and tried many cases involving huge corporations. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, a son, two sisters, and five brothers.

1901

FRED M. ESTES, Theology, of Melrose, has been appointed pastor of the Dorrr Memorial Church, Lynnhurst. Dr. Estes recently completed fifty years of service in the ministry. He retired from the regular work of the New England Methodist Conference eleven years ago, but has returned to serve again.

THADDEUS GRAVES, S.B., died on April 2 of coronary thrombosis.

Rev. VINCENT RAVI-BOOTH, S.T.B., D.D. (Hon.) '42, has been resigned as pastor of the Old First Church of Bennington, Vermont, where he has served for more than twenty-four years. His most notable accomplishment has been the founding of Bennington College for Women. He plans to come to Boston to live.

Dr. LOUIS C. WRIGHT, S.T.B., Ph.D. '17, president of Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, delivered the sermon on Mother's Day at the Maple Street Methodist Church, Lynn. On the same day he baptized his granddaughter, Deborah, whose father, the Rev. Donald G. Wright, is pastor of the church. Dr. Wright, active in the leadership of the Methodist Church for many years, is a thirty-third degree Mason and grand prelate of the State Lodge of Ohio.

1902

Governor Leverett Saltonstall has appointed S. HAROLD DONNELL, LL.B., executive counselor to succeed the late William M. McSweeney. Attorney Donnell is the former mayor of Peabody and former district attorney of Essex County.

After having been Art Editor of the Boston Post for sixteen years this coming October, ALICE M. LAWTON, A.B., is now acting as Religious Editor and Radio Editor as well.

1907

JOHN M. BOYD, J.B., Former Faculty, died July 15. He was a retired insurance company executive; a native of St. Stephen, N. B., Canada. From 1909-1914 he was an instructor in Law at the Boston University School of Law, and was secretary of the faculty there from 1904-1914. He held membership in Masque and Gauntlet, Theta Delta Chi, Phi Beta Kappa, and the Masonic Order.

His wife, a son, and a daughter survive him.

GEORGE R. FARNUM, LL.B., LL.M. '08, former assistant U. S. Attorney for Massachusetts, is at present professor of law at Suffolk University. In 1934 and 1935 he was special counsel for the Boston finance commission.

Zion's Herald reports the recent death of Rev. EDWARD HISLOP, S.T.B., following a heart attack. He has been pastor of the Oakland Methodist Church in Topeka, Kansas, since 1942. He was born in Steubenville, Ohio, and took his undergraduate work at Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas. After his graduation from Boston University, he served two pastorates in the New Hampshire Conference before he returned to the West. He had served churches in Kansas and Missouri; had been district superintendent in Nebraska and Missouri, and had been president of the Methodist University of Oklahoma. His widow survives him.

1908

Mrs. Henry H. Jackson (CARRIE BEMIS, A.B.), wife of Vice-President Jackson of the National Life Insurance Company, died on July 28 at her home in Barre, Vermont. She had been in ill health for three years. Besides her husband, there survive three children, a granddaughter, and a sister.

Mrs. Edgar H. Corliss (FLORENCE EDITH BROWNE, A.B.), died in the Circus Fire at Hartford, Connecticut, July 6. Identification was made on July 9 by her daughter, Mrs. Stewart E. Pomeroy, 119 Clarke Street, Syracuse, New York.

After an illness of eight months, WALTER FOSTER, LL.B., died at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital August 2. He began to practice law in Boston immediately after his graduation from Law School, and had been assistant corporation counsel of this city. He was a civic leader, serving at the time of his death as a member of a local draft board. He was a charter member of the Eastern New England Congress for Equal Opportunities, and the Boston Council of the National Negro Congress. His interest in Negro history was profound. As a lifelong Republican, he was a member of the national committee of Negro voters to elect Presidents Coolidge and Hoover. He never married.

1909

Dr. OSWALD H. BLACKWOOD, A.B., Professor of Physics, University of Pittsburgh, received the honorary Doctor of Science degree from Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio, on June 4.

1910

Rev. BENJAMIN GEORGE SEA-BEYER, Theology, died at Vassalboro,
Maine, on August 7. Mr. Seaboyer's home was in Melrose. He was a retired Methodist minister, and chaplain at Soldier Home, Chelsea. Funeral services were held from his former church in Wilmington.

The appointment of JOHN V. SULLIVAN, LL.B., of Middleboro, to the superior court was confirmed recently.

1911
FANNIE E. BICKLEY, Sargent, B.S. in Ed., recently began her duties as director of the Neighborhood Guild at Peace Dale, Rhode Island. Appointed last March, she finally definitely accepted the position.

Rev. JONATHAN CARTMILL, Theology, and Mrs. Cartmill are making their permanent home in Lynn. Mr. Cartmill is serving the Wesley Church in South Boston.

1913
J. PAUL FOSTER, A.B., convention bureau manager of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, died July 7 at his home in South Weymouth after a brief illness. Mr. Foster was well known locally for his work in organizing and carrying on the Men's Bible Class of Quincy. It was estimated that more than 100,000 persons from the South Shore have attended his classes in the last seventeen years. He leaves his wife, a son, a daughter, three sisters, and two brothers.

Mrs. Sidney L. Wolfson (MARION HARDY, A.B.), has been secretary of the Meriden, Connecticut, College Club for the past two years. Her daughter Alice, after graduating from Centenary Junior College, took a summer course at N.Y.U. in Radio Work Shop, and has now started working as control room operator at Radio Station WCAM in Camden, New Jersey.

1914
ELIZABETH WALKER GERRISH, College and Extension, died at Lewiston, Maine, on May 18. Miss Gerrish was a graduate of Bates College, and had taught at Augusta and Lewiston before joining the faculty of Memorial High in Boston in 1926, where she served until her retirement in 1938.

WILFRED HINCKLEY, JR., A.B., a patient at the U.S. Veterans Hospital, Bedford, says, "I am doing about the same things that took up my time in college; educational classes, correspondence courses in Gregg Shorthand (17 lessons accepted), glee club, writing for THE OVAL MIRROR, dances each week, chapel, typing for the office. There is also constructive work in the dining room. My fellow veterans are most enjoyable."

THIRTIETH REUNION OF A'14
After a delicious luncheon at the Hotel Kenmore, on Saturday, May 20, the class was called to order by the president, Bessie Ring. Eighteen of us sat around the table: fifteen 14'ers, our honorary classmate Professor Waxman and his charming wife, and one class daughter, now a B. U. medical student. After brief routine business, letters were read from absent members, and personal news given by those present.

Mrs. Waxman all too briefly spoke of her contributions to the world of art and then Professor Waxman took us back over the years to our college faculty and brought us news of each.

Since Bessie Ring, having served us long and faithfully through the years, desired to resign, a new president, Emily Burdon, was elected, to whom as Chairman of our thirtieth reunion, we expressed our thanks and welcomed to her new office. Lloyd Marks was appointed Class Agent.

With no formality our meeting closed as we gathered in small groups for just a word before the reunion became another date in our class history.

Those present were: Professor and Mrs. Waxman, Lloyd Marks, Edith Crosby McClure, Emily Burdon, Bessie Ring, Alice Hawley Woodhull, Ruth Hazeltine White, Emily Hinkle Ricker, Ruth Felton Marble, Hazel Ruggles, Muriel Staples, Allena Luce, Elsie Putney Erickson, Margaret Osgood Warren, Marion Collyer Bamforth and daughter, and Claire Bowman.

1915
JOHN TAYLOR ALTON, S.T.B., has been appointed district superintendent of the Columbus, Ohio, District, of the Methodist Church Conference. This will be the third district in which he has served as superintendent.

Six months after the death of her husband, William Lincoln Palmer, Theology '90, Mrs. Palmer (MARIAN W. BRACKETT), College of Liberal Arts, passed away on June 28 in Boston.

Dr. HAZELTON SPENCER, A.B., died of a heart attack on July 28 in Manistee, Michigan. After taking his doctor of philosophy degree in 1923, he taught English at the University of Minnesota and State College of Washington, and from 1928 until his death, at Johns Hopkins University. He was the author of several books on William Shakespeare. He is survived by his mother, his wife, four children, and four sisters. He was a native of Methuen.

(More details of his life will appear in the next issue of Bostonia.)

1917
CHARLES W. BRASHARES, S.T.B., has been-elected a bishop of the Methodist Church. His election took place at a meeting of the North Central Jurisdictional Conference in Minneapolis. He was pastor of the First Methodist Church of Ann Arbor, Michigan, for ten years before elevation to his post as bishop.

RALPH P. NEWTON, Law, passed away on January 26.
RALPH L. POWER, B.B.A., M.B.A. '20, has returned to his Los Angeles radio consulting office. Dr. Power was in the South Seas when World War II broke out and was elected a companion of the Australian Institution of Radion Engineers, one of less than a dozen Americans so honored. He was at one time co-director with Dr. Lee de Forest of the Los Angeles chapter of the American Institute of Radio Engineers.

1918
Captain WILLIAM W. EDEI, Ch.C., S.T.B., is Senior Chaplain at the Naval Training Center, Sampson, New York. During the Lenten Season of 1944 he was one of the preachers at the Syracuse Civic Lenten Service, and on June 18, he was the College preacher at Cornell University. He was recently awarded the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by Keuka College.

ELEANOR B. FERGUSON-HOWARD, S.B., M.D. '20, has been elected president of the Medical School Alumni Association, and is the first woman in nearly seventy years to be so honored. Mrs. Howard and her husband, Louis, form a teaching team at the School of Medicine.

M. STEPHEN JAMES, S.T.B., will preside over the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America during the year 1945. Mr. James, a former pastor of the First Methodist Church, Pittsfield, Pennsylvania, is professor of practical theology at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, New Jersey.

1919
Mrs. Richard Smith (HELEN MARGORIE COLES, Liberal Arts), is now an Sons and Daughters of Boston University Alumni

CLASS OF 1963

Top Row: Janice Dale, daughter of MAJOR RICHARD LYNCH, B'37; Nancy Lee, daughter of MYRON B. THOMAS, Min'39; Christine Ruth, daughter of STEWART BAILEY, B'36 and BERTHA ELMSBROM BAILEY, A'36.

Middle Row: Clifford Whittier, son of CLIFFORD SUNDBERG, B'31 and DOROTHY WHITNER SUNDBERG, B'41; David Barlow, son of SHIRLEY BARLOW HARRIS, P'40; Charles Thompson son of RUTH THOMPSON HANCEY, A'39, grandson of GEORGIA THOMPSON HANCEY, A'09.

Bottom Row: David James, son of JOHN C. HARVEY, T'43; Carolyn Joyce, daughter of MERLE FERGUSON MATHER, Min'35; Nancy Jane, daughter of JOHN B. OLDS, T'41; William Edward, Jr., son of WILLIAM E. KENSTETTER, T'39.

Page Thirty-Nine
inspector in the Glen Martin Airplane factory in Baltimore Maryland.

ARTHUR J. CRATTY, LL.B., of Waterville, Maine, has been nominated as recorder of the Municipal Court, Waterville, for a four-year term. He has been practicing law in his home city since 1920 and has served three years as city clerk and one year as purchasing agent.

1920

MARY DEANE, Sargent, is teaching at the New Platz, New York, State Normal School.

1921

ALEXANDER H. KEMP, M.D., S.T.B., has written from the Angola Mission of the Methodist Church in Africa. "We are already eighteen months overdue our furlough and in pretty bad need of a year a bit farther than nine degrees from the equator. Being a doctor, D.S., head of a big mission station, and a few other things at the same time bleaches a fellow out after a while. However, our furlough has been granted, if and when. If we get home next spring we will be able to attend the graduation of our oldest daughter from Allegheny College, my old school, and the following year our second daughter's graduation from Swarthmore College, to say nothing about my wife's twenty-fifth Reunion at Wellesley, in addition to my own in both Theological and Medical Schools. And our eldest daughter may invite us to her wedding that year also. Is it any wonder we want to get home by that time?"

1922

HANNAH L. GOLDBERG, LL.B., formerly of Brookline and now of New York, recently spoke at a public meeting at the Jewish Community Center, Pittsfield, Massachusetts. Miss Goldberg reviewed the book "As a Driven Leaf" by Milton Steinberg. A practicing attorney, Miss Goldberg is vice-president of the senior Hadassah, New England region, in charge of American affairs.

BESSIE A. HOLLIDAY, B.R.E., for twenty years a missionary in North China, spoke in several churches in Portland, Maine, from the ninth of June to the seventeenth. She returned to the United States last December on the Gripsholm.

Mrs. Samuel Ash, the former TILLIE LEVENSON, LL.B., is now the president of the Jewish Vocational Aid Society, an organization primarily interested in helping returning servicemen get training for entering the business world. Her daughter, Virginia, is attending Boston University.

JOSEPH MACHIN, College of Liberal Arts, died on May 22. His home was at West Bridgewater.

1923

HARRIET CLARK, B.S. in Ed., received a Master's degree in English at New York University in 1942. Since graduating from Boston University she has taken a Trade School course and has also worked in a Machine Shop. Produce from her large garden, has helped feed twenty-two people.

Recently elected President of the Social Workers Club, Fall River, was Mrs. Francis J. Connors (HELEN CORRIGAN, B.S. in Ed., A.M. '25), who has been secretary-treasurer of the Bristol County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., since 1939.

On July 23, WALTER M. ESPOVICH, LL.B., was the subject of the column "Who's Who in Haverhill" of the Haverhill Record. Mr. Es povich, attorney-at-law and counsel for the Haverhill Shoe Manufacturers Board of Trade, is married to the former Helen Halpern and has two children. His professional affiliations include membership in the Boston Bar Association, the Essex County Bar Association and the Haverhill Bar Association.

Dr. JOELLE C. HIEBERT, M.D., died June 8 of acute heart disease at the Central Maine General Hospital, Lewiston, Maine, where he had been superintendent since 1931. After his graduation from the Boston University School of Medicine, he became an instructor in the School and resident physician and superintendent of the Medical Mission Dispensary, Hull Street, Boston, until 1931. Survivors include his widow and three sons, his mother, and three brothers, one of whom, J. Mark, graduated from Boston University School of Medicine in 1932.

1924

NEWELL S. BOOTH, A.B., S.T.B. '27, S.T.M. '30, recently appointed Bishop, is in charge of Methodist missionary work in Africa, south of the Equator, where he has been a missionary since 1930.

The Baptist Church of Wales, Massachusetts, has given FREDERICK R. BRUCE, A.B., leave of absence to serve as an Army Chaplain. Mr. Bruce is now training at the Chaplain School, Harvard University. Mrs. Bruce and three children will continue to live in Staffordville.

Rev. JOSEPH M. HARRELL, S.T.B., A.M. '27, gave the baccalaureate sermon at McKendree College, Lebanon, Illinois, on May 21. On the following day, May 22, at the 116th annual commencement, he was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of divinity.

Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE, S.T.B., A.M., was honored by many friends on May 9 with a testimonial dinner given in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City. Lowell Thomas was toastmaster at the dinner and among the speakers was Mr. J. L. Warner of Warner Brothers, with whom Dr. Peale worked in the production of the motion picture, "One Foot in Heaven." Dr. Peale has served as minister of the historic Marble Collegiate Church in New York for twelve years.

1925

Rev. H. DANIEL HAWVER, S.T.B., pastor of the Methodist Church at Newton Center, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Ohio Northern University at the May Commencement. Mr. Hawver graduated from Ohio Northern in 1922.

CHARLOTTE W. HAZLEWOOD, A.M., died on August 4 at Bangor, Maine. Funeral services were held on the 7th at the Pine Grove Cemetery chapel in Lynn. She was the author of several poems; spoke seven languages, and taught four of them. She had held teaching positions in this state, in Maine, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, and Puerto Rico.

Captain ROBERT BARRINGTON HEALY, Law, assistant marine superintendent of the Army Transport Co., Brooklyn, New York, died June 5 at Marine Hospital, Staten Island, New York. His home was in Brooklyn. Captain Healy was graduated from the B.M.C. Durfee High School, Fall River, and attended St. John's Preparatory School before coming to Boston University. He was said to have showed expert seamanship on many occasions. He figured in one of the most daring rescues ever made at sea when he handled a lifeboat from steamer Swifts court to save the crew of the sinking schooner, Iram D. McLean. Besides his mother he leaves his wife and a son and a daughter, a brother, several nieces, and a nephew.

S. EMILY SEREX, S.B., formerly a member of the staff of Middlebury College Library, has resigned to accept the position of cataloger in the Elmwood Public Library in Providence, Rhode Island.
It was recently announced that JAMES E. AGNEW, LL.B., has been appointed an assistant United States Attorney and assigned as aide to U. S. Attorney Edmund J. Brandon in the prosecution of war frauds.

L. HAROLD DeWOLF, S.T.B., Ph.D. '35, has been named professor of systematic theology in the School of Theology. LILLIAN WEBBER, Sargent, is assisting Dr. Clement Lynch of Malden as a Physiotherapist. Her home is at 349 Pleasant Street, Malden.

AGNES E. BARRY, B.S. in Ed., Ed. M. '27, who is retiring this year from service in the Boston schools, was honored at a testimonial banquet on May 25 at the Hotel Sheraton. Three hundred fellow educators and friends paid her tribute and presented her with a purse. Miss Barry has served in the Boston schools since 1905.

Mrs. Una Brown of New London, New Hampshire, has announced the marriage of her daughter, MARION D. BROWN, A.M., to Bradford W. Newcomb of Cords Street, Wakefield. The wedding took place on June 23 in Wadley, Alabama. Formerly dean of women at Southern Union College, Alabama, Mrs. Newcomb will now live in Watertown with her husband, who is master of Thomkins Cottage at the Perkins Institute for the Blind.

ETHEL CALDWELL, A.B., A.M. '19, is a member of the faculty of the Windham High School, Willimantic, Connecticut, and during the past summer she served on the faculty of the Summer School for Girls, St. Johnsbury Academy, Vermont.

J. Francis Loftus, LL.B., died May 13 in the Providence hospital, where he had been seriously ill for three or four days. Mr. Loftus opened law offices in 1927 in Holyoke and practiced for several years. In the fall of 1928 he entered politics in Holyoke when he became a candidate for alderman; later he became president of the board. He was named assistant city solicitor in 1936. Recently he had been connected with the personnel department of the Westinghouse Electric Company. He leaves his wife, a member of the WAC detachment No. 1, at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, and two sisters.

Dr. STUART K. HARRIS, B.B.A., S.B. '10, A.M. '32, assistant professor of biology at the College of Liberal Arts, spent the summer on a Harvard and government sponsored biology expedition along the Alaskan Highway between Whitehorse and Fairbanks. Professor Harris, honorary curator of botany for the New England Museum, is a member of the advisory board on botany for the Mt. Washington Observatory.

Dr. EGBERT McLEOD, S.T.B., A.M. '30, and Mrs. McLeod were recent visitors to Boston with their son, Gerald. Dr. McLeod is president of Wiley College, Marshall, Texas.

LAURENCE N. RAYMOND, Business Administration, manager of the Brockton area of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company for more than two years, has been transferred to the Springfield area.

Genevieve Trybulski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Trybulski of Westminster, Vermont, became the bride of SARKIS TATARIAN, LL.B., of Providence, Rhode Island, on Monday, June 26, in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York. They will make their home in Providence, where Mr. Tatarian has a law practice.

BEATRICE M. Pooler and Judge FRANCIS H. BATE, late, were married May 29 at the home of the bride in Winthrop, Maine. Mrs. Bate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Pooler and studied law in the office of her husband before she was married. Judge and Mrs. Bate are living on Central Street, Winthrop, Maine.

Funeral services for EVELYN CROW, Sargent, head of the physiotherapy department of the marine hospital at Mobile, Alabama, were held at the Crosby Memorial on Beacon Street on August 1, with a requiem mass at St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Jamaica Plain. She is survived by her parents and a sister.

Dr. LESTER D. WATSON, M.D., assistant surgeon of the U. S. Public Service, stationed on Long Island, New York, died in the Public Health Service hospital in Brooklyn, New York, on June 14, after a short illness. After his graduation from the School of Medicine, Dr. Watson served two years' internship at Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals and practiced medicine in Milton from 1930 until 1943, when he went to New York. He leaves his wife, two sons and a sister.

In a simple wedding in Taunton, August 26, ELIZABETH SHEEHAN, B.S. in Ed., became the bride of Patrick H. Lyons. Mrs. Sheehan is librarian of the Taunton High School, while Mr. Sheehan is director of the Taunton Vocational School and the National Defense School.

RUTH WATERHOUSE, B.S. in Ed., A.M. '32, assistant librarian at Swampscott for eight years, became the bride of Louis Sales Wood in Waltham, on Wednesday, June 28. Mr. and Mrs. Wood are planning on living in Swampscott.

LENA LORD, B.S. in Ed., A.M. '32, teacher at the Parlin Junior High School, has been elected president of the School of Education Alumni Association.

LINIFORD A. MARQUART, A.M., is registrar at Olivet Nazarene College, Kankakee, Illinois, and also head of the History Department.

JOHN F. McGrath, College of Business Administration, Evening, principal emeritus of the Mary E. Currier School, Jamaica Plain, and for twenty-five years principal of the Eliot and Michelangelo Schools in the North End, died at his home in Jamaica Plain on July 15.

OWEN D. THOMPSON, B.R.E., S.T.B. '41, has accepted the pastorate of the two Baptist churches at Northwood, New Hampshire.

Dr. DAWN NELSON WALLACE, Ed.M., former faculty member of Keene Teacher's College, has resigned her position as acting president and dean of Nason College, Springfield, Maine, to assume director-ownership of Miss Far...
NELLIE M. WAGAR, B.S. in R.E., has resigned as faculty member and director of field work of the Baptist Missionary Training School, Chicago, to become Director of the Jones Memorial Community Center in Chicago Heights. She received her A.M. from Columbia, 1935, and is a candidate for her Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

1931

EUGENE J. NICGORSKI, M.D., now connected with the Boston clinic of the Traveller's Insurance Company, is also surgical examiner of the Traveller's Insurance Company, with office in Lynn and covering the North Shore District. He is living in Salem with his mother.

1932

A new girls' club for girls of junior high school age, sponsored by the Girls Service League, Inc., was opened in September in the Women's clubhouse with GANDOLFA LIMA, Sargent, of Boston, as the director. Miss Lima has had wide experience in community centers, dealing with persons from three to seventy-three years of age. She is a member of the Junior League of the Women's Italian Club of Boston, Boston Sargent Club, Boston Teachers' Physical Education Association and the Breakfast Club for Servicemen.

1933

JOSEPH C. BARRY, M.D., is practicing medicine in Manchester, Connecticut, having opened an office on Main Street recently. From 1935 to 1936 he was the first clinical director of the Out-Patient department of the Hartford Municipal Hospital and helped organize and supervise the numerous clinics which treated the people on relief in Hartford. In 1942 he became plant physician for the United Aircraft Company.

The engagement of their daughter, Ruth Martha Ostrov, to Captain ALFRED COPELAND, U.S.A., Evening College of Commerce, of Brookline, is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ostrov of Elyria, Ohio. Captain Cope- land attended the Tank Destroyer School at Camp Hood, Texas.

HERBERT J. SEMINO, B.S. in Ed., has accepted the position of teacher-football coach at Abington High School. After graduating from Boston University he was athletic director and coach at the Shirley School for boys for two years, municipal coach of football, basketball and track, as well as teacher for three years at Leicester High School, and for the past two years he has been supervisor of health and physical education in the Dedham Schools.

On May 15 THeron THOMPSON, Ed.M., assumed his new duties as superintendent of the Pittsfield-Wolfseboro (New Hampshire) Supervisory Union No. 49, comprising the towns of Pittsfield, Wolfseboro, New Durham, Alton, Barnstead and Tuftonboro. For the past three and one-half years he has been assistant superintendent of schools in Keene, New Hampshire.

1934

Rose Lightman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Lightman of Pittsfield, was married at home, July 2, to JASON BITENSKY, B.S. in B.A., also of Pittsfield. The Bitenskys will live on Pomeroy Avenue, Pittsfield. Mr. Bitensky was honorably discharged from the Army in January after ten months of service.

MADELINE COONEY, B.S. in Ed., Sargent, on leave from her position in the Plymouth, Pennsylvania, schools, went with the A.R.C. as a Recreational Director at Biloxi, Mississippi, where she met and married Lieutenant Scott. Her address is A.R.C. Station Hospital, Keesler Field, Mississippi.

The marriage of ETHEL CECILIA DOHERTY, Practical Arts and Letters, to Duane V. Anderson, B.M. 1/c, U.S.N., on May 27 at Cathedral Madelaine, Salt Lake City, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. John Doherty of South Boston.

The Honorable Frank Murray, Corporation Counsel, has named JOHN H. LOUDEN, LL.B., senior trial attorney. Also assistant corporation counsel of the City of Boston, Mr. Louden will specialize in trials involving personal injuries and property damages resulting from automobile accidents, highway defects and water damage.

MARIETTA PICOT, B.S. in Ed., Sargent, is teaching at Belleville, New York. She received her Master's Degree last summer at Columbia University.

Gertrude Agnes Croak and ARTHUR HENRY SHEEDY, LL.B., were married July 15 in Worcester. Mrs. Sheedy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Croak of Worcester. Mr. Sheedy and his wife are planning on living on Pleasant Street, Worcester. He is an attorney and at present is an assistant clerk of Worcester County Superior Court.

On June 24, the Immaculate Conception Church, Malden, was the scene of the wedding of HELEN MARIE SPIERS, A.B., to JOHN JOSEPH NOLAN, A.M., of Worcester. Mrs. Nolan is the daughter of Thomas H. Spiers of Medford. Having been a teacher for a few years, Mr. Nolan is now associated with Dun & Bradstreet.

1935

FLORENCE BELL, A.B., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Edgar Bell of Marblehead, was married to Frank N. Manconi, in the Star of the Sea Chapel, Marblehead. Mrs. Manconi conducts the Florence Bell School of Dancing. Mr. Manconi is proprietor of a beauty salon. They intend to make their home in Marblehead.

HELEN M. DAUNCEY, B.S. in Ed., of New York City, who is a staff member of the National Recreational Association and director of leadership training, will soon go into the southern states for three months to engage in leadership training.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Berry Mather (MERLE FERGUSON, Mus.B.), announce the birth of Carolyn Joyce, born April 20 in Lexington. Their home is in Middletown, Connecticut.
As director of religious education. A member of the National Council for Jewish Education, he has also written a number of monographs on Jewish education.

GENEVIEVE ROSE GILLIS, A.B., will teach this fall in the upper grades of the Consolidated School, Ashfield. Her subjects will be social sciences.

ELEANOR D. HOOD, Mus.B., has been a war worker running a drill press on the night shift for the Ford Instrument Company, for the past two years, in Long Island City, New York. Since she felt she was not doing enough for the war effort she resigned, and now Miss Hood is a staff assistant for the Red Cross doing Recreational work overseas. She sends her best wishes to all her friends.

Dr. WALTER ALBERT JESSUP, L.H. D. (Hon.), president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York and of Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, was found dead in his apartment in New York on July 5. Dr. Jessup had come to the city that morning from his summer home to attend a meeting. He complained of not feeling well, and when he failed to appear at the meeting, investigation was made. Dr. Jessup served as head of two philanthropic agencies whose resources amounted to millions of dollars. He was a native of Richmond, Indiana, and had been superintendent of schools in Westfield, Indiana, and in Madison in that state; dean of the School of Education at Indiana and dean of the College of Education of the State University of Iowa. He held doctor's degrees from Columbia University of Wisconsin, Northwestern University, University of Pittsburgh, Hamilton College, Iowa State, and Boston University. Surviving are his wife and two sons.

Wesley P. Holbrook and Mrs. Holbrook (BETTY JONES, B.S. in P.A.L.) are the parents of a son, David Price, born August 1.

Rabbi HARRY LEVI, D.D. (Hon.) died July 13. He was widely known in Jewish and non-Jewish circles. For twenty-eight years he was rabbi of Temple Israel, largest reform temple in the United States. In 1939 ill health forced his retirement. He numbered among his thousands of friends followers of all creeds and denominations. With leaders of other faiths he worked for civic reform and against juvenile delinquency. He leaves his widow and two sons.

RODNEY F. MAY, Mus.B., supervisor of Music in Natick for five years, has accepted the position of director of Music for the public schools of Brockton. A native of Fitchburg, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. May. Mr. May is a Director on the Board of the Alumni Association.

KENNETH SETTON, A.B., former faculty member at the College of Liberal Arts in the Classical Languages Department, is now on the faculty of the University of Ottawa, Canada.

1937

DORIC ALVIANI, Mus.B., Ed.M. '41, head of the music department at Massachusetts State College, was recently appointed organist at Faith Congregational Church, Springfield. He is now organist and director of music at the First Congregational Church, Amherst, and is widely known as a musician throughout that section. He is a representative of the College of Music on the Board of the Alumni Association.

SIDNEY EIGNER, M.D., Lynn physician, son of Mrs. Celia Eigner and Anna, to Lieutenant WILLIAM Alexander G. Gould of Brookline on active duty with the Navy in October. Mrs. Eigner has been practicing for three years. They will live at 16 Newhall Street, Lynn.

Mrs. Lynch (MARGARET INDLEKOFER, B.S. in Phy.Ed.) has accepted a position to teach in Orleans, Massachusetts, while her husband is in the service. She has two children.

Announced by her mother, Mrs. Alexander G. Gould of Brookline, is the marriage of Arlene G. Gould to HAROLD KAITZ, B.S. in A.A., LL.B. '39, of Dorchester. Mr. Kaitz is a member of the Massachusetts Bar Association.

John Leib of Medford has announced the marriage, July 5, of his daughter, Anna, to Lieutenant WILLIAM THOMAS LYNCH, U.S.A., B.S. in Ed., Ed.M. '38, of Boston. Mrs. Lynch is a graduate of the Massachusetts School of Art and a former faculty member of the Hobbs Junior High School, Malden. Lieutenant Lynch is stationed at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin.

Gowned in white marquisette, CLAIRE OLSEN, Practical Arts and Letters, became the bride of ARTHUR P. MAHER, Education, '40, on July 16 in St. Mark's church, Dorchester. The young couple will live in Dorchester, where Mr. Maher is a teacher in the Patrick T. Campbell School.

RAYMOND S. PROUDFOOT, S.T.B., pastor of the Methodist Church in Petersburgh, New Hampshire, for the past six years, has moved to Haverhill, Massachusetts, to become the new pastor of the Grace Methodist Church. Mr. Proudfoot is now studying for his Ph.D. degree.

Professor and Mrs. Edwin M. Robinson of West Roxbury, Massachusetts, have announced the marriage of their daughter, HELEN ELIZABETH ROBINSON, B.S. in P.A.L., to Clarence Owen Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton E. Richardson of Harrisville, New Hampshire, on Saturday July 8, at Sacramento, California. Formerly a teacher in Warner, New Hampshire, she is now teaching in Petersburgh, New Hampshire. Before enlisting in the Army Air Corps, Mr. Richardson was a student at Amherst College, where he was a member of the Glee Club and the Debate Team. He has been stationed in France and is now stationed in Italy.

ELEANOR M. ROGERS, Education, is director of the Punch and Judy kindergarten, Harris Avenue, Woosocket, Rhode Island.

St. Mary's Church, Winchester, was the scene of the wedding of MARGARET SHAUGHNESSEY, B.S. in C.Ed., to Dr. Robert J. Fahey, son of Mrs. John H. Fahey of Marlboro, in June. This past summer Dr. and Mrs. Fahey lived in Nahant, while Dr. Fahey interned at the Boston City Hospital; he expects to go into practice in the Navy in October.

In the Memorial Chapel of the Franklin Street Church, Manchester, New Hampshire, RACHEL D. SLAYTON, B.S. in R.E., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Slayton of Contoocook, New Hampshire, became the bride on August 5 of RICHARD ARTHUR WOLFF, A.M., S.T.B. '38, assistant minister in the First Congregational Church, Wakefield. The young couple are making their home in Wakefield.

On June 6, 1944, the degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon CAROLYN STANNIS, B.S. in Ed., by Columbia University.

1937

Major DICK LYNCH, B.S. in B.A., and Mrs. Lynch, of South Pasadena, California, are the parents of a daughter, Janice Dale, who was born May 19.

1938

DONALD BISSINGER, S.T.B., has been with his outfit through the action in the Tunisian and Italian campaigns.

Formal announcement of the engagement of Lieutenant (j.g.) Eileen A. Ospenson of the WAVES of Bloomfield, New Jersey, to Lieutenant OSCAR J. CAHOON, U.S.N.R., LL.B., of Woonsocket, Rhode Island, was made by Mrs. James A. Ospenson at a luncheon at the Board of Education. Lieutenant Canoon has recently returned from two years' duty overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maurer of Mansfield have announced the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Marie, and LODOVICO CETTOMAI, S.B., also of Mansfield. Mr. Cettomai is now doing experimental work with Whiting & David in Plainville. No date has been set for the wedding.

A fall wedding is being planned by Cornelia Van Matre Weeks and Captain ROBERT BILLINGS CHADWICK, U.S.A., B.S. in B.A., of Wollaston. Miss Weeks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Noble Weeks of North Scituate.

St. Anthony's Church, Lynn, was the scene July 24 of the wedding of JEANette D. COPPOLA, S.B., to Pfc. William Martucci, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Martucci of Boston. Mr. Martucci is stationed with the Army Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey. After graduating from the University, Mrs. Martucci continued her education, preparing for a teaching career and is now a Junior High School teacher at the Paul Revere School, Lynn.

Dr. HARVEY WARREN COX, L.H.D. Hon.), died on July 27 at Emory University Hospital. He was chancellor of Emory University, and had been its first president after it became a university, having served in this capacity for twenty-two years. He was a member of the General Board of Education of The Methodist Church, and at the time of his death was chairman of its finance committee.

EDWARD P. CRAY, Ensign, U.S.N.R., B.B.A., stationed in Miami, Florida, has been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant (j.g.).

ERNESTINE MARY GOOD, Liberal Arts, former assistant in Keene Public Library, Keene, New Hampshire, was married June 29 in Charlestown to Corporal Donald Belshaw Sands, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sands of Middlebury, Connecticut. Mrs. Sands is, at present, assistant to the librarian at the Jones Memorial Library in Amherst, Massachusetts, while her husband is stationed with a signal battalion in Mississippi.

Kathleen O'Mara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. O'Mara of Springfield, and Captain FRANCIS W. GREEN, U.S.A., B.S. in B.A., were married June 12 in Our Lady of the Sacred Heart Church, Springfield. Mrs. Green has been a technician at the Ludlow Hospital. Captain and Mrs. Green will live in Springfield.

Miss ELIZABETH M. HALL, B.S. in P.A.L., A.M. '39, was buried from her home in Dorchester on June 10. After her graduation she taught for three years at the Stoughton High School and for the past two years at Burdett College.

Hillside Universalist Church, Medford Hillside, was the scene of the recent wedding of Angela M. Faga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Faga of Arlington, to LLOYD CURTIS HERRING, JR., B.S.
COMEY, A.B., and her baby are living in Reading with her mother and sister.

Mrs. Charles F. Maddox of Brookline announced the engagement of her daughter, Lt. (j.g.) EDNA MAE MADDOX, U.S.N.R. (W), B.S. in J., to Lieutenant Robert Ferrera, U.S.N.R., of New Canaan, Connecticut, the son of Mrs. Felix Ferrera. Lieutenant Ferrera is a former instructor and director of athletics at St. Basil's Preparatory School, Stamford, Connecticut.

ARTHUR L. MANSURE, A.M., S.T.B. '39, has been transferred from the Detroit Conference to the New Hampshire Conference and has been appointed to Peterborough and West Rindge.

Phyllis Mary Jack and CORNELIUS FOX McAULIFFE, B.S. in B.A., were married July 2 in Melrose. Mrs. McAuliffe, the daughter of James Jack of Melrose, is a graduate of a Vermont Teachers' College. Mr. McAuliffe is in the customer relations department of the Malden Gas and Electric Company. The young couple are living in Malden.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Small have announced the marriage of their daughter, RUTH DAVIS SMALL, B.S. in Ed., to Winfield A. Lane, a member of the Lane Brothers Firm, Boston. Mrs. Lane, a native of Livermore Falls, Maine, has been a teacher in Wellesley for the past several years.

Recently appointed manager of the newly-established United Press Bureau in Portland, Maine, is the former night manager of the United Press Bureau, Boston, HARRY VAN DERNOOT, B.S. in J. Mr. VanDernoot is the son of E. L. VanDernoot of Chelsea.

1939

Ethelbert Churchill and Mrs. Churchill (MARY E. BRADFORD, A.B.), are the parents of a son, David Bradford, born May 22.

ELIZABETH BRANCH, B.S. in Ed., was married August 18 in Boothbay Harbor, Maine, to Chief Boatswain Mate Anthony Ferrante, U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. Mrs. Ferrante has been supervisor of art in public schools in Coventry, Union, Bolton and Andover, Connecticut.

Mrs. S. Raynor Smith, Jr. (PHYLLIS COMEY, A.B.), and her baby are living in Reading with her mother and sister while her husband, S. RAYNOR SMITH, S.T.B. '42, is studying at the school for Chaplains at Harvard University.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Cunningham of Auburndale have announced the marriage of their daughter, MARY J. CUNNINGHAM, A.B., to Lieutenant William E. Hogan, U.S.A.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Hogan of West Newton. Mrs. Hogan is a teacher of Latin and French at the John W. Weeks Junior High School, Newton.

CONSTANCE DAY, Music, of Mson, recently elected supervisor of music in the schools of Dover-Foxcroft for the ensuing year, has had a number of years of successful classroom teaching experience in Maine, New Hampshire, and Connecticut, and has served as music supervisor in Livermore Falls and Greenville, Maine. At present she is organist and choir director of the United Church in Monson.

ROSEMARY DOHERTY, B.S. in P.A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Doherty of West Quincy, who was married May 31 to Lieutenant Arthur P. Sullivan, U.S.A.M.C., is now living in Abilene, Kansas, with her husband, who is stationed at Camp Philip, Salinas, Kansas. Mrs. Sullivan was formerly on the staff of the Weymouth High School.

The wedding of Ensign Winnifred Packard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Packard of Goshen and Master Sergeant JOHN W. ELDRAECHER, JR., EDUCATION, of West Roxbury, took place Saturday, July 1, at St. Paul's chapel in Chicago, Illinois. The bride, a navy nurse for two years, has been stationed at Quonset Point, Rhode Island, and Seattle, Washington. Sergeant Eldrachcr is now stationed at Gardner General Hospital in Chicago.

Lt. (j.g.) NOYES D. FARMER, JR., U.S.N.R., COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION, was killed in action in the South Pacific. A graduate of Tufts College, Lieutenant Farmer studied at Harvard and Boston University and was a student at the divinity school of Gordon College when he obtained a leave of absence from his church in Goffstown to enter the service in August, 1942. After his training at Harvard, he served in the North African area, and was transferred to the Pacific area about six months ago. His wife received notification from the War Department on July 29.

Dr. CHARLES E. FORLINES, D.D., died July 31 at Westminster, Maryland. In 1936 he became president of Westminster Theological Seminary. He resigned a year ago and since that time had been professor of systematic theology at the Seminary.

The engagement of Gloria C. Costigan to First Lieutenant LOUIS E. HANNA, U.S.A.M.C., S.B., son of Mr. H. Elias Hanna of Central Falls, Rhode Island, has been announced by Captain and Mrs. Arthur T. Costigan of Broadway. Lieutenant Hanna is a graduate of the Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, and served his internship at the Homeopathic Hospital, Providence. At present he is stationed at Camp Campbell, Kentucky. Miss Costigan is a member of the U. S. Cadet Nurses' Corps and is a junior at the Homeopathic School of Nursing.

In St. John's Church, Canton, Corinne E. Hallett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hallett, became the bride of EDWARD PHILIP LAFFIE, B.S. in B.A., of West Newton, on June 24. The young couple plan to live in Dover, New Hampshire, where Mr. Laffie is Supervisor of Materials and Production Control at the Dover plant of Sylvana Electric Products, Inc.

Ensign Priscilla Lenihan, U.S.N.R., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lenihan of Nutley, New Jersey, was married on May 16 to Lieutenant (j.g.) RICHARD FRANCIS LAWLER, U.S.N.R., B.S. in B.A., of Hyde Park, Massachusetts. Lieutenant Lawler has returned from two years' duty in the South Pacific.

Page Forty-Five
eduation, schools in September. A member of the Grange, he enjoys outdoor activities and sports.

On July 20 a daughter was born to Seaman 2d class Wallace G. Dunham and Mrs. Dunham (PHYLLIS YOUNG, B.S. in Phy.Ed.), at the Baptist Hospital,
Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Seaman
Dunham is stationed at Camp Peary, Virginia.

A son, William Edward, Jr., was born
April 18 to Chaplain WILLIAM ED-WARD KERSTETTER, S.T.B., Ph.D.
'43, and Mrs. Kerstetter of Sharon.

MILTON D. THOMAS, Music, and Mrs. Thomas, of Middleboro, are the parents of a daughter, Nancy Lee, born March 1. Mr. Thomas is Supervisor of Instructor of Music in Randolph.

Charles Thompson Hanchett, age seven months, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hanchett, Jr., (RUTH W. THOMP-SON, S.B.), and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hanchett (GEORGIA
F. THOMPSON, A.B.'09).

A son, Morton P. BARENBOIM, B.S. in J., and Mrs. Barenboim are announcing the birth of a son, John Bennett, born July 25.

Captain ROBERT O. BLAIR, LL.B., is "still sweating it out as assistant Inspector General, 93rd Division, somewhere in the South-west Pacific."

The parents of ANNE CARROLL, B.S. in Phy.Ed., have announced her marriage on April 29 to Lieutenant Harold L. Browne, at Fort Thomas, Kenney.

ROLAND A. CORMIER, Law, recently admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, has been sworn in before the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts. Mr.
Cormier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cormier of Marlboro, Massachusetts.
He has acted as special assistant to the U. S.
Attorney General, attorney with the Department of Justice, and is now tax expert with the law firm of Ely, Bradford,
Thompson and Brown, in Boston.

From MARION FISHER, B.S. in R.E.,
"My first two years after graduation were spent in Norwood, Massachusetts, in connection with the family business, and they were very uneventful years.
My third year out I spent in Buffalo,
Wyoming, as supply and assistant pastor to my brother who was pastor of the Congregational Church. This was a glorious successful year. There's nothing in creation like the West! I hope it won't be long before I can go back to that country.
Last summer I accepted a position with the Board of Domestic Missions hoping "to be placed out West, but I landed here in Michigan instead. I am a Diocesan Church Worker in Greenville. The work here is interesting — never a dull moment. The Mission is very small and run down in an industrial town of five thousand. The fun is to try to work in a Church which is still laboring under a thirty-year-old feud. Western Michigan is a fine place in which to work and live."

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Smith of Smyrna, North Carolina, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Lieutenant Hilda Smith, A.N.C., to Captain
WILLIAM H. GARVIN, JR., U.S.A.,
B.S. in B.A., of Taunton, on June 3.
Mrs. Garvin is stationed at Camp Butner,
North Carolina, while Captain Garvin, who was employed by Lever Brothers,
Cambridge, prior to entering the army,

PHILIP B. HAWLEY, B.S. in R.E., writes from All Saints Rectory, Torrington, Wyoming: "Since May, 1941, I have been in Wyoming as a Missionary of the Episcopal Church. During this time I have been ordained Deacon and Priest.
At present I am a Mission Priest in charge of two counties, larger than the state of Rhode Island. During the first two years
I was in Sublette County, Wyoming, which is between the Wind River and Salt Creek Mountain. These are parts of the Rockies. While there I learned to ride Western horses and have ridden in the cattle round-ups as a 'hand'; two years of cow punching and preaching in the real old West . . . Since October I have been assigned to this Field of Eastern Wyoming. It is a two-man job but with the supply of Priests as it is I am doing it alone. I have been refused twice for Service as a Chaplain because there are no replacements for this work. I'd give my right arm to get into this war.
I started out to do God's will and if it is to do this, I'll do it and not grumble . . .
On May 25 I was married to Miss Shirley Moon, a graduate of the University of Wyoming and teacher of music and Spanish at the high school here."

JAMES HAUGH, LL.B., of Rutland, Vermont, and Elinore McDermott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McDermott of Windsor, Vermont, were married on June 14 in St. Francis' Church, Windsor.
For the past two years Mrs. Haugh has been associated with the New York Community Service. Mr. Haugh, having been admitted to the bar in 1941, is now asso-

Page Forty-Six
associated with the law firm of Fenton, Wing & Morse in Rutland, Vermont.

NORMAN L. HERSEY, B.S. in R.E., reports that he was sick last winter, spending much time in the hospital with a back injury, but in May was able to walk around and expected to be cured. BARBARA HUSE, A.B., of Belmont, is employed by the Carr Fastener Company as a secretary.

ARBETTA KASHIMURA, B.S. in Physiol., was married to Lieutenant Penrod G. Hepfer, Medical Corps, in May at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia.

OWEN KIERNAN, Ed.M., has been appointed superintendent of the Wayland public schools. Mr. Kiernan formerly was principal of the High School in Sandwich, Massachusetts.

Martha F. Sneath, daughter of Professor and Mrs. George Sneath of Waban, was married to Lieutenant Commander BERNARD FREEMAN MANN, JR., U.S.N., M.C., M.D., of Sudbury, Maine, on July 28. Lt. Commander Mann has had twenty-six months of service in the Pacific area and at present he is assigned to the Lahey Clinic for post-graduate instruction in Pathology.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. McCarthy of Millis have announced the engagement of their daughter, CECILIA C. McCARTHY, B.S. in P.A.L., to Charles J. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy of Somerville.

Mrs. Harry W. Mehring of Waltham, has announced the engagement of her daughter, ESTHER F. MEHRING, A.B., to Lieutenant William E. Wiley, U.S. N.R., of Waltham. Miss Mehring is a member of the faculty at Waltham Senior High School. Lieutenant Wiley is stationed in Rhode Island.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Jule V. Reidy, daughter of Mrs. Daniel J. Reidy of Jackson Heights, Long Island, New York, to ROBERT W. O'BRIEN, Business Administration, of Mount Vernon, New York. Mr. O'Brien, a naval architect, is associated with Gibbs & Cox, Inc.

In a midsummer wedding August 5, Marie Lisa Luongo, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fedele U. Luongo of Providence, Rhode Island, was married to GARY P. PAPARO, S.B., M.D. '43, of Brockton, Massachusetts. After a wedding journey through New Hampshire and Maine, Dr. and Mrs. Paparo will live at the Brattle Inn, Cambridge. On October 1 he will report for active duty as a First Lieutenant in the Medical Corps, U.S.A.

The engagement of Phyllis Ruth Brown to MORTON J. PEARLMAN, U.S.A., B.S. in B.A., of Brookline, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brown of Ashland. Mr. Pearlman is stationed at Fort Meade, Maryland.

SAUL RICHMAN, A.B., M.S. in S.S. '44, and Mrs. Richman (FLORENCE MILLER A.B., A.M. '42), of Dorchester, are the parents of a son, Stephen Victor, born June 9.

Recently word has been received in the Alumni Office of the marriage of DORIS E. ROSE, A.B., to Lieutenant (j.g.), Sol W. Hopengarten, U.S.N. Lieutenant Hopengarten is stationed in Boston. Since 1941, Mrs. Hopengarten has been working in Washington and Boston for the Federal Government, Social Security Board and at present the War Manpower Commission, as an economic analyst and labor market analyst.

During the summer CHARLES P. SAWYER, JR., Ed.M., assistant principal of Normandin Junior High School, New Bedford, served as supervisor of the Junior canteen in the Peirce Mill. Mr. Sawyer was at the Center daily, directing the activities.

On June 3, Beatrice Aranowitz became the bride of Corporal FRANK SILVERSTEIN, B.S. in Ed., Ed.M. '41, U.S.A. The ceremony took place in Chelsea. Mrs. Silverstein is living in Chelsea while Corporal Silverstein is stationed at Fort Devens.

BARBARA SKINNER, B.S. in P.A.L., of Woburn, was married to Ensign Howard W. Adam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe G. Adam of Butte, Montana, at a small ceremony at the bride's home in Woburn. Ensign Adam is a graduate of the Montana State School of Mines.

PHILIP W. SWARTZ, M.S. in S.S., newly appointed secretary of the Council of Social Agencies, Bridgeport, Connecticut, brings to his new duties a background of applied social service obtained as a member of the staff of the Family Welfare Society, Boston; the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, Boston; and Jewish Social Service, Cleveland.

The engagement of Rita Snyder to Lieutenant BERNARD TOLNICK, U.S. A.M.C., S.B., M.D. '43, of Roxbury, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Rose Snyder of Roxbury. At present Lieutenant Tolnick is serving in England.

The marriage of Jane Maxson to JOHN WOODMAN WEST, Evening College of Commerce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. West of West Newton, took place in Cranford, New Jersey, April 9, at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank T. Maxson. The young couple are living in Bethesda, Maryland.

Mrs. Philip E. Nickerson of New Brunswick, Canada, has announced the engagement of her daughter Barbara Nickerson to PAUL F. WHITTEM, Education, of North Easton. Mr. Whitten will teach in Easton at the Oliver Ames High School this fall; Mrs. Whitten will continue to teach in the English Department of the same high school.

ROBERT LORING YOUNG, B.S. in R.E., '41, left in late July to take up parish work in San Diego, California. His new address is Community Church of the New Jerusalem, 4144 Campus Avenue, San Diego 4, California.

1940

While her husband is a chaplain in the Army, Mrs. Edward G. Harris (SHIRLEY L. BARLOW, B.S. in P.A.), and her son, David Barlow Harris, born March 21, have moved from New York City to Allston. Her address is 36 Boulevard Terrace.

1941

Lieutenant (j.g.) GORDON D. ARNOLD, M.C., U.S.N., S.B., M.D. '43, son of Rev. and Mrs. Willard C. Arnold of Reading, was married to Ensign Florence Voss Brinck, Navy Nurse Corps, on June 3 in the First Methodist Church, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Ruth G. Irvine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Irvine of Mars Hill, Maine, was married on May 10 to WILLIAM ASTON, Business Administration, of Newtonville, Massachusetts. Mr. and Mrs. Aston will live in Newtonville; Mrs. Aston is a member of the teaching staff of the Carr School, Newtonville, and Mr. Aston is employed at the Hingham shipyard.

ROSEMARIE BATTY, U.S.N.R. (W), Lt. (j.g.), B.S. in P.A., and Captain RUSSELL H. LAWRY, U.S.M.C., B.S. in Ed., '39, were married in the Congregational Church at Auburn Center on July 30. Mrs. Lawry, stationed in Washington with the WAVES is a member of Phi Kappa Epsilon. Captain Lawry is with the Marine Corps, Quantico, Virginia.

On April 19 a son, Byron Ewart, was born to Byron Woodman and Mrs. Woodman (ETHEL BORNHOFFT, B.S. in P.A.) of Concord.

LAWRENCE L. BROWN, Ed.M., formerly Principal of the Avery Junior High School, Dedham, is now Supervising Principal of these schools: Old High School, a wing of the Dedham High School, Avery School, Riverdale School and the Capen School, all in Dedham, and all containing grades seven and eight.

The marriage of Vivian Goodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodman of Malden, to ERNEST J. CARAS, Evening College of Commerce, of Revere, took place recently in Boston. The young couple are living in Revere.

ALVIN J. CLARK, B.S. in B.A., of the Marine Air Corps, has been promoted to the rank of Major. He is now serving in the Central Pacific.

MARJORIE ROSS DALZELL, Sargent, of Waltham, is the recent bride of Frank T. Giamo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic-Giamo. The young couple will live in Newtonville.

The marriage of Leslie Morgan, daughter of Mrs. Laurence Morgan of Boston, to Lieutenant (j.g.) JOHN NELSON DRURY, U.S.N.R., Business Administration, of Lowell, took place June 3 in the rectory of the Holy Cross Cathedral. Lieutenant Drury received his wings at Jacksonville, Florida, in 1943.

Recent announcement has been made of the engagement of Eileen M. Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bradley of Union, New Jersey, to JOHN T. FOLEY, M.B.A., Technical Corporal, U.S.A., of Arlington. At present Corporal Foley is attending Officer Candidate School in Texas.

The Church of Santo NombE de Jesus of Humacao, Puerto Rico, was the scene of the wedding of Margaret Ann Stringer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Stringer of Westbury, Long Island, New York, to Captain LAWRENCE HARWOOD KYLE, M.D., Medical Corps, of Huntington, Massachusetts. Mrs. Kyle has been serving as head nurse for the Corps of Engineers at a post in Puerto Rico for the past seven months. Captain Kyle entered the Army in June, 1942, and started his present tour of duty in the Antilles in January, 1943.

ELEANOR LOUISE HEALY, B.S. in P.A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Healy of Boston, has announced her engagement to William H. Abraham, U.S. N.R., son of Mrs. Mary Abraham of Boston.

The engagement of Phyllis Haller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius F. Haller of Needham, to Aviation Student DANIEL W. HOWELLS, JR., U.S.A.A.F., B.S. in B.A., was announced recently by her parents. Mr. Howells is now stationed in Columbus, Missouri.

VIVIAN JACOBUS, Sargent, is in the office of the Electric Boat Company, Groton, Connecticut, on civilian status as Supervisor of Shipbuilding, Office of the U.S.N. Her title is Allowance Aide-S.P. Her work demands figuring amounts of spare parts and tools carried aboard each submarine, tender and overhaul yards.

DORIS MARIE KEEFE, B.S. in Ed., of Merrymount, Quincy, became the bride of Ensign Peter A. McLeod, Jr., U.S.N.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McLeod of Mississippi, in Merrymount recently. Mrs. McLeod is a member of the faculty of the Atherton Hough School, Quincy. Ensign McLeod has recently returned from overseas duty.

Captain FREDERICK A. MEIER, Education, has served with an Air Corps overseas since May, 1943, as Special Service Officer of a Troop Carrier Group in the North African, Sicilian, and European Theaters. In civilian life Captain Meier is head of the Physical Education department and instructor in chemistry and biology at Bridgewater Teachers College. Mrs. Meier is the former LOUISE JOYCE, A.B., A.M. '30, and their home is in Whitman. For the duration of the war, Mrs. Meier is living in Salem with her parents.

MARY ELIZABETH MULLEN, Education, of Milton, has announced her engagement to Richard Henry Burke, son of Mrs. Catherine Burke of Ashmont. Ensign Mullen is on duty at the First Naval District Headquarters.

MARThA JANE NATOLI, B.S. in Phy.Ed., recently became the bride of Lieutenant John Thomas Casey, U.S.M.C., at Oceanside, California. Lieutenant Casey and his bride are making their home temporarily in Laguna Beach, California.

SELMa I. NETTLE, Ed.M., of Haverhill, will teach music in the seventh grade and direct the Belmont Junior High School Orchestra this fall. For the past five years she has been teaching elementary music in the Chenery School in Belmont. Miss Nettle is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Nettle.

The marriage of Mary Elsie Rickel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean A. Rickel of Shrewsbury, to DONALD ALLEN PERRY, B.S. in Ed., of Dedham, took place September 9. Mr. Perry is Associate Boys' Secretary at the Y.M.C.A., Worcester, and director of Camp Morgan.

In the chapel at Spence Field, Georgia, Maurine Rosemary Schaal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Schaal of South Lincoln, became the bride of Lieutenant LAWRENCE B. REED, U.S.A.A.F., B.S. in B.A., of Lexington. Lieutenant Reed is an instructor at Spence Field; they will make their home in Moultrie, Georgia.
The Old Mission San Luis Rey in San Pedro, California, was the scene of the recent elaborate wedding of Miss Lorna Lawson and Lieutenant RALPH SARNI, B.S. in B.A., U.S.M.C., of Melrose. Mrs. Sarni is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lawson of San Pedro, California. An honor guard of one hundred Marines formed an archway for the bridal procession. Lieutenant and Mrs. Sarni will make their home in Oceanside, California.

In July GUSTAVE SERINO, Ed.M., of Cambridge, joined the faculty of Northeastern University. He will teach "The History of Civilization."

A year ago October 30, Mildred L. Carlmark of Milton and Lieutenant (j.g.) ERIC R. SIMPSON, B.S. in Ed., were married in St. Paul's Methodist Church, Quincy. The ceremony was performed by Eric's father, the Rev. Charles E. Simpson, the former pastor of the Church. Lieutenant Simpson is now serving overseas.

At the session of the Northern New York Conference held in Watertown, New York in May, STANLEY E. SMITH, B.S. in Ed., S.T.B. '44, was admitted in full connection and ordained an Elder. His address is R.D. No. 2, Fulton, New York.

PAUL E. SUTTON, S.T.B., A.M. '42, and Mrs. Sutton are the parents of a son, Paul Linden, born June 14, in Lünsdale, West Virginia.

Mrs. Brazonis (MARYLOU WELSH, B.S. in Phys.Ed.), reported to Washington, D.C. on September 11, for two weeks' training prior to going overseas as staff assistant recreational worker with the American Red Cross. She has done Physical Therapy at Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver, Colorado, and served there before war was declared.

Lieutenant John R. Pace and Mrs. Pace, the former RUTH WOODSUM, B.S. in Ed., of Saugus, are the parents of a son, John Woodsum Pace, born March 15. Lieutenant Pace is a graduate of Massachusetts State College.

1941

Nancy Jane Olds, daughter of JOHN B. OLDS, S.T.M., and Mrs. Olds of Brighton was born on May 28.

Clifford Whittier Sundberg is the son of CLIFF SUNDBERG, B.S. in J., and Mrs. Sundberg, the former Dorothy J. Whittier, of Jacksonville, Florida.

1942

Captain Gaylord F. Lincoln and Mrs. Lincoln, the former SHIRLEY A. VAN DER PYL, B.S. in J., announce the birth of a son, William Adrian, born June 6, in Ruston, Louisiana.

LOIS AVERELL, B.S. in Ed., of Brockton, has resigned the position of kindergarten teacher at Tenace School, Wellesley, to accept a position as head of the kindergarten at the Brimmer and May School, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Brown of Jamaica Plain have announced the marriage of their daughter, BARBARA BROWN, B.S. in P.A., to Pvt. Alden M. Burghardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Burghardt of South Dartmouth. The marriage took place in June at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Burghardt is an assistant metallurgist at the Watertown arsenal. The young couple intend to live in Brookline.

JOHN J. BUCHANAN, S.T.B., minister of Christ Methodist Church, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, has opened a "Teen Age Canteen" to combat the ravages of juvenile delinquency in his parish, an area of the city consisting of apartment houses, and, which, with the adjoining Negro communities, has been designated as the second worst race tension area in Philadelphia.

In an endeavor to meet the recreational needs of the community young people, the Teen Age Canteen offers badminton, shuffle boards, darts, a billiard table, ping pong, a gym floor for dancing, and cosily furnished refreshment nook, replete with small tables and an open fireplace. Refreshments are served each evening, with the Church Women's Society supplying them and acting as chaperons. A rented juke box supplies the music.

St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Dedham, was the scene of the wedding, August 1, of VIRGINIA FRANCES DAY, B.S. in P.A., to Evans F. Spear, Jr., U.S.A.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Evans F. Spear of Walpole. Sergeant and Mrs. Spear will live in Covington, Louisiana, where he is stationed. Sergeant Spear is a graduate of Colgate University and a member of Sigma Chi.

PATRICIA FENCER, B.S. in P.A., of Brockton, has taken a position on the teaching staff of the Lexington High School. She has been teaching at Auburn, Maine.

Within the sanctuary of the Immaculate Conception Church, Lyon, EWGINA E. FINN, B.S. in Ed., became the bride of THOMAS B. McAULIFFE, Education, on June 24. Mrs. McAuliffe is assistant principal of the Liberty School, Revere; Mr. McAuliffe, a native of Dorchester, is a teacher in the Lewis School, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey A. Forster of Natick have announced the marriage of their daughter, LOIS PATRICIA FORSTER, A.B., A.M. '43 to S/Sgt. GEORGE H. DEWSNAP, S.B., who is now in the United States Army Air Force. The wedding took place at the Piety Corner Chapel, Waltham, on August 1. Mrs. Dewsnap and her attendants are all members of Pi Beta Phi Sorority, while the groom is a member of Beta Chi Sigma. Mrs. Dewsnap has resigned her position as English teacher in Auburn, Maine, and will join her husband at Harlingen, Texas.

KATHERINE V. HAYDOCK, College of Business Administration, died at her home in Revere on July 26 after a lingering illness. At Boston University Miss Haydock majored in journalism and was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Surviving are her parents, a brother, and five sisters, one of whom, Eileen Haydock, graduated in June from Sargent College.

Rev. and Mrs. George Holgate of Portland, Maine, have announced the engagement of their daughter, LILLIAN HOLGATE, B.S. in Ed., to Sergeant DUSTIN
U.S.A., LL.B., Stationed at the U. S. Army

CARTWRIGHT WOOD, U.S.A., M.C., B.S.; in B.A., was recently discharged from Quincy have announced the engagement of Philosophy of Religion in Asbury husband, Dr. Harold B. Kuhn, is professor moved to Wilmore, Kentucky, Where her

LL.B., was married recently to Miss Ger-

Injuries sustained from an airplane crash of their daughter, Ruth Dorothea, and Mrs. Morris Leavitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Cohen of Florence, to Lieutenant ALBERT H. announced the marriage of her daughter, Marjorie E. Readdy of Ocala, Florida, Where her parreignition of the editorial staff of the Interna-

of the youth division of Christ Church

lieutenant DANIEL J. SULLIVAN, B.S.; in B.A., has recently been restored to full duty after hospitalization and limited duty, due to wounds he received during the invasion of New Georgia Island, South West Pacific, July 11, 1943. He has also been awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge, at his present station, Camp Fannin, Tyler, Texas, for "exemplary conduct in action against the enemy."

On June 21 W. GORDON SURETTE, B.S.; in J., of Arlington, was married to Mary V. Taylor of New York, in Manhattan, New York. Mrs. Surette is a native of Ocala, Florida, Where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taliasher Taylor, are living. Mr. Surette is a member of the editorial staff of the International News Service in New York.

ELIZABETH M. TUCKER, B.S. in Ed., says she is doing "nothing glamorous, — just trying to teach effectively."

Mrs. Hofacker (ELEANOR ZECHER, B.S. in P.A.L.), a secretary for the Navy Department, is living in Washington, D. C.

A recent War Memorial Service in Acushnet featured ELEANOR BAKI-

RIGHINI, Principal Arts and Letters, became the bride of Joseph Pandolf, son of Mrs. Mario Pandolf of Needham. Mrs. Pandolf is the daughter of Mrs. Gino B. Boldrighini of Dorchester.

In June, B. MARIAN BROOKS, B.S. in Ed., former music supervisor in Needham, Massachusetts, was awarded the degree of Master of Arts in music education and elementary education from Columbia University. At present Miss Brooks is employed as an aid to a Columbia professor, in collecting material for a book on education. She plans to remain at Columbia to finish her work for her Doctorate.

On the evening of July 12 Phyllis Jean Barney and ROBERT HILLS BRUSTER, B.S. in B.A., were married in West Medford. Mrs. Bruster is the daughter of Mrs. H. Clark Barney of Arlington. Mr. and Mrs. Bruster are living on Beacon Hill, Boston.

On April 13 June E. Raymond, of Orange, Massachusetts, was married to Pfc. DAVID DANA CLANCY, B.S. in B.A., of Boston. Mr. Clancy is at present serving in the U. S. Army as a military psychologist at Springfield. He was employed by the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company at Boston before going into the service.

CARMELA COCO, Ed.M., was married on May 14 to Sgt. Angel W. Suarez, U.S.A., son of Mrs. Josefine Suarez of Bayonne, New Jersey. Mrs. Suarez is the daughter of Mrs. Teresa Coco of Framingham, and is now a teacher at the Memorial Junior High School. Sergeant and Mrs. Suarez will live in Framingham as he is stationed at Camp Framingham.

ABIGAIL CRONAN, B.S. in Ed., of Framingham, has been appointed principal of the Roosevelt School.

EARLE DELANO, B.S. in Ed., died at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals on June 3. A native of Newburyport, Mr. Delano left Brown University during World War I, and at the age of fifty-two came to Boston University to take his degree. For a number of years he was a newspaper reporter, and was interested in civic and dramatic activities in Newburyport. He was one of the founders of the Ould Newbury Studio Players, Inc. After his graduation from the School of Education he was appointed a member of the faculty of the North Brookfield high school. He leaves his mother, two sisters, a niece and two nephews.

Page Fifty

MARY ELIZABETH DEVZIA, B.S. in P.A., of West Roxbury, and Corporal Donald C. Brown, U.S.A., were married July 9 in the Holy Name Church, West Roxbury. Corporal Brown is stationed at Camp Phillips, Kansas.

On Friday, May 23, Yvette Goldstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goldstein of Boston, became the bride of a/c PHILIP DINE, Business Administration, also of Boston, in a ceremony that took place in Fort Worth, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Dine will live in Fort Worth while he is stationed at Hicks Field, Texas.

The engagement of MERIEL EMERSON, Liberal Arts, to E. Howard Pierce, Jr., of Newton Center, has been announced by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bradbury of Biddeford, Maine. Miss Emerson entered the Massachusetts General Hospital Training School for Nurses in the fall of 1941.

Frances M. Lemport of Lewiston, Maine, was married July 23 to Lt. MELVIN LEWIS EPSTEIN, Business Administration, of Portland, Maine. Mrs. Epstein is a graduate of Westbrook Junior College and is now employed by the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Lieutenant Epstein is stationed at Camp Pickett, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Silverman of Brookline have announced the marriage of their daughter, Etta, to IRVING FELDMAN, Evening College of Commerce, on March 30. Mr. Feldman is working for the United States Department of Labor.

RUTH FOLEY, B.S. in Psych., will be a Supervisor of Physical Education in three elementary schools in Orange, New Jersey, next year.

ROBERT FRANZ, A.B., is pastor of the Groton Baptist Church. He and Mrs. Franz, the former Muriel Putnam, are living in the Parsonage.

Following their marriage on June 25 in Boston, G. ROWLAND YOUNG, Music, and Mrs. Young, the former RENE B. GIRARD, M.S., are living on Hemenway Street, Boston. Mrs. Young is employed by the Polaroid Company of Cambridge. Mr. Young, a junior at the college of music when he enlisted, served for fifteen months and received a medical discharge. At present he is employed as a trombonist in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Goldman of Dorchester have announced the marriage of their daughter CELIA GOLDMAN, B.S. in Ed., to Dr. MELVIN K. LYONS, S.B. '41, M.D. '43, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lyons of Dorchester.

Sergeant MIRIAM GREENBERG, WAC, B.S. in P.A., and Lieutenant Saundra Finard, U.S.N.R., were married on June 3 in Brookline. Prior to Mrs. Finard's enlistment in the WAC, she was employed as a dietician. At present she is stationed at the Mason General Hospital, New York. Lieutenant Finard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Finard of Lynn and is now attending submarine school at New London, Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Knowles Hamill of Chelsea have announced the marriage of their daughter, DOROTHY L. HAMILL, Practical Arts and Letters, to JOHN WILLIAM THOMPSON, L.L.B. '41, of Watertown, on July 6, in Miami, Florida.

Lieutenant (s.g.) WILLIAM H. HOGAN, JR., Education, who was recently presented the Bronze Star Medal and citation from Admiral Halsey, has arrived home in Lynn to marry Vivian Olsen of Salem. The wedding date was set for June 18. Lieutenant Hogan has been on duty with a squadron of destroyers in the South Pacific.

NORMA M. HYLAND, B.S. in Phy. Ed., has been appointed Girl Reserve secretary of the Brockton, W.C.A., and started her duties in September. A native of Webster, Miss Hyland is living in Brockton with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Moorehouse have announced the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Avis, to HAROLD GRAHAM JOHNSON, Liberal Arts, on Saturday, January 29, in Hopedale.

HESTER LOUISE JOHNSON, B.S. in Ed., is assistant director of Nurses at the Paterson General Hospital. She is in charge of the nursing service for a two-hundred-fifty-bed unit.

On June 28 GORDON LIND, S.B., and Shirley Anderson were married in Emmanuel Church, West Roxbury. Mr. Lind was ordained in the same church and is now in Spokane, Washington, with his wife.

GEORGE LYTCHCOTT, III, M.D., of Tulsa, Oklahoma, only Negro Pediatrician at the Boston City Hospital, has been appointed house doctor. Dr. Lythcott spent his internship in the Boston City Hospital.

MORRIS J. MORGAN, S.T.B., of Indiana, has accepted the position as assistant minister and director of student activities at the Copley Methodist Church, Newbury and Exeter Streets, Boston.

Ensign EDWARD J. MURRAY, JR., B.S. in B.A., is Assistant Communications Officer on the U.S.S. Benjoin in the Pacific area. In July of 1943 he graduated from Columbia Midshipman's School and in October of the same year he married Joan M. Perrin of Lynn, Massachusetts.

JOSEPHINE J. ORENSTEIN, A.B., is a psychologist at the Gardner State Hospital. She was previously employed by the Special Services Department, Washington, D. C.

A wedding is being planned for Dora Irene Merino and ROBERT C. RAINIE, M.D., of Concord, New Hampshire, whose engagement was announced recently by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Merino of Waltham. Dr. Rainie is now at the Central Maine General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter K. Wychunas have announced the engagement of their daughter Phyllis to S. ALBERT SARKISIAN, M.D., of Bridgewater. Dr. Sarkisian expects to enter the Army Medical Corps in October.

The marriage of Rita H. Fleming to JOSEPH C. SCANLON, M.D., has been announced by the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fleming of Mount Jewett, Pennsylvania. Dr. Fleming, a native of Worcester, is serving an internship at the Memorial Hospital. The young couple are living on Institute Road, Worcester.

Julie A. Hollaran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy F. Hollaran of Gloucester, became the bride of Lieutenant WILIAM F. SOUZA, U.S.A., B.S. in B.A., also of Gloucester, in May. Lieutenant and Mrs. Souza will live in Jacksonville, Florida, near Camp Blanding where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael T. Hennessy of Belmont have announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Hennessy, to Ensign JOHN H. SPANG, U.S.N.R., B.S. in B.A., of Winchester. Ensign Span graduated from Columbia Midshipman's School.

BRYCE B. WALTON, Ed.M., former teacher at Beverly High School, has accepted the position of teacher and track coach at the High School in Melrose. He will also be assistant football and hockey coach.

DONALD ARTHUR WELLS, S.T.B., has been appointed pastor of the Community Methodist Church, Waltham. He is continuing his studies at the graduate school, working for a Ph.D. degree. Mrs. Wells is the former June Mickman of Minnesota.
IRMA JANE WRENN, B.S. in Ed., has just completed her first year as teacher in the fifth grade at the Cobb School, Kingston, Massachusetts.

Charlotte Lampke, student at the College of Music, is engaged to STANLEY ZIMAN, B.S. in B.A., of Brookline. Miss Lampke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Lampke of Brookline.

1943

A son, David James, was born on June 18 to JOHN CHARLES HARVEY, S.T. B., and Mrs. Harvey of Oskaloosa, Iowa.

On June 17 the Trinity Union Church in Providence, Rhode Island, was the scene of the wedding of Dorothy L. Janicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Janicki of Edgewood, Rhode Island, to HENRY JOSEPH ALBERT, Liberal Arts, of Providence. Mr. and Mrs. Albert are living on Detroit Avenue, Providence.

On May 22 the members of the Parker Street Methodist Church, Lawrence, gave a farewell party to Reverend HAROLD W. BLACK, S.T.B., and Mrs. Black, in the capacity of secretary.

The Methodist Church, Lawrence, was the scene of the wedding of ELSIE FERGUSON JOHNSON, Education, to Sergeant Wayne E. Eustace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eustace of Lawrence, on June 25. Mrs. Eustace is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Johnson of Biddeford, Maine, and Ipswich. At present Sergeant Eustace is at Camp Butner, North Carolina, and his wife is at their home in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kimball of Chester, New Hampshire, have announced the engagement of their daughter, MARY B. KIMBALL, Liberal Arts, and Henry M. Bosworth, U.S.N.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde O. Bosworth of Halifax. Miss Kimball is a laboratory technician at the Children’s Hospital, Boston.

Margie E. Winnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Campbell of Salem, and Rev. W. RUSSELL CLARK, S.T.B., of Little Falls, New York. The young couple will live in New York State.

DONNA CLISH, Practical Arts and Letters, of Haverhill, is doing Secretarial work at the Port of Embarkation.

Recently announced was the engagement of AUDREY S. CUMMINGS, Mus.B., to ALBERT W. GARNER, 7’44, of Syracuse, New York. May 17 was the date set for the ceremony. They both have teaching positions in the same school in Mexico.

RICHARD J. DUNLAP, S.T.B., who resigned the pastorate of the Beverly Methodist Church this spring when he graduated, has accepted the church in San Gabriel, California.

RACHEL FANNING, B.S. in Ed., of Brockton, has been appointed medical teaching supervisor at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Gagnon have announced the marriage of their daughter VIRGINIA PATRICIA, A.B., to Ensign KENNETH G. RYDER, U.S.N.R., Liberal Arts ’45, at a candle-lit ceremony at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Wakefield, on June 29.

GLADYS HARTSHORN, B.S. in P.A., and Harry F. Remde, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Remde of Providence, set September 2 as their wedding date. Their engagement was announced last spring.

PATRICIA HUNT, Practical Arts and Letters, is connected with the Hotel Venetian Orchestra in the capacity of secretary.

The marriage of Doris E. Chase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton W. Chase of New Bedford, to BASHFORD S. POWER, S.T.B., of North Fairfield, Ohio, took place recently in Harvard Memorial Church, Cambridge. Mrs. Power is working at Harvard for her master’s degree, and Mr. Power is working at Boston University for his doctorate. They will live in Boston.

Meredith G. Bragg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bragg of South Weymouth, became the bride of ALVAH RAYMOND, Ed.M., on June 24. At present Mr. Raymond is teaching mathematics and science at the Weymouth High School. Mrs. Raymond is a former teacher at the Edward B. Nevin school in Weymouth and received an A.M. degree from Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont, in 1943.

Muriel Weissman was married to Ensign JEROME A. SCOLER, LL.B., of Hartford, Connecticut, May 14, in Stamford, Connecticut. Mrs. Scoler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Weissman of Stamford, Connecticut, is a nurse’s aide.
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kravit of Brookline have announced the engagement of their daughter, Selma G. Kravit, to THEODORE S. SHAPIRO, A.B., also of Brookline.

STEPHENV SMITH, S.T.B., is in charge of the Protestant Mission work among the Blackfeet Indians in Browning, Montana. Mr. and Mrs. Smith formerly lived in East Braintree where he has been pastor for three years.

LUCY SPALLONE, B.S. in P.A.L., is working as a medical secretary at the Cushing Hospital in Framingham.

Rev. ROBERT B. WEIRBACH, S.T.B., who has been associated with the Highlands Congregational Church, Milton, for the past two years has gone to California to become minister in the Southern California-Arizona conference of the Methodist church. He is a native of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Burnett of Fall River, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Marian W. Burnett, to Ensign EDWARD HARRIS WILCOX, U.S.N.R., B.S. in Ed., of Webster, Massachusetts. Ensign Wilcox received his commission at the Midshipman's School at the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Indiana. Ensign and Mrs. Wilcox are making their home in Raleigh, North Carolina.

BLANCHE WITHERELL, B.S. in Ed., of Lynn, was married to Captain Ralph E. Ambrose, son of Mrs. William Ambrose of Deerfield, New Hampshire, in Lynn, June 7. Captain and Mrs. Ambrose are living at 283 Beacon Street, Boston. The Captain is stationed with the Transportation Corps at the Boston Port of Embarkation.

On June 19, a son, John Charles, was born to ELMO P. YOUNG, S.T.B., and Mrs. Young of Medford.

1945
ROBERT B. BELL, U.S.A., Business Administration, in a recent letter wrote of his engagement to Helen Lushan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lushan of Brookline. Miss Lushan is a junior at Syracuse University. Private Bell is stationed at Camp Davis, North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cobin of Brookline have announced the marriage of their daughter SYDELLE COBIN, Education, to RALPH BYER, Evening College of Commerce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Byer, also of Brookline. The young couple were married on June 4 and are now living on Chiswick Road, Brookline.

Counselor at Camp Accomac, Portland, Maine, this past summer, NANCY BUFFINGTON DAVIS, Liberal Arts, of Wakefield, Massachusetts, has been appointed director of health and physical education at Washington State Normal School, Machias, Maine.

Lieutenant WENTWORTH A. ERNST, U.S.A., Education, has informed us of his marriage to LAURA GUILD, Mus.B. '43. The ceremony took place May 1 in Lincoln, Nebraska.

On May 21 BEVERLY JEAN FAIRWEATHER, Practical Arts and Letters, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Edwin J. Fairweather of Newton Lower Falls, was married to Lieutenant Myron Allen Shoffner, U.S.A., of Kittanning, Pennsylvania. The young couple will live near Camp Stewart, Georgia, where Lieutenant Shoffner is stationed.

Jeanne W. Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Kelley of Belmont, became the bride of Staff Sergeant DONALD HUNT GLASS, Business Administration, on August 6. Sergeant Glass has been in the Air Corps for two years. The young couple will make their home in Montgomery, Alabama.

Lieutenant WARREN E. HOUGHTON, Evening College of Commerce, and Mrs. Houghton, the former Mary M. Dornan, of Brockton, were married September 20, 1943, and since then have been living in Tampa, Florida, where Lieutenant Houghton is assigned to the quartermaster corps of the Army Air Forces. Lieutenant Houghton is assigned to the office of the supervisor of supply in one of the largest army air bases in the United States and is on the special staff of the base commander.

Private MELVIN D. HUGHSON, Liberal Arts, of Milton, played the role of Sergeant Ruby in the production of the play "Eve of St. Mark" by Galveston Army Air Field personnel, at a recent playing there. At the Air Field, he is assigned to duty with the Base Maintenance Section.

Marilyn Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jones of Boston, became the bride of HAROLD B. KEIR, Theology, on Saturday afternoon, June 3, in the Hampton Methodist Church. Mr. Keir is a student at the New England Conservatory of Music. The young couple are living in the parsonage of the Hampton Methodist Church, Hampton, New Hampshire.

Announcement is made of the engagement of BARBARA MASON, Practical Arts and Letters, of Jamaica Plain, to Robson Nelson, U.S.N.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Nelson of Jamaica Plain. Mr. Nelson is stationed in Boston.

CLAYTON OBERG, Theology, is pastor of the Methodist Church in Newburyport. He and Mrs. Oberg, formerly secretary of School and College Relations in the Alumni Office, are living in the parsonage there.

In a wedding gown of silver brocade purchased by the bridegroom in Damascus, Syria, while serving in the A.A.F., SHIRLEY SHAPIRO, Music, became the bride of Captain Alfred Goldis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Goldis of Brooklyn, New York.

On June 6 JEAN ELIZABETH WALSH, Practical Arts and Letters, became the bride of ROBERT JAMES KENNEY, U.S.A., Business Administration, of Arlington. Mr. Kenney is stationed with the Infantry in England.
Virginia Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley L. Wright of Auburndale, was married May 2 to Ensign ROBERT J. CHURCH, U.S.N.R., Evening College of Commerce, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Church of Watertown. Mrs. Church is a graduate of Lasell Junior College.

"Life over here in France is really quite charming despite all other activity. Study has become a reality and can now live that which we read in books about France. Have been in the ETO a year and forward to a very near victory."

Harold C. Mason, Business Administration.

Rosalie M. McEWAN, Practical Arts and Letters, of Brookline is engaged to Ensign Chester C. Chapman, who is now serving on active duty in the South Pacific. A member of the U.S. Naval Air Corps, Ensign Chapman is the son of Mrs. Frederick Chapman of Brookline.

On Saturday evening, May 13, the Immanuel Baptist Church in Newton, was the scene of the wedding of Marjorie Llewellyn Gurney, Evening College of Commerce, Specialist Recruiter, 3/c, U.S.N.R., to S/Sgt. Luther S. Gosnell of Danville, Virginia. Sergeant Gosnell and his bride are living in Baltimore, Maryland.

TRUSTEE

Horace A. Moses, of Springfield, recently celebrated his eighty-second birthday. He is slowly regaining strength, after having been confined to his bed for seven months.

FACULTY

Professors Basil J. Mathews and F. Gerald Ensley, S.T.B. '31, Ph.D. '38, have resigned from the faculty of the School of Theology. They were presented with illuminated tributes from the students at a banquet given in their honor at the First Methodist Church, Boston.

The Americas

(Continued from Page Ten)

The Americas have been known as a land of promise and opportunity since the days of the Spanish explorers. From the days of Columbus to the present, the Americas have been a source of inspiration and inspiration. The following excerpts are just a few examples of the many contributions that have been made by Americans to the world.

Samuel M. Holman, AG '83. February 10.

Mrs. George Albert Palmer (Annie Mary Chipman), M '88. February 11.

Elizabeth M. Fessenden, A '89. May 15.

S. Edgar Whitaker, A '90. August 10.

John P. Kane, L '95. June 16.

Harry C. Fabyan, L '96. August 15.

Theodore C. Radoslavoff, exT '98. June 3.

Arthur Berenson, L '00. August 12.

Thaddeus Graves, A '01. April 2.

Edward Hislop, T '07.

Walter Foster, L '08. August 2.

Mrs. Henry H. Jackson (Carrie Bemis), A '08.

Benjamin George Seaboy, exT '10. August 7.

Evelyn Cronin, SAR '28. Funeral August 1.

Hirschel Gutman, B '37. April 20.

Harvey Warren Cox, Hon '38. July 27.

Noyes D. Farmer, Jr., exB '39. Previous to July 29.

William H. Urmston, Jr., B '40. June 1.

Francis P. Drabinowicz, E '41. May.

Ray F. Fletcher, B '41. May 10.

Katherine V. Haydock, exB '42. July 26.

Earle Delano, E '43. June 3.

George Thomson, B '44. E '44. June 6.

*Additional information in class notes.
†Died in war service.

Venezuelan, stands out as a soldier who fought for us, curiously enough under Rochambeau. It was he who fired Simon Bolivar with the idea of freeing the Spanish-American colonies. With us the outstanding name is that of George Washington. In Spanish America, Bolivar shares with San Martin the glory of freeing the South American continent. San Martin, however, was one of those self-sacrificing types so rarely found in Spanish-American history. After a brilliant campaign in Argentina, Chile and Peru, he eclipsed himself entirely in favor of the dashing, forceful Bolivar.

Under the title Some Oulious Comparisons I have often pondered over writing an essay on Washington and Bolivar, contrasting the unimaginative, stolid, steady, plodding Washington with the brilliant, scintillating, spectacular and romantic Bolivar. Washington, the statesman, carried out to fruition work of the soldier and created the United States of America. Bolivar, the soldier, failed as a statesman and left to posterity the free but disunited states of America. Because of the jealousies and rivalries of his fellow revolutionists, he died broken-hearted and penniless, cast out of his own land of Venezuela. In a moment of despair, he cried, "Those who have toiled for liberty have plowed in the sea." But before he died he dreamed a dream, a dream of the confederated states of all the Americas. In 1825 he called together a conference which was held, symbolically, at Panama, the cross roads of the Americas. Tragically enough Bolivia, the country named in his honor, sent no rep-representative. Nor were there representatives present from Argentina, Chile, or Brazil. British and Dutch delegates came as observers, but unhappily the young vigorous United States were not represented. Delegates had been appointed by Congress, but one died on the way and the other just missed the bus and arrived after the conference had adjourned. Nothing concrete was accomplished, but an idea was born. That idea took a long time to establish itself in the consciousness of the Americas, and it was not until 1889 that the first Pan American Congress met at Washington on the invitation of the United States government at the instigation of James G. Blaine, then secretary of State, who had for a long time been planning closer cooperation of the Americas.

The last Spanish stronghold on the American continent fell in 1825 at about the same time that the Monroe Doctrine was promulgated. At first this warning to Europe seemed a friendly gesture, in keeping with the attitude of men like Henry Clay who had been urging recognition of the independence of the Spanish colonies. But our war with Mexico, a war of conquest with its enormous territorial gains, our rough and ready annexation of Texas and California, and our war with Spain in 1898 carrying with it the annexation of Puerto Rico, showed that while we called to Europe seemed a friendly gesture, in the same time that the Monroe Doctrine showed for the first time a multilateral instead of a unilateral tendency. In order to avoid war between the United States and Mexico in 1914, Argentina, Brazil and Chile offered to mediate between the two powers and peace was established.

Meanwhile several Pan American conferences had taken place since 1889 and the Pan American Union had come into being with its beautiful building in Washington which acts as a clearing-house for intellectual cooperation between the Americas. Ex-President Hoover tried to carry on a friendly policy and made a good will tour of the Americas, but it was not until the advent of Franklin Roosevelt that a real rapprochement began. Since the Pan American conference of Montevideo which was held in 1933, when Cordell Hull showed that we preferred to be looked upon as a big brother rather than as a tyrannical Uncle Sam, friendly feelings have increased from year to year. We often ask ourselves what the foreign policy of our government really is. As far as Hispanic America is concerned, the good neighbor policy announced by President Roosevelt in his first inaugural address seems fairly clear. Ably seconded by Vice-president Wallace and Secretaries Hull and Welles, he has accomplished more than any other president of the United States in carrying out a policy of rapprochement with the other Americas, and is revered by liberals everywhere in Hispanic America. During his administration, most of the disputes with Mexico have been settled, the Platt amendment, which made a protectorate of Cuba, has been abrogated, our marines have been withdrawn from Haiti and the customs receivership abolished, trade agreements have torn down our high tariff wall and we have ceased to interfere in the internal affairs of Hispanic-American states. The most important step that we have made has been to treat our neighbors as equals in all matters pertaining to continental solidarity and to cease to dictate policies to them. Our attitude has become fraternal, it is a longer paternal.

With the creation of the cultural relations division of the State Department and the office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs, we have two official bureaus which are working towards rapprochement. We now have cultural attachés in several Hispanic-American embassies. One of my colleagues, a professor of Spanish in the University of Michigan, is at present cultural attaché to the Argentine. At our Institute of Inter-American Affairs sponsored here last year under the auspices of the office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs, one of the speakers was the cultural attaché from the Venezuelan embassy. Recognizing that Hispanic-Americans are very proud of their literature and arts, we stressed during our institute the cultural aspects of Hispanic-American civilization as much as possible. President Marsh has promised to establish machinery for the exchange of students between Boston University and Hispanic-American universities. I am hopeful that these exchanges of students and professors will... do a great deal to promote good will among the Americas. On the cultural side of inter-American activities, no one has done more than Alice Stone Blackwell, a graduate of our College of Liberal Arts, a trustee of Boston University, and incidentally a member of this Phi Beta Kappa Chapter. With her volume of translations of some of the great masterpieces of Spanish American poetry she has paid a noble tribute to one of the finest manifestations of Spanish American culture.

I have stressed in the course of this address the great influence which France has had in the cultural development of Hispanic America. I am more and more convinced every day that this influence is diminishing and that the other Americas are turning more and more to us especially in the fields of pure and applied sciences and medicine. Their students are coming in greater and greater numbers to study at our universities and laboratories. The English language is gradually supplanting the French. We are living in an age in which science and economics are playing a larger role than heretofore. Our radio programs and movies which unfortunately do not present a high form of culture are great factors in the dis- semination of the English language. On the other side of the picture, our artists and archeologists and social scientists are beginning to go south, especially to Mexico. The nations of the Americas are young and vigorous and are still in the process of development, culturally and economically. I have long felt that the center of the civilized world of the west has been slowly gravitating toward the American continent. I see in the near future the flowering of two great cultures, one in the United States of America with its center in New York City, the other in the disunited states of America whose center I dare not prophecy.

Hispano-Americans have distinguished themselves in the field of international law. No nation in the world has more individual advocates and workers for international peace than our own country. Perhaps the peoples of the Americas can fool the cynics and the pessimists who see in the present rapprochement a "mariage de convenance" which will last only for the duration — that is just as long as we need each other for mutual protection. I, for one, am willing to take a chance and be an optimist, and shall continue to preach sermons in favor of a closer rapprochement with the Americas just as I have done to you today.

Page Fifty-Six
D'ALESSANDRO, ALFRED, G'32, with War Dept. in Termination and Re-negotiation of War Contracts. (46 Radcliffe Rd., Belmont, Mass.)

DANDRETA, ALEXANDER J., A'33, 11th Armored Div., Camp Cooke, Calif.

DANGEL, DAVID, B'43, Corpl., 569th Signal Co. (Hqrs. Sect.), Camp Shelby, Miss.

DANDRETA, ALEXANDER J., A'33, 11th Armored Div., Camp Cooke, Calif.

DANGEL, DAVID, B'43, Corpl., 569th Signal Co. (Hqrs. Sect.), Camp Shelby, Miss.

DEWHURST, DAVID C., B'40, Corpl., U.S.M.C., in South Pacific. (36 Broadway, Stoneham, Mass.)

DEWHURST, JOHN P., B'43, Lt. G.O.E., OVerSeaS. (380 S.E. Main St., Freeport, L. I., N. Y.)

DIORIO, BENJAMIN A., M'24, Major, Chief of Professional Branch, Port Surgeon's Office, P.O.E., Los Angeles, Calif.

DINE, PHILIP, B'43, A/C, A.A.F., Hicks Field, Fort Worth, Tex.

DIOTAIUTI, PASQUALE E., A'42, Lt., U. S. Troops, Burrough, L.A.

DONOVAN, DANIEL J., C'43, Sgt., with Army at Bougainville. (7½ Brewer St., Boston, Mass.)

DRANKOWSKI, ALPHONSE F., B'26, Capt., A.A.F., overseas.

EDWARDS, PAUL J., E'44, T/Sgt., Army.

ELKINS, SAMUEL H., Mas'40, Pvt., By.A., 747th F.A. Bn., Camp Shelby, Miss.

EPSTEIN, NATHAN, E'40, PFC., A.A.F., A.P.O. 637, c/o P.O.M., New York, N. Y.

FALKOF, HAROLD, B'38, SK 2/c, Area B-1, Bks. 104, Camp Peary, Va.

FALLAR, ROBERT D., C'40, Corpl., Weather Observer, Base Weather Station, Amarillo A.A.F., Amarillo, Tex.

FARLEY, JOHN C., B'34, Sgt., Army. (6 Goodway Rd., Forest Hills, Mass.)

FEELEY, LOUIS W., L'29, Army. (98 Dennison Ave., Framingham, Mass.)

FELLOWS, CLIFFORD M., C'47, 2d Lt., A.A.F., Selman Field, Monroe, La.

FARBER, ROBERT D., C'40, Corp., Weather Observer, Base Weather Station, Amarillo A.A.F., Amarillo, Tex. (213 Millett St., Dorchester, Mass.)

FITZPATRICK, JAMES J., L'28, Army. (49 Westminster St., Providence, R. I.)

FOGG, CLARENCE H., B'24, Navy.

FORD, RICHARD, B'47, Pvt., 3704 Basic Unit, A.A.F., Sect. X, Class 20, Keesler Field, Miss.

FRIEDMAN, SAUL, L'38, Army. (29½ Willard Ave., Providence, R. I.)

GIACCOBE, ROSARIO F., B'32, Chief Editorial Executive, O.W.I., Washington, D. C.

GOODWIN, RALPH C., C'46, 2d Lt., A.A.F., Flight Instructor, Tuskegee A.A.F., Tuskegee, Ala.

GOULD, JAMES A. H., E'39/41, Navy. (11 Midvale Rd., West Roxbury, Mass.)

GRADY, WILLIAM, B'43, Lt., U.S. M.C., 252d Coast Artillery, 2d Bn., Camp Pendleton, Va.

GREENBERG, MILTON, B'34/36, Corp., Personnel Section, 357th Inf.

GREENE, FRANKLIN L., L'35, Army. (66 Montclaire Ave., No. Quincy, Mass.)

GIBB, CLARENCE H., B'24, Navy.

HANSON, RICHARD H., A,41, T/Sgt., home on leave after 2 years in Central Africa.

HATCH, ROBERT W., E'46, Corp., Marines, South Pacific. (158 Howard St., Melrose, Mass.)

HEFFERNAN, JOHN J., B'46, PFC, A.A.F., A.P.O. 487, c/o P.O.M., New York, N. Y.

HENRY, FRANCIS J., B'45, Corp., Army, A.P.O. 508, c/o P.O.M., New York, N. Y.
Lt. (j.g.) CHARLES H. ILEY, T’38

ILEY, CHARLES H., G’37/T’38, Lt. (j.g.), Chaplain, U.S.C.G.T.S., Palm Beach, Fla.
JENNINGS, ROGER M., B’22, Lt., U.S.N.

JEWELL, EDMUND F., B’22, Capt., U.S.N.

DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS
Awarded by the United States Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard.

BENNETT, GEORGE A., Lt., B’43.
CARASIMS, JAMES, 2d Lt., B’42.
CONNOLLY, OWEN F., Lt., C’47, additional Oak Leaf Cluster.
GRAF, WILLIAM R., Lt., B’40.
GUTMAN, HIRSCHEL, Lt., B’40, awarded posthumously.
LIDER, RALPH D., Lt., L’39.
MERLINO, FRANK A., T/Sgt., B’44.

LITCHFIELD, ROBERT R., B’41, CY (AA)M-1, U.S.N.R.
LOESCH, RUSSELL E., T’38, Capt., Army Chaplain, A.P.O. 644, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.

LIDER, KENNETH A., B’34/36, Lt., Army, Overseas.
HURLEY, HENRY F., L’24, Sgt., Army, A.P.O. 887, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.

KURLANSKY, PHILLIP M., A’38, Capt., Army, Fort Lawton, Wash.
KULLONEN, ARMAS S., A’39/G’41, PFC, ASTP, B. U. School of Medicine, 80 E. Concord St., Boston, Mass.
LEINING, ROBERT, C’46, S/Sgt., O.C.S., Fort Sill, Okla.
LARSON, ARTHUR J., B’39, T/5, A.P.O. 763, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.
LATHAM, LEON D., L’28, Major, Chief of Claims Branch, Judge Advocate's Dept., First Service Command, Boston, Mass.
LAWLER, RICHARD F., B’39, Lt. (j.g.), U.S.N.R., recently returned after 2 years in Pacific area.
LENIHAN, CORNELIUS J., B’36, Y2/c, Naval Receiving Station, Bath, Maine.
LEVINE, SEYMOUR, B’46, Pvt., Sect. U (54), Class 18, 3704th A.A.F., Base Unit, Keesler Field, Miss.
ENS. CHARLES J. LAKE, C'46

LAKE, CHARLES J., C'46, Ensign, U.S.N.R., Naval Air Training Station, Corpus Christi, Tex.

LOFGREN, CLARENCE, B'33/34, Capt., Navy.

McELANEY, JAMES, JR., B'38, S/Sgt., 6th Air Force in Caribbean area.

McGRAVEY, JAMES A., B'36, Pvt., HQ Co., 1st Bn., 379th Inf.

McINTOSH, JAMES C., A', PFC, Signal Service, A.P.O. J20, C/o P.M., New York, N. Y.

McKENNEY, ALFRED E., Former Fac., Col., Fort Benning, Ga.

MCKIE, WILLIAM C., JR., B'40, Ensign, Army, Co. D., 29th M.T.B., 2 plat., Camp Grant, Yuma, Ariz.

MACALOUSKI, MAX F., C'41, Glider Pilot, Bowman Field, Louisville, Ky.

MADDOCKS, CHARLES R., B'37/38, Lt. (j.g.), U.S.N.R.—D-V(S).

MAHONEY, JOHN T., B'34, Lt., Army, overseas.

MANNING, WILLIAM J., A'47, Army Air Corps. (885 Mass. Ave., Cambridge, Mass.)

MASI, DONATO, B'44, Pvt., member of a Fighter bomber crew. (French St., Watertown, Mass.)

MENOVICH, CHARLES, B'33, Sgt., 13th Bomber Command in South Pacific. (196 Poplar St., Chelsea, Mass.)

MILLER, DAVID, A'31, Army.

MINTZ, JERRY, C'43, Corp., Army Air Base, Richmond, Va.

MORROW, JAMES T., A'40/G'41, Army. (701 Washington St., Gloucester, Mass.)

MURPHY, JOHN E., A'22, Army. (3 Swampspect Ave., Peabody, Mass.)

MYRICK, HARRISON D., B'37/38, Pvt., Army, 102d General Hosp., Camp Grant, Ill.

NATHAN, WALTER L., Fac., Associate field representative, O.W.I., New York, N. Y.

NOWAK, EDWARD, JR., C'46, Corp., Aerial Reconnaissance Photographer, 14th A.A.F. in China.

ORENSTEIN, ISADORE, C'42, Lt., Army, overseas.

PAPPALARDO, PATRICK J., E'41, Military Police. (24 Allen St., Lawrence, Mass.)

PAYNE, GEORGE W., B'29, somewhere in China.

PELLETT, ALCIDE D., M'39, Lt., Army Med. Corps. (135 Nye St., New Bedford, Mass.)

PETEY, RAYMOND M., B'44, V-12 Unit, Navy.

PETTINE, RAYMOND V., L'43, Petty Officer, Navy. (33 Platt St., Fall River, Mass.)

PISTOCHI, FRANK J., A'42, Navy. (95 Summer St., Lawrence, Mass.)

PLUFF, ARTHUR L., A'41, Lt. (j.g.), Marine Base, Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C.

POTTER, GEORGE G., B'43, Sgmt., A.W., A.T.C., Station 5, Unit C, A.A.F., Great Falls, Mont.

PRESTON, RICHARD A., E'40, Ensign, U.S.N., Melville, R. I.

QUEENIN, RAYMOND J., B'24, on detail of War Manpower Commission to Foreign Economic Adm. Is helping set up office of Foreign Surplus Property Disposal.

QUINN, JOHN E., B'38, Lt., Army, serving on Guadalcanal.

RAINE, SYDNEY, B'40, G-2AF Hq., A.P.O. 512, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.

READ, ROBERT J., E'42, Lt., Training officer, U.S.C.G. School of Amphibious Warfare, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

RICHETT, BRUNO C., G'42, Pvt., Co. D., 29th M.T.B., 2 plat., Camp Grant, Ill.

Page Fifty-Nine
THE ROLL OF HONOR

A supplementary list of the members of the Boston University family who have made the Supreme Sacrifice in the service of Our Country:

DRABINOWICZ, FRANCIS P., E'41, Lt. (j.g.), U.S.N.R. Previously listed as Missing in Action, but now included in the list of Killed in Action.

FARMER, NOYES D., JR., C'39, Lt. (j.g.), U.S.N. Killed in Action in South Pacific, previous to July 29.

HEALY, ROBERT B., L'25, Capt., Marine Corps. Died June 5 in Marine Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y.

MURRAY, GORDON P., L'43, Army Air Corps. Killed in Action when Flying Fortress exploded and caught fire while 3,000 feet up in air, May 21.

WATSON, LEISTER DOW, M'28/Former Faculty, P.A. Surgeon, U.S.C.G. Died June 14 in U. S. Public Health Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROBBINS, CARL C., B'47, Pvt., A.A.F., Queensboro, N. C.

ROBINS, FRANK D., E'41, Lt., Intelligence Officer, 8th A.A.F., England. (54 Breed St., Lynn, Mass.)

ROSEN, ALFRED H., G'37, Lt., U.S.N. (79 Deering Rd., Dorchester, Mass.)

ROSENBERG, JACK H., Mus'41, Corp., Army, Southwest Pacific. (55 Thatcher St., Brookline, Mass.)

ROBBINS, CARL C., B'47, Pvt., A.A.F., Queensboro, N. C.

ROBINS, FRANK D., E'41, Lt., Intelligence Officer, 8th A.A.F., England. (54 Breed St., Lynn, Mass.)

ROSEN, ALFRED H., G'37, Lt., U.S.N. (79 Deering Rd., Dorchester, Mass.)

ROSENBERG, JACK H., Mus'41, Corp., Army, Southwest Pacific. (55 Thatcher St., Brookline, Mass.)

ROBBINS, CARL C., B'47, Pvt., A.A.F., Queensboro, N. C.

ROBINS, FRANK D., E'41, Lt., Intelligence Officer, 8th A.A.F., England. (54 Breed St., Lynn, Mass.)

ROSEN, ALFRED H., G'37, Lt., U.S.N. (79 Deering Rd., Dorchester, Mass.)

ROSENBERG, JACK H., Mus'41, Corp., Army, Southwest Pacific. (55 Thatcher St., Brookline, Mass.)

SIMARD, JOHN J., C'46, Y2/c, N.T.S. (Turbo-Electric), Syracuse, N.Y.

SIMPSON, JOHN D., B'42, Lt., A.A.F. (70 Parker Hill Ave., Roxbury, Mass.)

SINCLAIR, WALLACE E., E33/37, Lt.(j.g.), U.S.N.R.-D-V(S).

SMITH, HERBERT T., JR., C'43, Sgt., Army Air Corps, aerial photographer. (67 Summer St., Everett, Mass.)

SMITH, S. RAYNOR, Jr., T'42, Army Chaplain.

SNOW, CHARLES P., C'43, Lt., Inf., South Pacific area.

TOBIN, MARTIN H., L'27/28, Army.

SOLDIER'S MEDAL

Awarded by the United States Army.

LYNCH, RICHARD F., Capt., B'37, "for excellent work done when the 'Susan B. Anthony' was fatally damaged off the coast of France on June 7, 1944".

VANBUSKIRK, GILBERT F., C'47, Corppl., Armorser, 8th A.A.F. Composite Command Station in England. (65 E. Wyoming Ave., Melrose, Mass.)

WALLACE, CHARLES W., A'25, Major, Army, overseas.
ORDER OF THE PURPLE HEART

Awarded by the United States Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard for "Military Merit" (wounded in action)

BELI, ROBERT C., Lt., E'44.
CLINCH, GEORGE P., Lt., B'43.
LINCOLN, RICHARD F., S/Sgt., B'41, additional bronze Oak Leaf Cluster.
MACLENNAN, DUNCAN J., Capt., B'41.
MATTHEWS, MILTON A., Maj., B'39.
MERLINGO, FRANK A., T/Sgt., B'44, Oak Leaf Cluster.
POSNER, ROBERT, Sgt., B'41.
SHOEMAKER, WILLIAM, Capt., B'42, Gold Star in lieu of second medal.

ARMY NURSES' CORPS

CARDELLA, ROSE L., E'43, 2d Lt., Fort Devens, Mass.
ORDWAY, EVELYN R., A'41. (151 Chapin St., Hudson, Mass.)
SIEGEL, LOIS M., Sar'42, Station Hospital, Fort Dix, N. J.

WALTER, THEODORE, B'46, A/S, U.S.N.R. Seet. 1609, Pre-midshipmen’s School, Asbury Park, N. J.
WATERS, JOHN, JR., B'47, A/S, Co. 139, Unit C, U.S.N.T.C., Sampson, N. Y.
WEISMAN, WILLIAM S., E'37, Corpl., 7th Genl. Hospital.

WELCH, WILLIAM N., B'37, Corpl., A.P.O. 634, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.
WHITE, BICKFORD C., G'46, Lt. (j.g.), Pilot of a carrier-based Pacific bomber.
WILDBERGER, WILLIAM C., A'37/M'40, Capt., M.C., Station Hosp., Camp Butler, N. C.

ARMY NURSES' CORPS

CARDELLA, ROSE L., E'43, 2d Lt., Fort Devens, Mass.
ORDWAY, EVELYN R., A'41. (151 Chapin St., Hudson, Mass.)
SIEGEL, LOIS M., Sar'42, Station Hospital, Fort Dix, N. J.

WALTER, THEODORE, B'46, A/S, U.S.N.R. Seet. 1609, Pre-midshipmen’s School, Asbury Park, N. J.
WATERS, JOHN, JR., B'47, A/S, Co. 139, Unit C, U.S.N.T.C., Sampson, N. Y.
WEISMAN, WILLIAM S., E'37, Corpl., 7th Genl. Hospital.

WELCH, WILLIAM N., B'37, Corpl., A.P.O. 634, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.
WHITE, BICKFORD C., G'46, Lt. (j.g.), Pilot of a carrier-based Pacific bomber.
WILDBERGER, WILLIAM C., A'37/M'40, Capt., M.C., Station Hosp., Camp Butler, N. C.

ARMY NURSES' CORPS

CARDELLA, ROSE L., E'43, 2d Lt., Fort Devens, Mass.
ORDWAY, EVELYN R., A'41. (151 Chapin St., Hudson, Mass.)
SIEGEL, LOIS M., Sar'42, Station Hospital, Fort Dix, N. J.

WALTER, THEODORE, B'46, A/S, U.S.N.R. Seet. 1609, Pre-midshipmen’s School, Asbury Park, N. J.
WATERS, JOHN, JR., B'47, A/S, Co. 139, Unit C, U.S.N.T.C., Sampson, N. Y.
WEISMAN, WILLIAM S., E'37, Corpl., 7th Genl. Hospital.

WELCH, WILLIAM N., B'37, Corpl., A.P.O. 634, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.
WHITE, BICKFORD C., G'46, Lt. (j.g.), Pilot of a carrier-based Pacific bomber.
WILDBERGER, WILLIAM C., A'37/M'40, Capt., M.C., Station Hosp., Camp Butler, N. C.

ARMY NURSES' CORPS

CARDELLA, ROSE L., E'43, 2d Lt., Fort Devens, Mass.
ORDWAY, EVELYN R., A'41. (151 Chapin St., Hudson, Mass.)
SIEGEL, LOIS M., Sar'42, Station Hospital, Fort Dix, N. J.

WALTER, THEODORE, B'46, A/S, U.S.N.R. Seet. 1609, Pre-midshipmen’s School, Asbury Park, N. J.
WATERS, JOHN, JR., B'47, A/S, Co. 139, Unit C, U.S.N.T.C., Sampson, N. Y.
WEISMAN, WILLIAM S., E'37, Corpl., 7th Genl. Hospital.

WELCH, WILLIAM N., B'37, Corpl., A.P.O. 634, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.
WHITE, BICKFORD C., G'46, Lt. (j.g.), Pilot of a carrier-based Pacific bomber.
WILDBERGER, WILLIAM C., A'37/M'40, Capt., M.C., Station Hosp., Camp Butler, N. C.

ARMY NURSES' CORPS

CARDELLA, ROSE L., E'43, 2d Lt., Fort Devens, Mass.
ORDWAY, EVELYN R., A'41. (151 Chapin St., Hudson, Mass.)
SIEGEL, LOIS M., Sar'42, Station Hospital, Fort Dix, N. J.
NAVY WOMEN'S RESERVE

CAMPBELL, MILDRED E., Sar’33, A.E.S.-45, W.R. Bks. 225-1, M.C.A.S., Cherry Point, N. C.
FARRELL, KATHLEEN R., E’39, Corpl., U.S.M.C. Air Station, Quantico, Va.
FRADD, MARJORIE, Sar’41, C.A.A. Control Tower, Bowman Field, Louisville, Ky.
GORHAM, MRS. JANICE GRAHAM, P’39, Navy C.A.A.—W.T.S. School, Pittsfield, Me.
ROHDE, ELEANOR M., E’45, Lt., O.C.S., Marine Corps Women’s Reserve Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

MARY R. KENNEALLY, P’40

WOOD, MARJORIE, P’42, Sgt., Control Tower Operator, Congaree Air Field, Columbia, S. C.

SPARS

MAGUIRE, MAUREEN A., E’43, Ensign. (26 Wiltshire Rd., Newton, Mass.)

WASPS

BALDWIN, JANE T., P’41, Avenger Field, Sweetwater, Tex.

AMERICAN RED CROSS

DRAKE, BARBARA F., P’38, Hospital recreation worker in England.
EVANS, CAROLYN B., P’38, foreign service.
FITCH, WILLIAM G., II, G’36, Asst. field director.

A GOOD STORY

Hartford Beaumont, L’99, came into the office recently with this story. A teacher of English in the Provincial schools of Bulacan Province, Philippine Islands, wrote to the Director of Education in Manila as follows:
Sir: I desire to resignate my position. My reasons are that my works are too many and my salaries too few; beside which the Division Superintendent makes me much lovin's, to which I always answer, "O, not, O, not!"

FRIEDMAN, RUTH V., A’36, Asst. field dir., A.P.O. 514, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.
GIBBONS, MABEL M., Sar’21, A.P.O. 887, c/o P.M., New York, N. Y.
HOOD, ELEANOR D., Mus’36, Staff asst. in England.
KENNEALLY, MARY R., P’40, Hospital sccy. in England. (267 School St., Belmont, Mass.)
MALMGREN, LOIS, P’46, National Hdqrs., Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
WESTPHAL, CLARENCE A., G’28, Off. of Field Dir., Camp Kilmer, N. J.
WOLK, MARTHA, SW’41, Social worker in England.

SILVER STAR

Awarded by the United States Army and Navy for "Gallantry in Action".
GREEN, EDGAR A., Lt., B’40.
McGRATH, ARTHUR W., Lt., E’41.
ROOSEVELT, JAMES, Lt.Col., L’33.
SHEA, JOHN, Lt., A’42.
BOSTON UNIVERSITY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
20 BEACON STREET, BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS
Telephone COMmonwealth 6070

General Officers
CHARLES F. COLLINS, A'12, President
JAY R. BENTON, L'11, Vice-President
MRS. JOHN L. DEARING, A'90, Vice-President
JUDSON REA BUTLER, G'40, Executive Alumni Secretary

JOHN M. WILCOX, M'18, Vice-President
E. RAY SPEARE, A'94, Treasurer
MRS. JOHN P. MARSHALL, A'16, Rec. Sec'y

HORACE G. THACKER, B'30, Assistant Executive Alumni Secretary

Directors

College of Liberal Arts
KATHERINE BACON, '15
ALBERT MORRIS, '25
ROBERT E. MOODY, '22

College of Business Administration
JAMES S. GOVE, '17
RICHARD LOMBARD, '31
HAROLD T. YOUNG, '27

College of Practical Arts and Letters
DOROTHY A. DICKINSON, '35
MRS. RAYMOND B. ROBERTS, '33
MRS. CHARLES A. TIERNEY, '36

College of Music
RODNEY F. MAY, '36
DORIC J. ALVIANI, '37
LUTHER F. THOMPSON, '37

Sargent College of Physical Education
VIRGINIA ARNOLD, '36
ELEANOR KITCHIN, '10
MRS. LOUIS SPAULDING, '18

School of Theology
LESLIE H. JOHNSON, '41
HOBART F. GOEWEY, '36
EMIL M. HARTL, T'31

School of Medicine
SANFORD B. HOOKER, '13
HELMUTH ULRICH, '11
FRANK E. BARTON, '24

School of Education
GEORGE K. MAKECHNIE, '29
WAYNE M. PHILBROOK, '29
LENA B. LORD, '30

School of Social Work
LLOYD MILLER, '41
DONALD W. MORELAND, '41
MARY C. ROBINSON, '39

Graduate School
OLIVE B. MACPHERSON, '38
JAMES W. KELLEY, '41
GEORGE M. SNEATH, '26

DEPARTMENTAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS

Epsilon Chapter, College of Liberal Arts. President, Albert Morris; Secretary, Mrs. Kenneth R. Parsons.

College of Business Administration Alumni Club. President, Rufus Stickney.

College of Practical Arts and Letters Alumnae Association. President, Mrs. Charles A. Tierney; Secretary, Miss Loretta Mannix.

College of Music Alumni Association. President, James Carmody; Secretary, Mrs. Helen Kruger Lerner.

Alumnae Association of Sargent College of Physical Education. President, Mrs. Bess Myers Dawkins; Secretary, Miss Velma Murdock.

Alumni Association of the Graduate School. Secretary, Miss Olive B. MacPherson.

Alumni Association of the School of Theology. President, Charles T. Allen; Secretary, Clarence F. Avey

Boston University Law School Alumni Association. President, John J. O'Hare; Secretary, Edward M. Dangel.

Alumni Association of the School of Medicine. President, Dr. Eleanor B. Ferguson-Howard; Secretary, Frank E. Barton.

School of Education Alumni Association. President, Miss Lena B. Lord; Secretary, Miss Ida M. Johnston.

Alumni Association of the School of Social Work. President, Donald W. Moreland; Secretary, Frances G. McMahon.
BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Legal Title: the Trustees of Boston University

DANIEL L. MARSH, Ph.D., J.U.D., L.H.D., LL.D., President of the University
688 Boylston Street, Boston 16, Massachusetts

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS
Courses of study leading to the degrees of A.B. and S.B.
Saturday, late afternoon, and evening courses for adult students.
RALPH W. TAYLOR, Dean, 688 Boylston Street

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
WILLIAM G. SUTCLIFFE, Dean, 685 Commonwealth Avenue, at Granby Street

COLLEGE OF PRACTICAL ARTS AND LETTERS
T. LAWRENCE DAVIS, Dean, 27 Garrison Street

SARGENT COLLEGE OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION
A four-year course in the science and practice of Physical Education, leading to the degree of B.S. in Physical Education. Open only to women.
NELSON S. WALKE, Dean, 6 Everett Street, Cambridge

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY
Courses for the pastorate and missions, leading to the degrees of S.T.B., S.T.M., and Th.D. Courses in the Division of Religious Education leading to the degrees of M.R.E. and D.R.E. Open only to college graduates.
EARL B. MARLATT, Dean, 72 Mt. Vernon Street

SCHOOL OF LAW
Courses leading to the degrees of LL.B. and L.L.M.
ELWOOD H. HETTRICK, Dean, 11 Ashburton Place

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
Courses leading to the degree of M.D.
CHARLES F. BRANCH, Dean, 80 East Concord Street

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
Collegiate and graduate vocational training for normal school graduates and for others, leading to the degrees of B.S. in Ed., Ed.M., and Ed.D. New College Curriculum. Division of Religious Education. Division of Nursing Education. Harvard-Boston University Extension courses.
DONALD D. DURRELL, Dean, 84 Exeter Street

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK
Graduate training in professional social work, leading to the degree of M.S. in S.S.
RICHARD K. CONANT, Dean, 84 Exeter Street

GRADUATE SCHOOL
Courses leading to the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D.
CHESTER M. ALTER, Acting Dean, 84 Exeter Street

SUMMER TERM
Beginning in May and continuing for twelve weeks, divided into two sessions of six weeks each. Courses leading to degrees offered by the University.
ATLEE L. PERCY, Director, 688 Boylston Street

Total Enrollment 10,749 students

For information concerning any Department, address the Dean of the Department.
For other information, address the President of the University.