THE FACULTY.

WILLIAM F. WARREN, LL.D., PRESIDENT.

- I. TISDALE TALBOT, M.D., 66 Marlborough Street, DEAN, Professor of Surgery.
- CONRAD WESSELHOEFT, M.D., 302 Columbus Avenue, Professor of Pathology and Therapeutics.
- HENRY C. AHLBORN, M.D., 94 Charles Street, Professor of Pathology and Pathological Anatomy.
- J. HEBER SMITH, M.D., 279 Dartmouth Street, Professor of Materia Medica.
- WALTER WESSELHOEFT, M.D., Cambridge, Professor of Obstetrics.
- HENRY C. ANGELL, M.D., 16 Beacon Street, Professor of Ophthalmology.
- HERBERT C. CLAPP, M.D., 11 Columbus Square, Professor of Diseases of the Chest.
- EDWIN E. CALDER, A.B., Providence, R I., Professor of Chemistry.
- DENTON G. WOODVINE, M.D., 739 Tremont Street, Professor of Diseases of the Throat.
- HOWARD P. BELLOWS, M.D., 118 Boylston Street, Professor of Otology.
- ADALINE B. CHURCH, M.D., 168 W. Newton Street, Professor of Gynecology.
- In addition to the above, the following constitute the full faculty:—
- GEORGE R. SOUTHWICK, M.D., 136 Boylston Street, Assistant Professor of Obstetrics.
- JOHN P. SUTHERLAND, M.D., 10 Park Square, Lecturer on Anatomy.
- JAMES B. BELL, M.D., 178 Commonwealth Avenue, Lecturer on Surgery.
- JOSEPH W. HAYWARD, M.D., Taunton, Lecturer on Fractures, Dislocations, and Gunshot Wounds.
- WILLIAM L. JACKSON, M.D., 84 Dudley Street, Lecturer on Electro-Therapeutics.
- ELIJAH U. JONES, M.D., Taunton, Lecturer on Sanitary Science.
- J. WILKINSON CLAPP, M.D., 10 Park Square, Lecturer on Pharmaceutics.
- JOHN A. ROCKWELL, M.D., Norwich, Conn., Lecturer on Physiology.
- HORACE PACKARD, M.D., Hotel Chatham, Lecturer on Pathological Anatomy, and Director of the Museum.
- JOHN L. COFFIN, M.D., 10 Park Square, Lecturer on Diseases of the Skin.
- FRED B. PERCY, M.D., Brookline, Lecturer on Materia Medica.
- JAMES HEDENBERG, M.D., Medford, Lecturer on Diseases of Children.
- N. EMMONS PAINE, M.D., Westborough, Lecturer on Insanity.
- EDWARD P. COLBY, M.D., 10 Park Square, Lecturer on Nervous Diseases.
- JOHN ORDRONAUX, M.D., LL.D., New York, Lecturer on Medical Jurisprudence.
- ALONZO BOOTHBY, M.D., 260 Clarendon Street, Lecturer on Surgical Diagnosis.
- JAMES UTLEY, M.D., Newton, Lecturer on Minor Surgery.
- CHARLES L. NICHOLS, M.D., Worcester, Lecturer on History and Methodology of Medicine.
- JOHN H. PAYNE, M.D., 415 Columbus Avenue, Lecturer on Diseases of the Eye.
- WINFIELD S. SMITH, M.D., 671 Tremont Street, Demonstrator and Lecturer on Anatomy.
- ALONZO L. KENNEDY, M.D., 136 Boylston Street, Assistant in Pathology and Therapeutics.
- FRANK C. RICHARDSON, M.D., 1 Saratoga Place, Assistant in Nervous Diseases.
- FRANCES H. COLE, M.D., 701 Tremont Street, Assistant in Obstetrics.
- WALTER H. WHITE, M.D., 450 Columbus Avenue, Librarian.
- CLARA E. GARY, M.D., 767 Tremont Street, Assistant Demonstrator of Anatomy.
- A. HOWARD POWERS, M.D., 214 W. Springfield Street, Assistant Demonstrator of Anatomy.

---

THIS School was the first in America to present in combination the following essential elements of a thorough reform in medical education:—

First, The requirement that the candidate for admission either present a college diploma, or pass a prescribed entrance examination.

Second, The provision of a carefully graded minimum course of instruction covering three full scholastic years.

Third, The provision of a four-years' course for those who wish to pursue their studies with special thoroughness and with suitable leisure for collateral reading and to obtain professional experience under direction of the Faculty.

Fourth, The requirement that every student pass a successful examination upon the work of each year before promotion to the next.

Fifth, The requirement, as a condition of graduation, not merely that the candidate shall have studied medicine at least three full years, but also that he shall have attended a reputable medical school not less than three years.

Sixth, The restoration of the degrees of Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery, to be attained at the end of the third year by those who take a four-years' course.

Seventh, A provision for Visiting and Examining Boards independent of the teaching Faculty.

Eighth, The repudiation of all sex-disabilities either in teaching or learning.

ADMISSION.

Candidates who have taken their first degree in Arts, Philosophy, or Science are admitted without examination on exhibition of their diplomas to the Board of Examiners. All others, before matriculation, are examined in the following branches:—

1. Orthography, English Composition, and Penmanship, by means of a page written at the time and place of examination.

2. Arithmetic, Geography, and English Grammar, if there be doubt whether the candidate has sufficient attainment therein.

3. Elementary Physics, on so much as is found in Stewart's Primer of Physics.

4. Latin, a translation from Harkness's Latin Reader at sight being required, and a knowledge of declensions, conjugations, syntax, etc.

Entrance examinations will be held in June and October of each year, and all conditions must be removed before entering upon the studies of the School.

An acquaintance with Greek, German, and French is also of great importance in the study of medicine, and the matriculant receives credit in the record of his examination for any attainments in these languages.

Candidates must be at least nineteen years old, or, if they intend to pursue a four-years' course, within six months of nineteen.

Examinations for matriculation will be held at the College building, East Concord Street, on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 10 and 11, 1887, at 11 A.M., and on Thursday and Friday, June 7 and 8, 1888, at 11 A.M.

SCHOOL YEAR, 1887-88.

The year is divided into three terms, as follows:—

The First Term begins Thursday, Oct. 13, 1887, and continues to Saturday, Dec. 24, 1887, inclusive. Thanksgiving recess, three days. A vacation of eight days follows the term.

The Second Term begins Monday, Jan. 2, 1888, and continues to Friday, March 9, 1888, inclusive. Recess, Feb. 22, one day. A vacation of nine days follows the term.

The Third Term begins Monday, March 19, 1888, and continues to Wednesday, June 6, 1888, inclusive. Fast Day and Decoration Day recesses, one day each.

In the following tables, the figures which follow the branches taught in the several terms, indicate the usual number of exercises weekly.

INSTRUCTION.

The length of the courses adopted renders it practicable to present a most thorough and comprehensive curriculum of study, — one sufficient to impart to the student a complete scientific as well as practical medical education. In each course the various branches are taught in a succession, which, after several years' trial, approves itself to the Faculty as natural and most promotive of thoroughness. To each term and each year certain studies are assigned, in which the student is required to become proficient before entering upon more advanced studies.

POST-GRADUATE COURSE.

Physicians who have received the medical degree will be admitted to the School, and allowed to attend such lectures as they choose, and will be entitled to receive a certificate of such attendance. In order to obtain the diploma of the School, they must, by examination, satisfy the Faculty that they have fulfilled all the requirements of the School for graduation.

SPECIAL COURSES.

Suitable persons may be admitted to such course or courses of instruction in the School as they may select, and their attendance may be certified to upon their tickets. Such special courses will not count as any part of the three or four years' courses.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY.

A new Chemical Laboratory has been arranged and fitted up in a thorough and convenient manner, so that every student can perform the necessary experiments and acquire the practice in manipulation essential to a knowledge of chemistry.

CLINICAL INSTRUCTION.

Daily clinics are held in the College building in the Medical, Surgical, Gynæcological, and Dental Departments, and twice a week in diseases of the Heart, Lungs, Throat, and Skin, and four times a week in diseases of the Eye and Ear, and of Children. In these, as in other departments, special efforts will be made to familiarize the students with the best methods of examining patients, and to instruct them in all the details of diagnosis, prognosis, and treatment.

Before graduation, all students will be required to furnish satisfactory written reports of at least twenty medical, five surgical, and three obstetric cases attended personally by them. They must also report in writing from each of the other clinical departments five cases seen by them.

Physicians are urgently requested to send to the College clinics during the lecture sessions such cases of general or special disease as possess unusual interest or require particular skill and experience in their treatment. All operations and examinations before the class will be gratuitous.

THE MASSACHUSETTS HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL.

This commodious structure is in close proximity to the School, and in the arrangements of its wards, its ventilation, light, and heat, is unsurpassed by any hospital in the country. The students will have as free access to its wards as practicable, in order that they may become familiar with disease in its various forms, and clinical lectures and instruction will be given upon a variety of diseases.

The hospital has been recently enlarged at a cost of nearly $100,000. It has special facilities for the care and comfort of the patients, and has one of the finest operating theatres in the country. A large number of rare and instructive surgical operations are performed in the presence of the students, who are, in many cases, allowed to assist.

WESTBOROUGH INSANE HOSPITAL.

This fine Hospital, established and supported by the State provides for four hundred patients, all of whom receive homœopathic treatment. It affords excellent opportunities for the students of this School to obtain clinical instruction in insanity and mental diseases, — a branch of medicine of increasing importance. Arrangements have been made for advanced students to visit the Hospital at stated times, and under the direction of the Superintendent, Dr. N. E. Paine, to study, and familiarize themselves with, the various forms of insanity.

THE CITY HOSPITAL.

During the past year the clinics of this hospital have been opened to all the students of this School — women as well as men. The hospital is but a short distance from the School, and the lecture hours of the senior and middle classes are so arranged, that, without loss of time, these students can be present at all important operations. The great extent of the hospital, and the large number of surgical cases, afford an opportunity of witnessing nearly every variety of surgical operation.

THE HOMŒOPATHIC MEDICAL DISPENSARY.

This institution has three different locations in the city. These are accessible to the students; and, from the large number of patients who resort to this charity daily, there is an excellent opportunity for the practical study of acute and chronic diseases. From fifteen to seventeen thousand cases are annually treated, and from thirty-five to forty thousand prescriptions and domiciliary visits made. Students in the senior year are allowed to visit patients at their homes, and prescribe under the direction and with the aid of the professors.

In addition to the above, there are public and private hospitals which students can obtain permission to visit, and thus familiarize themselves with the various methods of treatment.

DISPENSARY CLINICS.

The following physicians are in attendance in the various departments of the College Dispensary:—

MEDICAL.—Dr. M. F. Styles, Monday; Dr. P. Bender, Tuesday; Dr. Mary Morey, Wednesday; Dr. M. Kent, Thursday; Dr. H. F. Brackett, Friday; Dr. A. McDonald, Saturday.

SURGICAL.—Under the charge of Dr. A. Boothby, who holds a surgical clinic on Monday and Wednesday. Dr. W. S. Smith, Monday and Thursday; Dr. A. H. Powers, Tuesday and Friday; Drs. G. D. Bliss and W. J. Winn, Wednesday and Saturday.

WOMEN'S.—Drs. J. S. Shaw and V. F. Bryant, Monday; Drs. A. B. Church and M. E. Mann, Tuesday; Dr. M. L. Swain, Wednesday; Dr. G. R. Southwick, Thursday; Dr. A. B. Church, Friday; Dr. W. H. White, Saturday.

CHILDREN'S.—Dr. R. A. Lawrence, Monday; Dr. E. S. Getchell, Tuesday; Dr. G. E. Cross, Thursday; Dr. C. E. Gary, Friday.

SKIN.—Dr. G. D. Bliss, Monday; Dr. J. L. Coffin, Thursday.

EYE AND EAR. — Dr. John H. Payne, Monday and Thursday. Dr. A. A. Klein, Tuesday and Friday.

THROAT. — Dr. D. G. Woodvine, Tuesday and Friday.

CHEST. — Dr. H. C. Clapp, Wednesday and Saturday.

NERVOUS. — Dr. F. C. Richardson, Monday and Thursday; Dr. W. O. Ruggles, Tuesday and Friday.

DENTAL. — Dr. A. J. Holland, Monday and Thursday; Dr. C. E. Holmes, Tuesday and Saturday; Dr. F. H. Clock, Wednesday and Friday.

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION.

The distribution of the work of instruction among the various chairs is as follows:—

PATHOLOGY AND THERAPEUTICS.

Professor Conrad Wesselhoest. — Special pathology; description and diagnosis of disease; therapeutics; methods of examining patients, and of determining the appropriate remedy; clinics.

Professor Henry C. Ahlborn. — General pathology, its relation to physiology; pathological anatomy.

Professor Herbert C. Clapp. — Theoretical and practical course in diseases of the heart and lungs; clinical instruction in auscultation and percussion.

Professor D. G. Woodvine. — Theoretical and practical course in laryngoscopy, rhinoscopy, and diseases of the throat.

Dr. E. U. Jones. — Sanitary Science, in its relation to ventilation, drainage, etc.; malaria and malarial diseases.

Dr. Horace Packard. — Pathological anatomy, with illustrations from recent specimens, preparations from the museum, drawings, etc.

Dr. N. Emmons Paine. — Insanity; a didactic course at the College, and clinical instruction at Westborough Insane Hospital.

Dr. Edward P. Colby. — Nervous diseases.

Dr. F. C. Richardson. — Clinical instruction in nervous diseases.

Dr. Alonzo J. Kennedy. — Examinations and quizzes on the lectures and clinics of Professor C. Wesselhoest.

MATERIA MEDICA.

Professor J. Heber Smith. — The toxicological, pathogenetic, and therapeutic relationship of drugs ; the application of homœopathic provings ; the past and present uses of drugs by other than homœopathic practitioners.

Dr. J. W. Clapp. — Practical course on pharmaceutics and medical preparations.

Dr. Fred B. Percy. — As assistant he will lecture and hold frequent oral examinations in this department.

SURGERY.

Professor I. T. Talbot. — General principles of surgery and surgical pathology ; pathological conditions necessitating operations ; surgical operations in detail, descriptions of each ; instruments and their uses ; practical illustrations by operations before the class ; methods of treatment before, during, and after operations ; conservative methods and measures.

Dr. James B. Bell. — Tumors, and special lectures upon operative surgery ; diseases and operations on the genito-urinary organs.

Dr. Joseph W. Hayward. — Fractures and dislocations, their diagnosis, reduction, and subsequent treatment ; gun-shot wounds.

Dr. James Utley. — Minor surgery, splints, bandaging, and surgical applications.

Dr. Alonzo Boothby. — Surgical diagnosis, clinics.

OBSTETRICS.

Professor Walter Wesselhoeft. — Midwifery, discussions of cases reported by students, and other cases from practice ; diseases of pregnancy, and of the puerperal state ; obstetrical therapeutics.

Assistant Professor George R. Southwick. — Systematic course of practical and theoretical midwifery ; operative midwifery, including a full course of operations on the cadaver, and exercises with the manikin. This is a very extensive and important course.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.

Professor A. B. Church. — Menstruation as a normal function, and its deviations, as influenced by habits of life, climate, etc. ; uterine displacements, causes of the same ; diagnosis, and methods of restoration ; the physiology and pathology of the genital organs, including the various forms of uterine and ovarian tumors ; diseases of the mammæ ; hysteria ; leucocythæmia and anæmia.

OPHTHALMOLOGY.

Professor H. C. Angell. — General view of the science ; anatomy and physiology of the eye ; optical defects ; diagnosis, surgical and medical treatment of diseases of the eye, especially such as are likely to come under the care of the general practitioner ; presentation of clinical cases.

Dr. John H. Payne. — Additional lectures on the eye and its diseases ; clinical instruction.

OTOLOGY.

Professor H. P. Bellows. — Special anatomy of the ear ; its normal condition ; methods of examination ; pathological conditions ; diagnosis ; treatment.

PHYSIOLOGY.

Dr. John A. Rockwell. — Scope of human and comparative physiology ; normal organs and functions of the human body ; structural and functional changes in the process of development.

ANATOMY.

Dr. John P. Sutherland. — Human anatomy, general and descriptive ; practical dissections and anatomical demonstrations ; histology ; practical work with the microscope.

Dr. Winfield S. Smith. — Lectures and demonstrations on the cadaver, with superintendence and practical instruction in dissections.

Drs. C. E. Gary and A. Howard Powers. — Superintendence of practical work in the dissecting-room.

HISTORY AND METHODOLOGY OF MEDICINE.

Dr. Charles L. Nichols. — History of theories of disease and health among all nations, from the earliest times to the present ; rise and history of the medical sciences ; the effect on them of influences from without, especially of Lord Bacon's Inductive Philosophy ; the opinions, discoveries, and contributions to the general stock of knowledge of all the great lights in medical history ; the main points in the different systems of medicine ; arguments for the superiority of the homœopathic system ; explanation of its main features, etc.

GENERAL AND MEDICAL CHEMISTRY.

Professor Edwin E. Calder. — The general principles of chemistry, according to the new nomenclature and latest results; descriptions and illustrations of the various chemical processes; experiments, analytical and synthetical; analysis of urine; toxicology; and the preparation of chemical drugs.

Courses in experimental chemistry and chemical manipulation are given in the new laboratory.

SPECIAL LECTURES.

Lectures and instruction on special subjects will be given during the present year, as necessity requires or occasion presents.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The Faculty recommend the following text-books, those in small capitals especially for study, and the others for general reading and reference: —

MATERIA MEDICA. — HUGHES'S PHARMACODYNAMICS; Burt's Physiological Materia Medica; Hahnemann's Materia Medica Pura; Taylor on Poisons; U. S. Dispensary; British Homœopathic Pharmacopœia.

PATHOLOGY AND PATHOLOGICAL ANATOMY. — COAT'S PATHOLOGY; ZIEGLER'S PATHOLOGICAL ANATOMY AND PATHOGENESIS; Green's Pathology and Morbid Anatomy; Thomas on Post-Mortems; Rindfleisch.

PRACTICE. — HUGHES'S THERAPEUTICS; ARNDT'S SYSTEM OF MEDICINE; DaCosta's Diagnosis; Raue; Jousset's Clinical Lectures; Pepper's System of Medicine.

SURGERY. — HELMUTH; Gross; Erichsen; Agnew; Bryant; Smith; Syme; Hamilton on Fractures and Dislocations; Paget's Surgical Pathology; Ranney's Surgical Diagnosis.

OBSTETRICS. — PLAYFAIR; Leavitt; Leischman; Barnes's Obstetrical Operations.

ANATOMY. — GRAY; Hodges's Practical Dissections; Sharpey and Quain; Ellis's Demonstrations.

HISTOLOGY. — FREY ; Schäfer ; Stricker ; Klein.

PHYSIOLOGY. — FOSTER ; Dalton ; Flint ; Kuss ; Martin's Human Body.

CHEMISTRY. — ELIOT AND STORER (Nichols's Abridgment) ; Roscoe and Schorlemmer.

MEDICAL CHEMISTRY. — TYSON ON THE URINE ; Neubauer and Vogel.

HISTORY AND METHODOLOGY. — HAHNEMANN'S ORGANON ; Dudgeon's Lectures on Homœopathy ; Russell's History and Heroes of the Art of Medicine ; Joslin's Principles of Homœopathy ; C. Wesselhoeft's Law of Similars ; Pope's Homœopathy, its Principles, Method, and Future. Dake's Therapeutic Methods ; Ameke.

DISEASES OF THE CHEST. — CLAPP'S AUSCULTATION AND PERCUSSION ; ARNDT'S SYSTEM OF MEDICINE, Vol. I. ; DaCosta's Diagnosis.

GYNÆCOLOGY. — LUDLAM ; Thomas ; Barnes ; Emmet.

PÆDOLOGY. — SMITH ; Duncan ; Vogel.

OPHTHALMOLOGY. — ANGELL ; Stellwag ; Wells ; Carter ; Graefe and Saemisch's Handbook.

OTOLOGY. — WINSLOW ; Houghton ; Roosa.

INSANITY. — WORCESTER.

MEDICAL JURISPRUDENCE. — Ordonaux ; Taylor ; Guy's Forensic Medicine.

Arrangements have been made with Otis Clapp & Son to furnish to students all the text-books used in the School at the lowest net cash prices.

EXAMINATIONS.

The first part of the lecture is often devoted to a brief oral examination or résumé of the principal subjects treated in the preceding lecture. In several chairs the assistant meets the class once or twice a week, and carefully reviews the subject of the preceding lectures, explaining any doubtful points. Quiz classes have been organized among the students for mutual improvement, and they have proved serviceable in more thoroughly impressing the instruction upon the student's mind.

At the end of each term an examination is held on the studies finished during the term. The student is required to complete the studies of one year, before entering upon those of the next. Should he, however, fail in one, or at most, two studies, having passed the others creditably, he will be allowed till the end of the next term to complete his examination. The final examinations of the senior year are held at stated times during the last term preceding Commencement. After the final examination in each chair, the student receives a card stating the percentage he has therein attained. Fifty per cent will be required from each chair in order to pass; but an average of seventy per cent from all the chairs will be required, in order to enable a student to graduate.

LIBRARIES, READING-ROOMS, ETC.

The following are open to the student without charge:—

1. The Library of the School contains about twenty-five hundred volumes, comprising some of the most recent and valuable works in medicine and the collateral sciences, including text-books and works of reference, of which a printed catalogue has been prepared. The Library is in the College building. It is opened regularly every Saturday, and occasionally at other times.

2. A New Reading-Room has been fitted up in the College building, and supplied with upwards of sixty of the leading medical journals besides works of reference, to which the students have daily access.

3. The Public Library of the City of Boston.—No collection in America equals this, either in extent or value; but one, the Congressional, is comparable with it. Even as to strictly medical works, it is said to be outranked by but two in the country,—one, that of the Surgeon-General in Washington; and the other, a special collection in Pennsylvania. Non-resident students will, on application to the Public Library, be furnished with a ticket, to be countersigned by the Dean, admitting them to its privileges.

4. The Reading-Room of the Public Library. More than four hundred periodicals, including leading medical journals (American and European), are here accessible.

5. A legacy left by the late Dr. Harriot K. Hunt, provides by its income medical text-books for women students who need them. The trustees of this fund have placed its income under the charge of the Faculty of this School, and books are loaned to these students during the term-time.

6. The varied and valuable facilities for general culture which Boston affords in its other libraries, its collections of natural history, its courses of scientific and literary lectures, its classical and popular concerts, and its art exhibitions, make an aggregate of general educational agencies whose value to the earnest and ambitious student can hardly be over-estimated.

MUSEUM.

Preparations in wax, illustrative of anatomical structures and pathological conditions, have been made expressly for this School. The collection of anatomical, pathological, and physiological specimens is already quite large, and steadily increasing; while the histological and microscopical cabinet contains many rare and beautiful specimens. The friends of the School will subserve its interests by procuring and forwarding to the Museum any suitable specimens.

GRADUATION.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Medicine or Bachelor of Surgery must have studied medicine three full years, the last of which was in this School, and must have passed examinations in all the branches of the first three years of the four-years' course in this School with a minimum average of eighty per cent.

Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine must be twenty-one years old and of good moral character.

Such as have not pursued one of the prescribed courses of this School, and passed its regular examinations, must present evidence of having studied medicine during three years with competent instruction; of having attended at least three full and reputable courses of lectures, the last in this School; and must pass an examination satisfactory to the Faculty. All candidates must apply to the Dean of the Faculty on Wednesday, March 21, 1888, and, together with the graduation-fee and all tickets of study and examinations, each one must then present an original autograph thesis of at least twenty written pages upon some theme connected with the studies of the School. Upon the margin of the thesis shall be noted the authorities for all facts or opinions stated, whether derived from personal observation, from the teachings of any member of the Faculty, or from any author, specifying in the latter case the work and page. They must also be prepared publicly to defend before the Faculty the facts or opinions advanced in their theses.

Any student satisfactorily completing a regular course in the School is at liberty to apply for examination to any regularly incorporated State Medical Society in the United States, and, on recommendation of the authorized examiners of such society, may receive from this University the degree of Doctor of Medicine, with a diploma stating the name of the society on whose recommendation the degree is conferred.

TUITION FEES.

Matriculation . . . . .	$5 00
Practical chemistry (breakages extra) . . . . .	5 00
Practical anatomy . . . . .	10 00

Graduation as Bachelor of Medicine or Surgery . . . . .	5 00
Graduation as Doctor of Medicine . . . . .	30 00

All tickets must be paid for on entering the School.

After the present College year, the tuition-fees will be one hundred dollars for each year. The full-course tickets for three and four years will not be issued.

GENERAL EXPENSES.

Students can live as economically in Boston as in any city of its size; and personal expenses will be determined in a great measure by the tastes and inclinations of the individual.

The cost of board and room need not exceed from four to seven dollars per week. By the formation of clubs, the expense of board has been reduced to less than four dollars per week in some departments of the University.

The lectures and other exercises of the School will be arranged at convenient hours for students living in any of the neighboring cities or towns on the lines of the various railroads.

Season tickets on several railroads can be obtained by students at reduced rates, the reduction being usually one-half. Inquiry regarding students' tickets should be made at the railroad offices, and not at the office of the School.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Garfield Scholarships. — A fund has been contributed, the income of which will be used to aid, by scholarships, such young men as the Faculty may deem most worthy. It is hoped that the alumni and friends of the School will add to this fund yearly.

Wade Scholarships. — A limited number of scholarships, resulting from the income of the Wade Fund, bequeathed for the benefit of poor and worthy young women, is at the disposal of the officers of the School, and will be available to such as require assistance.

Fenno Tudor Loan Fund. — This fund, left by the late Mrs. Fenno Tudor to aid women in the Medical School, will be loaned in sums not exceeding fifty dollars to meritorious women students, upon suitably indorsed notes bearing interest at four per cent.

George Russell Loan Fund. — This fund, left by the late Dr. George Russell, will be loaned in sums not exceeding fifty dollars to meritorious men students, upon suitably indorsed notes bearing interest at four per cent.

There are also several positions in which successful and worthy applicants, whether men or women, may receive valuable assistance in the prosecution of their studies.

Among these are the following: —

House Physicians and House Surgeons to the Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital. — Although this institution is entirely independent of the School, yet for several years these positions have been filled by students in their third or fourth year of study. The successful candidates, at present two men and two women, receive board and lodging, and valuable clinical advantages, in the Hospital for the term of one year. Applicants will present themselves on the third Wednesdays of February, May, October, and December.

Murdock's Free Hospital for Women and Children. — This institution affords the position of House Physician, which may be filled by a woman student in the third or fourth year of study.

The Consumptives' Home, and Cancer Hospital. — Appointments have been made in both of these institutions, which, aside from the pecuniary aid furnished, afford excellent opportunities for instruction in the special diseases treated.

Resident Physician and Resident Surgeon to the College Dispensary. — The incumbents secure room-rent free, and have very valuable opportunities for seeing practice.

The Assistants to the Librarian, Janitor, and Professors receive aid in proportion to the work done.

Other positions are created as the interests of the School demand.

COLLEGE BUILDING.

In pursuance of an enabling Act of the Massachusetts Legislature, the New England Female Medical College was, in 1874, united with the Boston University School of Medicine. The original college building, eligibly situated on East Concord Street, opposite the City Hospital, has been greatly enlarged, and now contains three ample lecture-rooms, including an amphitheatre capable of seating three hundred students, laboratories, a spacious and airy dissecting-room, a museum, a library, a reading-room and cloak and dressing rooms for ladies and gentlemen. There has also been built during the past year a spacious boiler-house, with new and improved heating and ventilating apparatus.

Any information on special subjects connected with the School may be obtained on application to the Dean,

BOSTON UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE.

THREE YEARS' attendance on lectures is required for graduation as DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

In a FOUR-YEARS' course (optional) the degree BACHELOR OF MEDICINE OR SURGERY may be attained at the end of the third year, and that of DOCTOR OF MEDICINE on completing the fourth year.

SCHOOL YEAR.

The year is divided into three terms, as follows:—

The First Term begins Thursday, Oct. 13, 1887, and continues to Saturday, Dec. 24, 1887, inclusive. Thanksgiving recess, three days. A vacation of eight days follows the term.

The Second Term begins Monday, Jan. 2, 1888, and continues to Friday, March 9, 1888, inclusive. Recess, Feb. 22, one day. A vacation of nine days follows the term.

The Third Term begins Monday, March 19, 1888, and continues to Wednesday, June 6, 1888, inclusive. Fast Day and Decoration Day recesses, one day each.

Each term will include ten working-weeks.

Entrance examinations, Monday and Tuesday, October 10 and 11, 1887, at 11 A.M.; and on Thursday and Friday, June 7 and 8, 1888, at 11 A.M.

For Terms of Tuition see page 19.

Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital.

THIS fine hospital is well equipped in every respect, and has accommodations for every form of medical and surgical patients. It is supported largely by contributions, but has several free beds for cases requiring such aid, and convenient and delightful rooms for those able to pay.

Terms from $7.00 to $40.00 per week.

Address the HOUSE PHYSICIAN, Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital, East Concord Street, Boston.

Homœopathic Medical Dispensary.

THE COLLEGE BRANCH is open daily from 9 to 12, and embraces the following departments:—

Medical, Surgical, Dental, Gynæcological, Aural, Ophthalmic, Throat, Heart, and Lungs, Nervous, Skin, and Children's.

SENIOR STUDENTS assist in this work, and also in the other branches of the Dispensary.
