Panel discussion: being Jewish in Germany today

Dischereit, Esther
Boston University Institute for Human Sciences

http://hdl.handle.net/2144/20083

Boston University
ESTHER DISCHEREIT is a prolific writer of poems, novels, plays and essays, and has played a prominent literary and cultural role in Germany since the 1980s. Her work draws on her experience of growing up Jewish in postwar Germany, focusing mainly on the complex relations between perpetrators and victims and the German-Jewish identity of women living under the shadow of the Holocaust. Mit Eichmann and der Börse: In Jüdischen und anderen Angelegenheiten appeared in 2001.

JEFFREY PECK is Professor at Georgetown University, Program for Communication, Culture and Technology, and a Senior Fellow at the American Institute for Contemporary German Studies. He has written extensively on national and minority identities in Germany, especially Jewish life and literature in contemporary Germany and contemporary responses to the Holocaust. He is author of the forthcoming Being Jewish in the New Germany, 2006.

MODERATOR: SABINE VON MERING, Assistant Professor of German and Assistant Director of the Center for German and European Studies at Brandeis University.