Bernadine Casey Coburn of Andover will begin doctoral studies in Boston University's University Professors Program this month. Her area of concentration will include Irish Studies.

Coburn, director of media relations for the University's School of Medicine, has been employed by the University for the past eight years. Prior to that she was director of Bentley College's news bureau, Merrimack Valley Correspondent for the Boston Globe, and a reporter and editor for the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune. She recently received a master's degree from the University's School of Public Communication.

A native of Lawrence, Coburn is a graduate of St. Mary High School.

She and her husband, novelist Andrew Coburn, have four daughters.
