at L. Tom Perry Special Collections, Brigham Young University

By David Dmitri Hurlbut

Introduction

This brief working paper contains a list of archival materials for the study of both colonial and postcolonial Sub-Saharan Africa located at L. Tom Perry Special Collections, Harold B. Lee Library, Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. It supplements previous bibliographies I have published on Latter-day Saint materials for the study of Sub-Saharan Africa in this same working paper series.¹ The current bibliography, which I have organized alphabetically by country, includes African oral histories; the papers, diaries, and oral histories of LDS missionaries, American diplomats, and U.S. Peace Corps volunteers; and records relating to the Boy Scouts in Africa. Collections relevant to the history of multiple countries have been cross-listed for the sake of convenience.

Democratic Republic of the Congo
