2005-12-01

Panel discussion: the future of Europe

Lieven, Anatol

Boston University Institute for Human Sciences

http://hdl.handle.net/2144/20129

Boston University
ANATOL LIEVEN is Senior Research Fellow at the New America Foundation and former senior associate at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He previously covered Central Europe for The Financial Times, Pakistan, Afghanistan, the former Soviet Union and Russia for The Times (London); and India as a freelance journalist. He was also an editor at the International Institute for Strategic Studies in London, where he worked for the Eastern Services of the BBC. Mr. Lieven is the author of numerous books on foreign policy, including The Baltic Revolution: Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and the Path to Independence (1993), which won the George Orwell Prize for Political Writing and the Yale University Press Governors’ Award. His latest book is America Right and Wrong: An Anatomy of American Nationalism (2004).

ALEKSANDER SMOLAR is President of the Stefan Batory Foundation in Warsaw, an independent private Polish foundation established by American financier and philanthropist George Soros, and Senior Researcher at the Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique in Paris. His essays and other writings have appeared in journals throughout Europe and the United States. Between 1971 and 1989 he was political émigré in Italy, France, and England, active on behalf of opposition movements in his native Poland and other Eastern European countries. In 1974 he founded the political quarterly Aneks which he served as editor-in-chief until its closure in 1990. From 1989 to 1990, he was advisor to first democratically elected prime minister of Poland, Tadeusz Mazowiecki, and in 1992-93 he served as advisor for foreign policy to Prime Minister Hanna Suchocka.