

Boston University

OpenBU

<http://open.bu.edu>

Greene Scholars Creative Team

Graphic Design

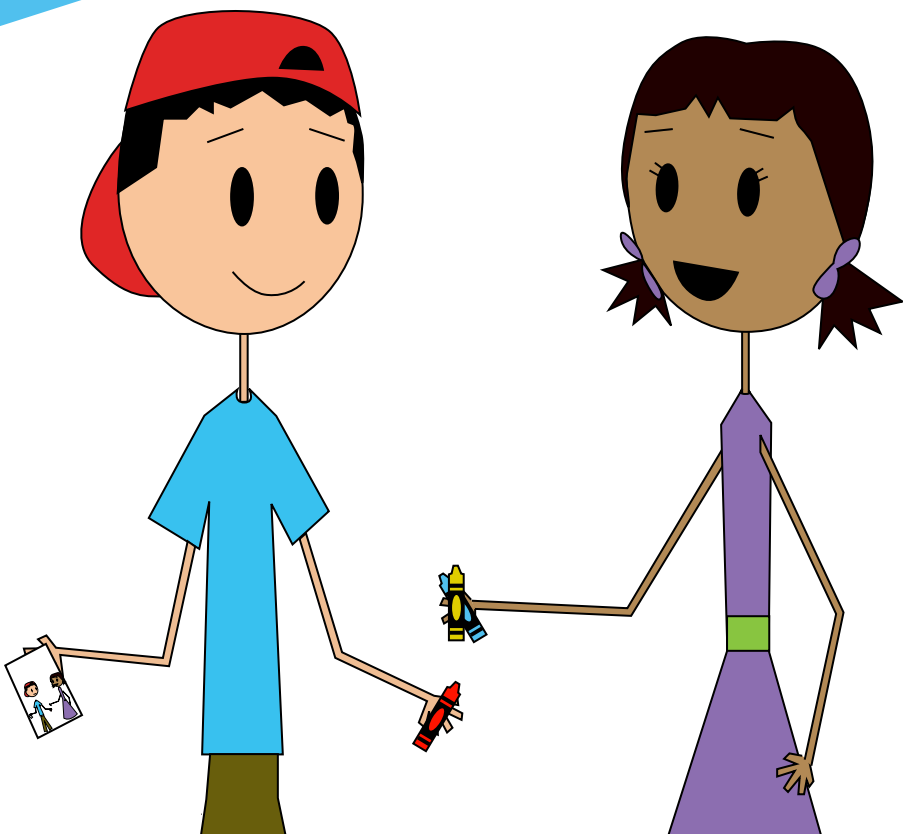

2010-08-20

Mugar Memorial Library coloring book

<https://hdl.handle.net/2144/3706>

Downloaded from DSpace Repository, DSpace Institution's institutional repository

Mugar Memorial Library
Coloring Book

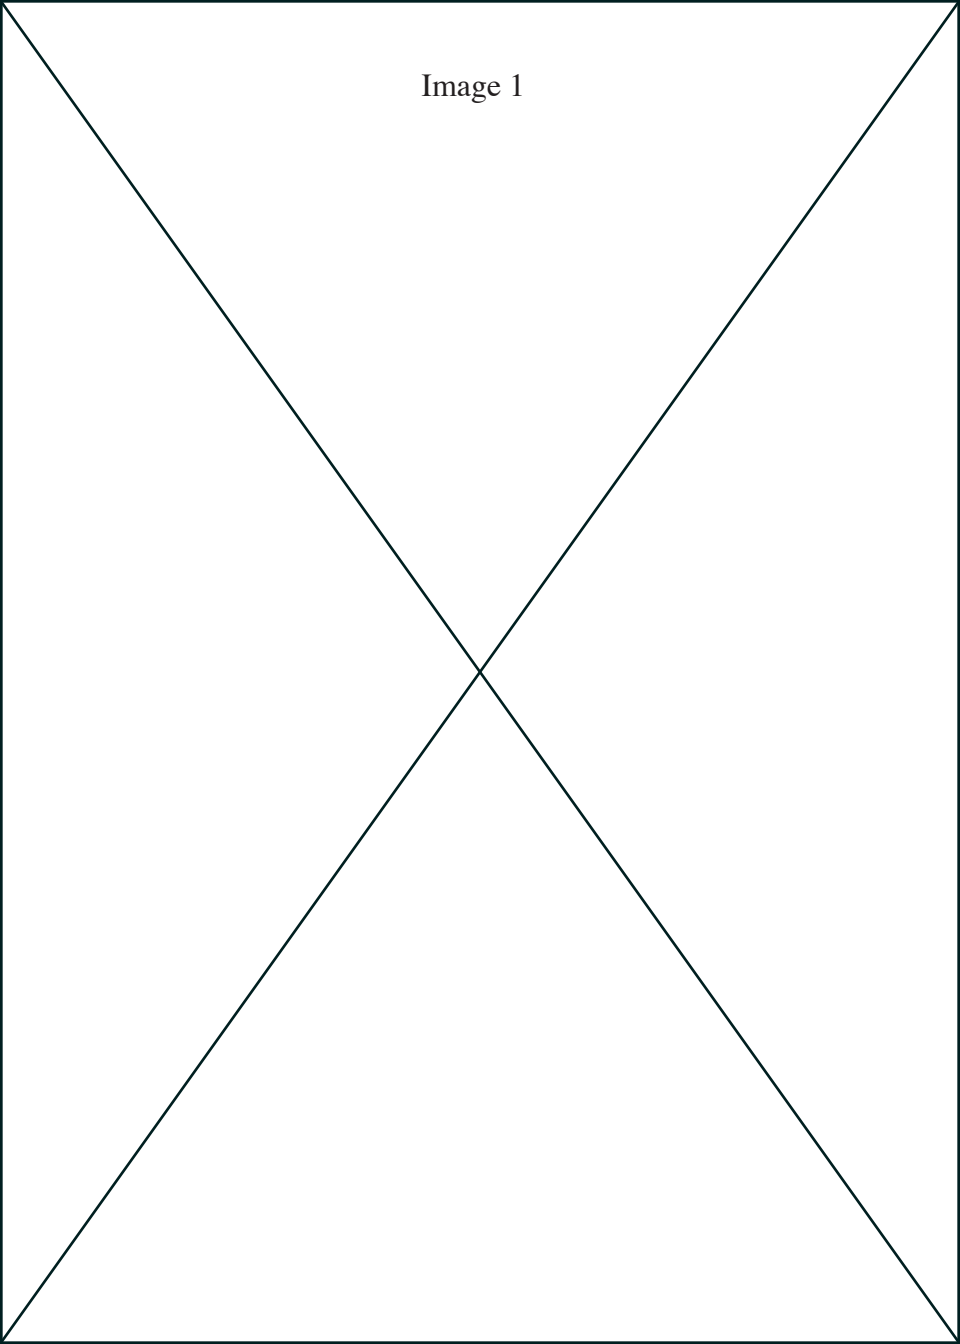

You know, even though Mugar is the campus library for humanities and social sciences, there are a ton of other libraries on campus.

Throughout the year you'll need to write papers on many different topics, so it's good to know where all the libraries are.

Mugar Memorial Library	771 Commonwealth Avenue
Management Library	595 Commonwealth Avenue
Pickering Educational Resources Library	2 Sherborn Library (Basement Level)
Science and Engineering Library	38 Cummington Street
Pappas Law Library	765 Commonwealth Avenue
Medical Library	80 East Concord Street
School of Theology Library	745 Commonwealth Avenue

Image 1

As college students, things are always better when they're free, wouldn't you say?

Precisely! And all the main branch libraries have scanners, so there's no reason not to use that free resource.

Yes! That's why I love the scanners. Why copy when you can scan for free?

A square frame with a diagonal cross (X) formed by two lines connecting opposite corners. The text "Image 2" is centered in the upper portion of the square.

Image 2

If you're having trouble starting or brainstorming a research paper you should contact a Research Librarian at any library on campus.

They have so many resources to introduce you to, it's great!

Absolutely. They can help you organize your research, find pertinent sources, and direct you to a wealth of knowledge about your given topic.

Drop by the Research Center at Mugar or any library on campus for a consultation with a research librarian.

Research appointments can be made at www.bu.edu/common

Click on the "Make An Appointment With A Research Librarian" button.

Image 3

A square frame with two diagonal lines crossing at the center, forming an 'X' shape. The lines are thin and black, set against a white background. The text 'Image 3' is centered at the top of the square.

The library was the first place on campus to start a recycling program.

They make green initiatives in libraries across campus. The library has automatic energy-efficient lights, lots of recycling bins, and promotes paperless scanning.

Now they have a Sustainability Committee called Libraries Go Green. It's comprised of librarians from across campus and one undergraduate student.

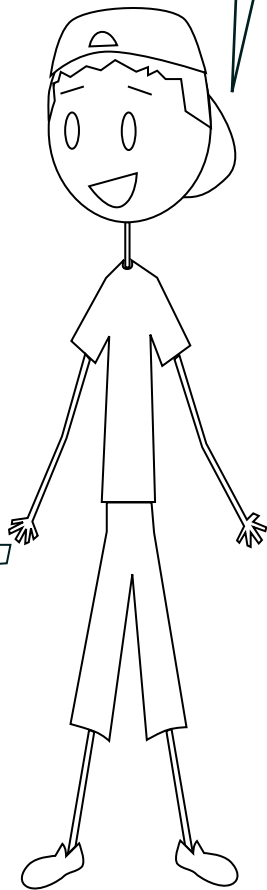

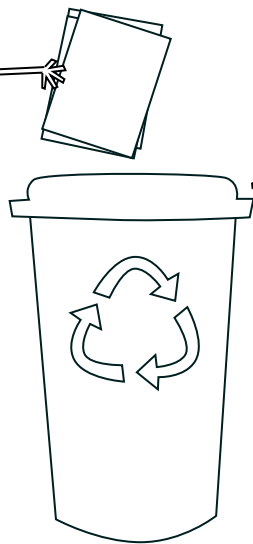

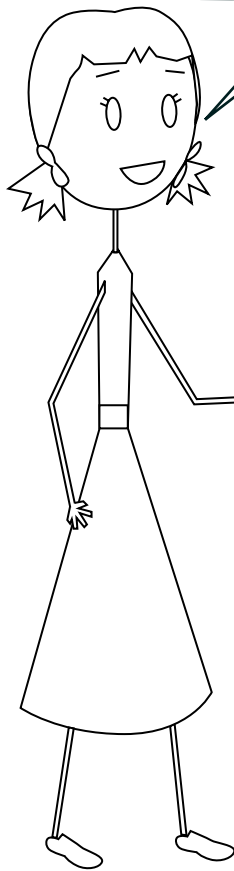

Image 4

A square frame with a diagonal cross (X) inside. The cross is formed by two lines connecting opposite corners of the square. The text "Image 4" is centered at the top of the square.

Mugar is open until 2am on weekdays, except for Friday.

It's great for late night studying, although the circulation desk is only open until midnight.

It's also great that during study period and final exams at the end of the semester the library is open 24 hours!

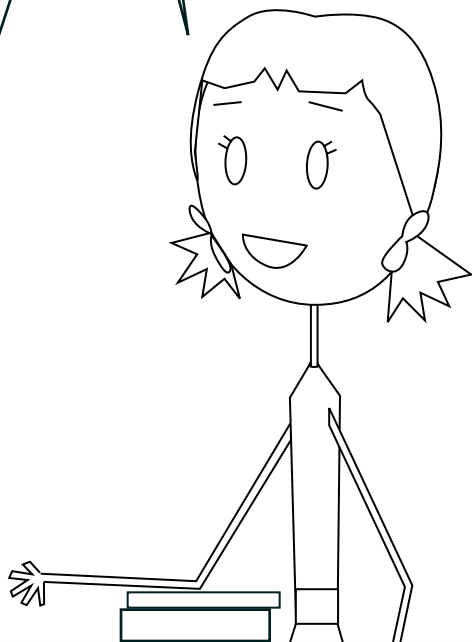

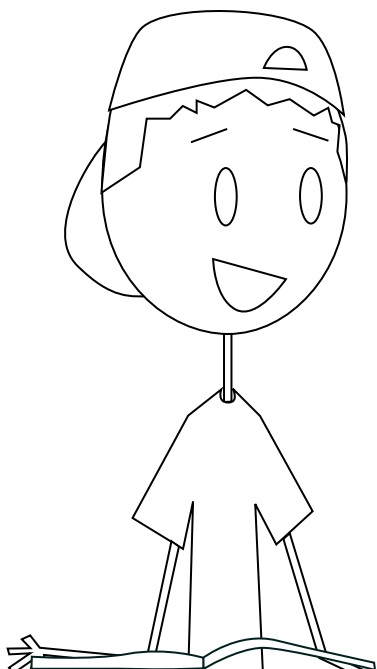

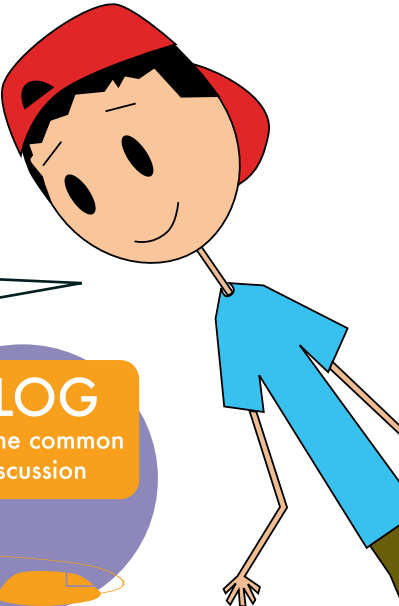

Image 5

A square frame with a diagonal cross (X) formed by two lines connecting opposite corners. The text "Image 5" is centered in the upper portion of the square.

The library has it's own blog,
and it's really cool!
It's about student's experiences and interests at and outside of BU.
The blogs are posted by BU students who work for the library, but there is also a guest section on the blog just for you!

BLOG
join the common discussion

MugarLib, that's the library
Twitter account!
Follow MugarLib for library news
and events including special hours.

