2006-10-12

Poetry reading and conversation: poetry and nations

Hartwig, Julia
Boston University Institute for Human Sciences

http://hdl.handle.net/2144/20124

Boston University
The Institute for Human Sciences at Boston University cordially invites you to Poetry and Nations

SPECIAL EVENT

October 12
Thursday 6:00 P.M.

Colloquium Room
Photonics Center
8 Saint Mary’s Street
9th Floor

In cooperation with the literary journal AGNI and the Polish American Networking Organization of New England (PANO)

Julia Hartwig occupies a prominent place in the Polish literary landscape. She is the recipient of numerous fellowships and awards, including the Thornton Wilder Prize from the Translation Center at Columbia University, as well as the Austrian Georg Trakl Prize for poetry. Hartwig has translated Apollinaire, Rimbaud, Max Jacob, Cendrars and Supervielle, and published studies of Apollinaire and Gerard de Nerval.

Rosanna Warren is Emma MacLachlan Metcalf Professor of the Humanities at Boston University and a Chancellor of the American Academy of Poets. She is the author of Departure (2003), Stained Glass (1993), Each Leaf Shines Separate (1984), and Snow Day (1981). She is a contributing editor of Seneca Review and the poetry editor of Daedalus and was recently elected to the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

Free and open to the public | Reception to follow

Inquiries: 617-358-2778 or ihs@bu.edu | © Boston University. Aniaart Design 2006