Panel discussion: the EU-US-China triangle

Pangratis, Angelos
Boston University Institute for Human Sciences

http://hdl.handle.net/2144/20078

Boston University
ANGELOS PANGRATIS is Deputy Head of Delegation of the European Commission in the United States. From 2003 to 2005 he was Ambassador and Head of Delegation for the European Commission's Mission to Argentina, and from 1998 to 2003, he was Head of Unit responsible for relations with China, Hong Kong, Macao, Taiwan, South Korea and Mongolia. He has held several other positions during his distinguished career in the European Commission, and he has lectured at universities in the Czech Republic, France, and Korea. He holds a doctorate in International Economics, Monetary Politics and Finance from the University of Paris I, Sorbonne.

RESPONDENTS:

SHELLEY HAWKS is Assistant Professor of Social Sciences at the College of General Studies, Boston University. Her primary research and teaching fields include the history of 20th century China, US-China relations during the Cold War; Mao Zedong and the assault on tradition during the Cultural Revolution; and creativity and protest in contemporary Chinese life. An historian by training, she worked previously in the commercial art field and in the Asiatic Department of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. Her book-in-progress focuses on the experience of artists during the Cultural Revolution. She received her doctorate from Brown University.

YUAN-YUAN SHEN is currently Research Fellow at Harvard University's Center for the Environment China Project, Lecturer in the Department of Economics at Brandeis University, and Visiting Professor at Tsinghua University's School of Law. She is a graduate of the People's University in Beijing and Harvard Law School and holds a doctorate in law from the University of Wisconsin. She has written extensively on human rights and women's issues in contemporary China.