FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

London resident James N. Kelly recently was elected to Boston University School of Medicine's Board of Visitors. The 39-member Board provides financial support, contacts with business and industry, and advice and guidance for the School.

Kelly is the senior vice president of Management Analysis Center, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA. This management consulting firm has several branches throughout the United States and two in Europe.

Kelly is a graduate of De Pauw University in Indiana, USA, and received his M.B.A. degree from Harvard Business School, Boston, Mass.

Boston University School of Medicine is the site of several major interdisciplinary research centers, including the Hubert H. Humphrey Cancer Research Center and the Cardiovascular Institute of Boston University. The School is an innovator in medical education, offering several alternative curricula leading to the M.D. degree.
